All Europe on Guard Against Communist Threat

PARIS IS TURNED INTO ARMED CAMP TO AVOID TROUBLE

Anti-War Programs Cause Widespread Gatherings of Soldiers and Police to Keep Peace.

BALKANS EXPECT DISORDERS TODAY

Many Communist Papers Suppressed. Moscow Believed Behind Big Demonstration Movement.

London, July 31.—(United News.) Preparations were made in most of the capitals of Europe tonight for any emergency likely to arise tomorrow out of the communist plans for widespread anti-war demonstrations of militant character, which have threatened serious trouble in various cities.

Although England made no apparent preparations, due to lack of communist activity in London, the city of Paris presented the appearance of an armed camp in which 20,000 police and troops are ready to maintain constant guard against parades or mass meetings.

France summoned to the capital the famous republican guards, noted for their hostility to radicals and especially communists. Jean Chiappe, chief of police, has arranged for a "general headquarters" from which he may dispatch reserve forces to any part of the city on a moment's notice. He will keep in touch with troops in every part of the capital by wireless. Several hundred communists have been arrested in Paris, and the raids and arrests continued tonight.

Similar precautions were taken in other French towns and in other capitals. All through central Europe where the Balkan governments are constantly on guard against communist propaganda—at Prague, Belgrade, Sofia and the rest—there was evidence of preparation for any disorders which the communists may provoke.

At Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, special precautions were enforced. Troops with mounted machine guns and police forces supplied with rifles were ready for an all-day watch.

The communist newspapers throughout Europe have urged all members of the third internationale to join in the demonstrations, some of them allegedly having transmitted orders from Moscow, where the greatest demonstrations are planned for tomorrow.

France and Czechoslovakia have taken reprisals against the communist newspapers, temporarily suppressing a number of them.

SUBURBS OF PARIS BIG ENTRENCHED CAMP.

Paris, July 31.—(AP)—The suburbs of Paris today looked like a vast entrenched camp, with 22,000 soldiers, gendarmes and police gathered at strategic points ready to deal with any attempts of communists to carry out threats of violence tomorrow when world-wide communist demonstrations are expected.

Prefect of Police Chiape conferred with subordinates throughout the day completing plans to prevent trouble. Opinion is divided whether there will be serious rioting. The official or-

Henry T. McIntosh IsSeen as Nominee For Highway Post

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Probability that Governor L. G. Hardman will nominate Henry T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, for a post on the state highway commission to succeed Stanley S. Bennet, of Quitman, came as the outstanding development of the Wednesday session of the legislature.

It was learned from authoritative sources that the governor is giving serious consideration to the appointment of the prominent Albany editor and that he probably will send in Mr. McIntosh's name to the senate at an early session of that body.

Nomination of Mr. McIntosh would develop an interesting situation in the senate, which heretofore has declined to confirm any appointee of the governor as successor to Mr. Bennet. There is no doubt that Mr. McIntosh is one of Georgia's outstanding citizens and he has many strong personal friends in both branches of the legislature.

Motor Bus Bill.

Wednesday's long session of the senate brought the passage of the motor bus bill placing such busses under the jurisdiction of the public service commission, while the house adjourned at 5 o'clock in the afternoon after tabling the Key gross income tax bill by a vote of 96 to 91, and after debating for two hours the Boykin statutory income tax bill, which will go over until Thursday for a vote. The most important measure of local interest passed in the house was the bill of Representative C. H. Gullatt, of Campbell county, which provides for the merging of Campbell county with Fulton county provided the people of the two counties vote for such a plan. The Gullet bill passed, 124 to 1.

Income Tax Bill.

As the third day of debate opened on the gross income tax plan sponsored by Representative Key, Jasper, a motion was placed before the house by Representative Griffin, Decatur, to table the bill and all amendments and substitutes. Following defeat of this motion, Representative Culpepper, Fayette, chairman of the ways and means committee, advised the house that it would be best to table the bill at this time if members were not yet

DEPUTY MARSHAL KILLED AND SON BADLY WOUNDED

Harlan, Ky., July 31.—(AP)—Adren Metcalf, 56, United States deputy marshal, was instantly killed and his son, Roy Metcalf, 22, was seriously wounded in the face and breast when fired upon from ambush by Willie Johnson, 21, of Four Mile, Ky., this afternoon.

Johnson was found later lying in Four-Mile creek some distance from the site of the ambuscade, with a bullet wound through the abdomen which probably will claim his life.

Metcalf was leading a posse into the Four-Mile section after illicit distillers. Roy Metcalf, brought to a local hospital late today, said that Johnson's first shot pierced his father's heart, others struck him in the face and breast. Bill Metcalf, the deputy's son and Bud Metcalf, his brother, opened fire on Johnson as he fled.

Ralph McGill Will Cover Sandlot Championship Games

When the sandlot teams of Georgia gather today at Albany to play for the state championship in the American Legion national tournament, RALPH McGILL, will be on hand to picture for you the battles these boys stage. All the melodrama and the heartaches that these seventeen-year-old youngsters inspire will be brought to you each morning in The Constitution.

The Inman Park Cardinals, champions of Atlanta, will have a regular baseball writer reporting their play when they go after the state title.

CLAIM OF CANNON IS CONTRADICTED

Dr. Rembert Smith Shows Statements of Bishop and Dr. Crawford Do Not Agree.

Washington, Ga., July 31.—Special.)—Dr. Rembert G. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of Washington, makes public the following statement concerning his recent controversy with Bishop James L. Cannon, Jr., who is charged with using the funds of the church for political purposes in the anti-Smith Virginia campaign last fall.

Dr. Smith says: "As a result of the insistent inquiries last fall of Dr. Rembert G. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of Washington, Ga., as to whether the funds of the board of temperance and social service of that church were being loaned or used in the political campaign Bishop James Cannon, Jr., wrote to Dr. Smith under date of October 10, 1928:

"The call for that conference (the Asheville anti-Smith conference) was prepared by myself after the adjournment of our board at Lake Junaluska, and was sent out from there, and the costs of the typing, addressing, mailing, etc., were paid by Dr. Crawford as I did not have the money with me, and he had funds of the board which he had brought to pay the expenses incident upon the meeting of the board. At the Asheville meeting the delegates there made subscriptions sufficient to pay all the expenses incident upon that conference, and the money which Dr. Crawford had advanced me from the funds of the board were returned to him."

"In answer to questions of Dr. Smith, Dr. Crawford wired him under date July 30, 1929:

"I loaned personally for sending out the call for Asheville meeting three hundred and three dollars and firty-two cents.

"Dr. Crawford's recent statement is a denial of Bishop Cannon's statement and if he is correct the bishop falsely charged him with lending the money of the board of temperance and social service for the purpose of paying the expenses of the call for the Asheville meeting."

CANNON SAYS LOANS MADE WERE PERSONAL.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, said today that all loans to the headquarters committee of the Anti-Smith democrats of Virginia in connection with the campaign of 1928 were made by him personally.

The statement was in reply to questions asked by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, who inquired as to the source of loans filed with the clerk of the house by the Anti-Smith democrats of Virginia.

Tinkham quoted Cannon as having said in answer to charges in connection with campaign expenditures:

"The amazing and absolutely false statement is also made that 'the records show that Bishop Cannon made two loans of $5,000 each to the anti-Smith democrats of Virginia.'"

After suggesting that Bishop Cannon examine the campaign expenditures returns filed with the clerk of the house, the Massachusetts representative declared that these records showed numerous loans from "Bishop Cannon," "James Cannon, Jr.," and "Bishop James Cannon, Jr.," to the anti-Smith democrats.

"In the light of Bishop Cannon's own recent indignant denials," Tinkham said, "I believe the public will be interested to know: (1) Whether the unidentified loans in the returns were made by Bishop Cannon and if not from whence the money came. (2) Whether the loans credited to Bishop Cannon were his own personal funds and if not whose funds they were."

In his reply Bishop Cannon said:

"All loans to the headquarters committee of the anti-Smith democrats of Virginia in connection with the campaign of 1928 were made by James Cannon, Jr., personally, and not as an officer of the board of temperance and social service. These loans were repaid to him from time to time as contributions were received for the work of the headquarters committee of the anti-Smith democrats of Virginia."

DELAYING OF BILL MAY COST STATE RHODES HOME GIFT

Failure to Accept Puts Measure in Danger of Being Caught by Legislative Jam.

Unless prompt action is taken the state of Georgia runs the risk of losing the gift of the beautiful A. G. Rhodes home on Peachtree street near the junction of Spring street, a property valued at $300,000, it developed Wednesday.

This gift was tendered to the state for use by the department of archives and history as a permanent home by the estate of the late A. G. Rhodes. As it is necessary to pass a resolution in the legislature before it can be accepted, such a resolution was introduced recently in the senate by Senator J. Render Terrell, of Meriwether county.

Now In Committee.

Inquiry Wednesday disclosed the fact that this measure is lying dormant in the committee room and no concerted effort is being made to bring about its passage. Unless the measure is passed soon in both houses there is grave danger that it will be caught in the legislative jam that comes near the end of the session and makes it impossible for the passage of many meritorious measures.

No opposition of any kind has been offered against the measure of Senator Terrell and there is little doubt that it would be passed almost by unanimous vote if it is pressed for passage, leaders say. Senator Terrell has done excellent service in handling the bill but thus far has received little co-operation from his associates in the house and senate, it was pointed out.

Dangerous Situation.

Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, is eager to see the bill passed as the department of archives and history is now virtually homeless. Such a situation for this department is called dangerous as some of the most valuable state documents are in its custody.

At present these documents and records are packed in boxes which are stored openly in the halls and corridors on the third floor of the capitol. There is danger, both from fire and theft.

The department has in its collection some records which are almost priceless. One of these is a signature of Button Gwinnett, one of the three Georgia men to sign the Declaration of Independence. Because of the rarity of these signatures they are valued as high as $50,000. Collectors have paid record prices for these signatures.

Other Signatures.

Besides the Gwinett signature there are innumerable signatures of great Georgians, these signatures being of less money value but priceless as historical records. There are also many records of the early colonial days of Georgia, which, if lost, could never be replaced. Some of the Georgia counties recently have sent to the department records that date as far back as 1779.

It is expected that a strong movement will be waged from now on in the legislature to obtain the passage of the resolution accepting the magnificent gift of the Rhodes family. As soon as it becomes generally known among the legislators that there is danger of the bill failing through neglect it is expected that a definite movement to bring about its prompt passage will be launched.

Governor L. G. Hardman, in one of his first messages to the legislature, strongly urged the acceptance of the Rhodes gift. The state historical board also voted unanimously to accept the gift and will co-operate in bringing about a quick passage of the measure.

BREMEN SETS MARK ON EASTWARD TRIP ACROSS ATLANTIC

Plymouth, England, July 31.—(United News.)—The North German Lloyd liner Bremen—fastest commercial ship in the world—arrived here tonight at 11:15 p. m. after a record-breaking trip from New York.

The Bremen, which broke all records on its maiden voyage to New York, made the return eastward trip in 4 days 17 hours and 15 minutes.

The previous record for the eastward trip was held by the Cunard liner Mauretania, which had made the trip in 5 days and 6 minutes. The Bremen's new mark is 6 hours and 51 minutes lower.

The voyage from New York to Plymouth also was faster by 27 minutes than the Bremen's maiden voyage from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose light, at New York harbor, last week.

The Bremen arrived at Ambrose light July 23 after a run of 4 days 17 hours and 42 minutes, breaking the Mauretania's record of 5 days 2 hours and 34 minutes for the westward trip.

COTTON GROWERS TO LAY PROBLEMS BEFORE U. S. BOARD

Delegation Will Be Selected To Appear at Session of Farm Commission in Washington.

Bacon Rouge, La., July 31.—(AP)—Executive conferences of members of the federal farm board with officials of national cotton growers organizations, at the American Institute of Co-operation today were described as "most satisfactory" and the cotton men decided to send a special committee to Washington to lay the cotton problem before the entire farm board.

Alexander Legge, C. C. Teague, and Carl Williams, members of the board who have been gathering data for the past three days on the co-operative farm movement and its extension departed from the institute late today carrying with them the information to be placed before the entire board in an effort to solve the farmers' problems.

As spokesman for the federal group after the cotton meeting today, Mr. Williams said:

"This committee of the board cannot speak officially for the board. I can say that we have been interested to learn of the cotton farmers' problems at first hand, but there will be no action until the entire board has heard the cotton delegation in Washington."

Production, over-production, price fluctuation, and general depression, problems that have beset the cotton farmer in the years since the World War were brought formally to the attention of the farm board committee.

Trustees of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange and the Mississippi Staple Cotton Growers' Association conferred with the farm board. C. O. Moser, of Dallas, Texas, president of the American Exchange, announced that his organization would perfect plans tomorrow for sending the committee to Washington.

Mr. Teague in his address before the institute today urged the cotton, rice and tobacco growers to organize and correlate their respective groups in order to benefit to the fullest from federal aid and advised addition to the staff of extension specialists in each state of at least two experts in co-operative marketing to furnish farmers the necessary information on this subject.

Educational courses in co-operative marketing in rural and other high schools was encouraged by T. E. Browne, vocational education director for North Carolina.

Capital Paper Indorses Bob For Congress

Despite Assurance of Welcome, Premier Golfer to Stick to Law.

While Bobby Jones, national amateur and open golf champion, stated Wednesday that he had no intention of forsaking his law practice to enter the race for congress in the fifth district to succeed the late Leslie J. Steele, the Washington Star, in an editorial appearing in yesterday's paper, indorsed the suggestion and assured the world's premier golfer a hearty welcome at the national capital "should he accept and win."

A prominently-displayed cartoon accompanied the Washington paper's editorial comment on the proposal, the artist emphasizing the congresisonal bunkers which might be encountered in the lower house.

Approached by a group of close personal friends from Canton, the home of his grandfather, Bobby expressed his appreciation of the honor tendered him but stated emphatically that he was giving no serious consideration to the suggestion.

Star's Editorial.

On the subject of the proposed candidacy, the Washington Star's editorial said:

"Representative Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga.?"

"Golfer Bobby Jones, international links champion, holder of the open and amateur golf titles of the United States, has been asked by a delegation of citizens of his home state to become a candidate for a seat in the house of representatives. His sponsors advanced his name with the suggestion that the ability of Jones as a lawyer and his international fame as a golfer would make him a serious contender.

"Men have won seats in congress by various means, but if Jones comes to Washington as a representative of the sovereign state of Georgia his coming will mark the first time that a man has attained the stature of a national legislator because of his pro-

St. Louis Begins 2-Day Celebration For Robin Pilots

Gets Five Months

Richard J Reynolds, 23-year-old millionaire heir of a tobacco magnate, was sentenced to five months in prison in England on a manslaughter charge growing out of an automobile accident.

REYNOLDS GIVEN 5 MONTHS' TERM

Wealthy Young American Sentenced in London for Killing Man in an Auto Accident.

London, July 31.—(United News.) Richard J. Reynolds, one of the principal heirs of the $50,000,000 estate of his father, the late American tobacco magnate, tonight was under sentence of five months' imprisonment for manslaughter.

Reynolds was convicted and ordered to pay the costs of prosecution after a trial at which he was accused of being drunk on the night that his automobile ran down and fatally injured a cyclist, Arthur Graham, on the Bath road.

The 23-year-old American was sentenced to serve in the second division, which is less rigorous than the division for "morally depraved" offenders.

After police officers had testified that Reynolds' car struck Graham and then raced on toward London, the defendant himself and expert medical witnesses took the stand in an effort to show that the American youth was not intoxicated. Reynolds asserted that he was "blinded by two glaring lights" at the time of the accident and did not know he had struck the man.

The defense attorney, Norman Birkett, summing up today urged the jury not to let the fact that Reynolds is a wealthy American prejudice the decision. Birkett said that the prosecution had not contended that Reynolds was helplessly drunk but only to the extent that he was unfit to drive an automobile.

Justice Humphreys in summing up said: "Reynolds should be tried in the same way as would any London costermonger who might have knocked some one down through furious driving of his car."

FORMER ATLANTAN HELD IN NEW YORK FOR TWO HOLDUPS

New York, July 31.—(AP)—A youth who said he was Roy Cooper, 19, of Atlanta, Ga., was captured today after an exciting automobile chase of a fleeing holdup car that ended when the car crashed into an ice wagon.

Police said Cooper confessed to participation in two holdups just prior to his capture. He said he and his companion, who escaped and whom Cooper refused to name, rifled a shoe store cash register and a few minutes later obtained $23 in a grocery store holdup.

It was while fleeing from the grocery that police began their pursuit. Cooper had two loaded revolvers in his pockets and another gun was found in the wrecked auto, which had been stolen.

According to a later dispatch from New York, Cooper told police that he was born in Atlanta but moved north with his family several years ago.

Men Are Hailed as Conquerors of Air Following Endurance Flight—Ovations Tendered Pair.

St. Louis, July 31.—(AP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine were hailed today as new conquerors of the air as St. Louis began a two-day celebration in honor of their achievement in piloting the monoplane St. Louis Robin to a new endurance record of 420 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds.

The fliers, who landed the plane last night amid the cheers of thousands, were formally received today at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the City Club, attended by an overflow crowd of more than 1,000, including many of the city's outstanding citizens.

Later in the day the fliers turned aside for a time from the round of celebrating to pay their respects to their friend and fellow airmen, George Lea Lambert, killed in an airplane accident near here Monday. Lambert, son of Major Albert Bond Lambert, observer of the St. Louis Robin's flight for the National Aeronautic Association, was buried this afternoon.

Tomorrow O'Brine and Jackson will ride in a parade through the city to be publicly acclaimed. They will follow the same route traveled by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh two years ago when he came home from his epochal New York-to-Paris flight.

The motor parade, which will wind through the downtown district, will end at the city hall where the fliers will be welcomed back to earth and congratulated in behalf of the city by acting Mayor Charles A. Neumann.

POOLROOMS HIT BY POLICE BOARD

Closing of Establishments on Marietta St. by October 1 Urged in Committee Recommendation.

Recommendation that all licenses for poolrooms operated on Marietta street, between Broad and Forsyth streets, be denied and first steps in sweeping and radical revision of methods of traffic law enforcement featured the semi-monthly meeting of the Atlanta police committee of city council Wednesday night.

All poolrooms now open in the affected area must cease operation by October 1, under a recommendation of the police committee which will go to city council Monday for its sanction.

At the same time, the committee will present an ordinance making it illegal to sell any foodstuffs through windows opening into the streets from any place of business. This will affect poolrooms operating food dispensing departments and all other businesses which heretofore have sold merchandise through windows or other apertures. The ordinance will force establishment of counters over which the food must be distributed at least six feet from the door.

A move to decline to issue permits for licenses for operation of poolrooms on ground floors of any building was initiated, but definite action was deferred by the committee for further study.

Traffic law revision was asked by Lieutenant Jack Malcom, head of the traffic squad, and Councilman Frank Reynolds was appointed to go thoroughly into the matter and be ready to report at the next meeting of the committee.

Lieutenant Malcom recommended adoption of a special subpoena which could be left on a parked automobile and which would compel the driver of the machine to appear at the police station within 24 hours and post bond for appearance. At the present time, officers must serve violators in person or the service is not legal. Personal service of the new subpoena would not be required, according to police officials and would permit the officers to police a much greater territory with greater efficiency than is possible under present conditions.

Every restricted area in the city will be placed under a blanket one-hour parking ordinance, if city council adopts the recommendation of the committee. Members of the committee voted unanimously to establish a uniform parking time with the exception of Marietta street between Peachtree and Broad streets, which will be 10 minutes.

DEPARTURE HOUR ADVANCED DESPITE WEATHER THREAT

Two Women, Chimpanzees and More Than 600 Canaries Are Among Passengers on Board.

MIGHTY ZEPPELIN BRINGS STOWAWAY

Trip Is Started Ahead of Time Despite Criticisms. Ship Due in Lakehurst Saturday.

BY MAURITZ HALLGREN,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, August 1.—(Thursday.)—The mighty German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, departed early this morning on its second flight to America, racing rapidly away to the west in an effort to escape a menacing storm area descending from the North sea.

Determined to beat the approaching "low atmospheric" area, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, started the flight in spite of some criticism rather than risk a delay of several days on account of the adverse weather due here shortly after dawn.

The Graf Zeppelin rose ghost-like from the misty field here at 3:22 a. m. (9:22 p. m. E. S. T.) and sped out along the dark shores of Lake Constance. It is due at Lakehurst, N. J., Saturday night or early Sunday if all goes well.

All Passengers Aboard.

The Graf Zeppelin was dragged from its hangar at 3:15 a. m., after all of the passengers were aboard. The ground crew experienced considerable difficulty in getting the big ship ready for the take-off but seven minutes later the order was given for the ropes to be cast off.

The dirigible hung easily in the air for a few minutes as the ropes were loosened and then rose slowly upward, its passengers waving to the spectators below from the brightly lighted cabin windows. At 3:30 a. m. the dirigible had risen above the hangar and with a final cheer from the crowd Dr. Eckener started on the flight to America.

There were two women, Mrs. George Crouse, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Madame Gregoire Gourevitsch, aboard the dirigible.

Stowaway Suspected.

There was a flurry of confusion as the dirigible was dragged from its hangar. A member of the ground crew which was tugging at the ropes shouted:

"Somebody jumped on the ship!"

Guards leaped forward but they were too late to search for a possible stowaway. It also was too late for the ship to halt and the belief was raised that a stowaway was aboard.

It was recalled that on the last and unsuccessful attempt of the dirigible

SNOOK JURY VISITS SCENE OF HIX MURDER

Other Points Also Draw Jurors on Pilgrimage—Trial Starts Thursday.

Columbus, Ohio, July 31.—(United News.)—A strange pilgrimage was made this afternoon to the romantic shrines of Dr. James Howard Snook and Theora Hix, and to the spot where their romance came to its tragic end.

Twenty automobiles, carrying jury, lawyers, bailiffs and newspapermen, whirled at 40 and 50 miles an hour over the road the former Ohio State university professor and his 24-year-old mistress had traveled.

Dr. Snook, who has been confined to the county jail for more than a month, refused what might well be his last opportunity to see again the spots which, in times gone by, had brought him happiness.

He waived his right to make the pilgrimage and remained through the afternoon in his jail cell.

"I'd rather sleep," he told the United News.

The jury was completed with the selection of the thirteenth or alternate juror—a woman, Mrs. Harry Cassady—immediately on the opening of the afternoon session of Snook's trial for the murder of Miss Hix.

At 3 p. m. the sheriff, under the order of the court, escorted the jury to five automobiles and the tour started.

Stop at Market.

The first stop was made at the state market at Twelfth and High streets, where Dr. Snook had purchased from Jake Garnett hamburger steak and rye bread on the night that Miss Hix was murdered.

From there the cavalcade drove to the Scioto Country Club, which Snook is said to have visited the night of the murder.

Then the procession whirled along to the New York Central Gun Club range, five miles out of Columbus, noting the "quarry bridge" as it went. It was from the bridge that Snook is alleged to have tossed Miss Hix's purse after the murder. It never has been found.

The jury left its cars while deputy sheriffs pointed out to them the geography of the place. A rude wooden stake, about 100 yards from the fence, was the memorial for Theora Hix. It marked the spot where her body, beaten with hammer blows, the throat neatly slit and the abdomen cruelly gashed, was found on June 14.

Visit Campus Office.

The party then sped to the university campus, where Dr. Snook had his offices. Snook is said to have been there the night of the murder and it was there that his car was washed the following day—and some of the bloodstains not removed.

Mack hall, girls' dormitory where Theora once had lived, was the next point of interest. Her room had been on a ground floor and Snook had given her a little derringer for self-protection while she lived there. He maintains he believed she was going to shoot him with that derringer the night she was killed.

Next came the building where Theora lived at the time of her death. It was a two-story brick structure, and she occupied an apartment just above the State Drug and Supply Shoppe.

Then the procession rolled down the street three blocks to the home of Snook, in which Mrs. Snook still resides.

From there the procession wound through the streets to Mrs. Smalley's rooming house. It was there, in a four-dollar-a-week room on the second floor, furnished with only a cheap dresser, a pair of uncomfortable chairs and a flimsy iron bed that Theora and the professor met clandestinely.

Then the party returned through the city to the courthouse garage, where Dr. Snook's blue coupe, an exhibit in the case, was on display. The judge permitted it to be seen today, although not yet offered in evidence.

The tour this afternoon cleared away the last preliminary to the actual trial, which started just one week ago today. Tomorrow morning the opening statements will be made and evidence will begin.

FOUR CONVICTS ESCAPE IN RAIN AT NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Four state convicts escaped guards today during a heavy rain. Two of them were captured early tonight after a 30-mile chase.

Rollie H. Lyle, Davidson county; Bruce Gordon, Hamilton county; Joe Gilley, DeKalb county, and Ebb Bailey, negro, Haywood county, were working on an excavation job with 21 other prisoners when a short rainstorm broke this morning.

The guards herded them toward a shelter and the three white men fled. The guards were unable to follow because of the other convicts. The negro agreed to follow the men until help could be called from the penitentiary.

That was the last seen of the convicts until prison authorities this afternoon heard that two convicts were seen to board a freight train. Guards followed the train to White Bluff and captured Gilley and Bailey. They said they had not seen the other two convicts.

All the men were serving short sentences.

R. B. WILLIAMS, AUTHOR, SPEAKS AT RUTLEDGE

Rutledge, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Declaring that "God will solve our race problem," R. B. Williams, of Atlanta, colored writer, spoke here last night at the Christian Pentecostal church to a large crowd of hearers. The speaker said that "we are living in one of the most critical times of all ages and Christians must come together to save the nation."

Revival Continued.

Revival services being held at the Free Methodist church, 595 Hill street, S. E., by the Rev. Sam Haynes, will be continued through Sunday, according to announcement Wednesday. The services start at 7:30 o'clock each night.

M'KELLAR CRITICIZES HOOVER NAVAL PLAN

Memphis, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—President Hoover's recent moves toward readjustment of the naval armaments of the United States and of Great Britain were criticized in a statement issued here tonight by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, who said "Mr. Hoover does not clearly indicate the kind of parity he is for."

Senator McKellar said he would support the president if Mr. Hoover advocates "absolute parity" in all classes of naval vessels, but would oppose extension to other classes of the 5-5 ratio for battleships approved by the 1922 Washington limitations conference, because "it has brought about the grossest and most humiliating disparity."

The senator said he doubted whether President Hoover seeks absolute parity, questioning: "Is that the kind of parity his administration is seeking? Not at all."

The Washington agreement Senator McKellar called "the Stimson brand of parity," quoting the secretary of state as saying the scale for battleships should be applied to cruisers and all other naval vessels.

"If he (the president) is against the Stimson brand of parity, and I sincerely hope he is, then I hope he will let it be known to the American people," Senator McKellar said. "His stopping of the building of three cruisers would indicate that he was backing the Stimson brand of parity."

Senator McKellar quoted statistics which he said showed the Washington conference had resulted, not in a 5-5 ratio for battleships, but had "practically made it a 22-to-5 ratio," in Great Britain's favor. He said if the full construction program of the United States were carried out, "we still would be tremendously behind Great Britain," both in cruisers and battleships.

Any new agreement, he said, "should provide equal tonnage in battleships, in cruisers and in all other kinds of war craft, including convertible merchantmen."

NEW YORK CAPITAL IS FACED TODAY BY WATER FAMINE

Albany, N. Y., July 31.—(United News.)—A water famine faced the 150,000 inhabitants of New York's capital city tonight with both the large mains which supply water from the Hudson River out of order.

One main broke early today. When an attempt was made to put the other main, a much older one, into use, it was found to be out of order. Only a very small amount of water was obtainable tonight through totally inadequate auxiliary mains.

City officials said that the city might be without water for the next three days, as it may take that long to repair the mains.

Meanwhile city employes were scouring the surrounding country and bringing in all obtainable water from wells and springs. The state buildings and the office buildings of the city are without water.

A greater portion of the city is without fire protection, and precautions against a fire in the downtown district were taken tonight by the massing of practically all fire equipment in this zone.

ALLEGED HAMMER SLAYER FAILS IN WRIT HEARING

Travars, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—J. C. Pike, charged with first degree murder in connection with the hammer murder of Levi Allen and Mrs. Angie Gillies, aged filling station operators at Mohawk, on the night of July 6, was ordered held in jail without bail at habeas corpus proceedings today before Judge J. C. B. Koonce, of Lake county.

Pike, who has been held since shortly after the murder was committed, sought liberty at a habeas corpus hearing on the grounds that he had nothing to do with the slaying.

Pike was indicted jointly with H. W. Prescott by a Lake county grand jury in special session last Wednesday.

Pilot of Fatal Boat in Crash Blamed for Deaths

Arnolds Park, Iowa, July 31.—(AP) Blamed for causing the deaths of nine persons when their speedboat Zipper knifed through the Miss Thriller on Lake Okoboji Sunday, the two owners and the pilot were at liberty on $5,000 bonds today.

A coroner's jury, reporting last night, held the trio, John and Milo Hartman, father and son, operators of the Eagle Boat Line, and Harold Yarnes, pilot, jointly responsible for the crash along with the owners and pilots of the Miss Thriller, Frank Long and Jasper Alexander.

A county attorney's investigation previously placed the bulk of the blame on the Zipper operators. It was followed by warrants for arrest of the trio on second degree murder charges.

Rivalry of the boats for supremacy in the passenger carrying business was the basic cause, the coroner's jury decided. Witnesses at the inquest cited previous instances of clashes between the rival boat owners for docking space.

HARRIS OFFICERS DESTROY STILL

Hamilton, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Harris county officers yesterday destroyed a still of 1,000 gallons' capacity and arrested and placed four negroes under bonds of $500 each for operation of the liquor plant. Sheriff W. H. Spence and his aides, R. J. Spence and J. W. Stanford, made up the raiding party.

BROTHER-IN-LAW HELD IN SLAYING OF MAN

Greenville, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—James Farmer, of Chalybeate Springs, alleged to have fatally wounded his brother-in-law, Robert Quick, in a quarrel near Manchester early this week, was being held in jail here today pending a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Authorities quoted Farmer as saying that he shot Quick after the latter had threatened the life of Farmer's father. He added that Quick was brandishing a .45 caliber pistol and had taken several shots at a passerby by the name of Miller. The shooting occurred near the elder Freeman's farm.

"Dynamite," "Liberty," Girls' Names, Must Be Changed, Ruled

Bologna, Italy, July 31.—(United News.)—In Bologna, public school pupils who bear un-Christian or bolshevist names which were imposed on them by their parents during the "red intoxication" period in Italy" must change them to Christian names which correspond with national tradition and the spirit of modern times.

The civil court ruled today that bolshevist names such as "Atheiecuc," "Lenin," "Anarchist" and "Libertarian"—all of which are names of Bologna boys—must be changed. The decision was made at the request of city authorities under a law prohibiting imposition of names contrasting to the present moral atmosphere of the country.

Among the girls' names which must be changed are "Vengeance," "Dynamite," "Liberty" and "Internationale."

SEWER BOND PROJECTS SENT TO COMMISSION

Council Will Act on Proposal for 10 Jobs If Approval Is Given.

Ten sewer bond projects with estimated cost placed at $20,050 will be before city council at its regular semimonthly meeting Monday if the Atlanta bond commission approves action of the sewer committee of city council in making its recommendations.

Three sanitary sewers also will be offered to council to be laid from current funds. The sewer committee gave its approval to them.

Projects from bond funds which were sanctioned by the committee are construction of Monument avenue sewer, $4,500; extension of the Boulevard drive sewer, $3,200; Rosedale avenue to the present sewer east of Maison street and Atlanta avenue, $2,850; culvert across Fair street, $1,800; Sutton street sewer, $1,600; culvert across Caroline street, $700; storm drain at Stewart avenue and Maryland avenue, $700; Ashby street sewer south of Marietta street to 400 feet west, $700; Gilbert street sewer to Woodland avenue south of Eden avenue, $1,700; Gaston and Sophia place sewer southeasterly to the White street trunk sewer, $2,250.

Lateral sanitary sewers were recommended in Brewster street from Harman street to Campbelton road; Primrose street near Farrington avenue north to end of street and a connecting line to Woodson street, Harman street to Campbelton road.

H. L. SCHLESINGER BEQUEATHS ENTIRE ESTATE TO WIDOW

HIGH VOLTAGE KILLS MAN AT BRUNSWICK

Linesman Accidently Brushes Against Wire—Dies Instantly.

F. W. Ligon, 30 years old, of Hattiesburg, Miss., a linesman for the Empire Construction Company, a subsidiary of the Georgia Power Company, was instantly killed at Brunswick shortly before noon Wednesday when his shoulder came in contact with a high tension line upon which he was working, according to information received here Wednesday afternoon.

The report stated that Ligon, with two other men, was working on a 66,000-volt line, changing it to a 11,000-volt line when his shoulder accidentally brushed against a wire.

Fellow workers immediately employed artificial respiration in an effort to revive him but their efforts were unsuccessful.

He had been with the company for a little more than four years, it was said, and is survived by his widow. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later. It was not stated where the body would be taken for burial.

CITY TAX REVALUATION PROPOSAL IS ADVERSED

White Will Carry Fight for Proposal to Council as Result.

A councilmanic battle over readjustment of assessments of city tax assessors against downtown real estate loomed Wednesday following action of the tax committee of city council in adversing a proposal of Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, which would assess central business property more nearly on a parity with that made against the residential districts.

Mr. White announced he will carry his fight to the floor of city council Monday, and at the same time Councilman William E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, declared he will investigate certain assessments of central business property with a view of ascertaining whethere there is "discrimination in making assessments against them."

Mr. White's paper was designed to instruct assessors to levy on business property at the same rate assessed against the home-owners of the city. Residents are assessed at 70 per cent of the actual value, while many of the business holdings are assessed at from 25 to 30 per cent of their market value, according to Mr. White.

"Such assessments are discriminatory and should not be permitted," Mr. White said. "Business property should not enjoy privileges not extended to other property owners. Under the present system the small home-owner is taxed to the limit and business property, from which there is an income, is carried on the tax digests at a smaller assessment than the paying property.

"I shall take the matter to the floor of city council and fight for it. I will vote for it if I am the only man of the 36 members of council to cast a ballot for it."

"Certain downtown buildings which cost about the same amount of money to erect and which should be assessed, I believe, at about the same figure, show a variation of $750,000 in the assessments placed on them," Councilman Saunders said. "I shall investigate to see whether there appears to be discrimination in making such assessments, and if I am led by the probe to believe that such exists, I shall ask city council to correct it at its regular session Monday."

FORMER GOVERNOR LAUDED FOR GIFT TO JUNIOR COLLEGE

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools, Wednesday addressed a letter of congratulations to former Governor George W. Donaghey, of Arkansas, and head of the Federal Bank and Trust Company of Little Rock, because of the latter's endowment of $2,000,000 to the junior college of that city.

Mr. Sutton pointed out that millions have been contributed to institutions of higher learning, whille endowments to junior colleges are practically unknown. He declared that the money could perform a maximum service in the junior college, and expressed the hope that others will follow the example of Mr. Donaghey.

GROCERY ROBBED OF $30 IN CASH BY TWO NEGROES

The grocery and meat market at 90 Hilliard street, S. E., owned by J. A. Fowler, was robbed of $30 in cash early Wednesday night by two well-dressed negroes.

The negroes entered and asked for a dime's worth of spareribs. As Fowler turned to cut the meat one of the negroes produced a pistol, with the demand, "Stick 'em up." Fowler did not comply quickly enough and the second black, urged his partner to shoot unless the white man relinquished a meat cleaver which he was holding.

Fowler then dropped the weapon. Detectives J. C. Davis and H. W. Armstrong are investigating the case.

Sewerage and Fire Protection Bill Is Favorably Reported; Vote Expected by End of Week

Roads and Revenues Body of Fulton County Given Right To Maintain Systems.

One of the most important bills of interest to Fulton county known as the sewerage and fire protection bill, introduced by the Fulton delegation, was given a favorable report Wednesday by the committee on constitutional amendments and will come up for passage probably at the Thursday or Friday session of the house of representatives.

This bill gives the commission of roads and revenues of Fulton county authority "to establish and administer sewerage, water and fire protection systems." It also empowers the commission to establish parks and confers authority to that body to levy taxes or assessments on property for such systems.

Sewerage System.

The bill was introduced by the Fulton delegation at the request of the Fulton county commissioners. If passed it will give that body authority to establish a county system of sewerage and also a system of fire protection and a waterworks system.

The bill is as follows: "An act to propose to the qualified voters of Georgia an amendment to Article II, Section 1 of the constitution of this state by adding at the end of said section a new paragraph as follows: 'The commissioners of roads and revenues of Fulton county shall have authority to establish and administer sewerage, water and/or fire prevention systems; to establish and maintain parks; and to levy taxes or assessments on property therefor;' and for other purposes.

Maintain Parks.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same that Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution of the State of Georgia be amended by adding at the end of said section a new paragraph as follows: 'The commissioners of roads and revenues of Fulton county shall have authority to establish and administer sewerage, water and/or fire prevention systems; to establish and maintain parks; and to levy taxes or assessments on property therefor.'

"Section 2. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that when said amendment shall be agreed to by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house, it shall be entered upon the journal of each house, with the "ayes" and "nays" thereon, and published in one or more newspapers in each congressional district in this state for two months prior to the time for holding the next general election and shall at the next general election be submitted to the people for ratification.

Written On Ballots.

"All persons voting at said general election in favor of adopting the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, 'for ratification of amendment to Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution of Georgia, authorizing Fulton county to establish sewerage, water and/or fire prevention systems, and parks;' and all persons opposed to the adoption of said amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, 'Against ratification of amendment to Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution of Georgia, authorizing Fulton county to establish sewerage, water and/or fire prevention systems, and parks.' And if a majority of said electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting thereon, shall vote for the ratification thereof, when the result shall be consolidated as now required by law in elections for members of the general assembly, then said amendment shall become a part of Article II, Section 1, of the constitution of this state, and the governor shall make proclamation thereof as provided by law."

High Blood Pressure Due to Constipation and Biliousness

If Alertox Fails—
Call a Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination, corrects all toxic conditions and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. COCA-COLA FIRM PRESIDENT WRITES ON DISTRIBUTION

"After National Distribution—What?" is the question asked and answered by Robert W. Woodruff, of Atlanta, president of the Coca-Cola Company in the August number of Nation's Business, official journal of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which is issued today.

When a company attains national distribution, Mr. Woodruff maintains, it is in a dangerous position. It dare not rest on its oars lest disintegration set in. Further sales pressure may only succeed in annoying its customers.

Pointing out the methods used by his own company in solving this problem, Mr. Woodruff explains how the Coca-Cola salesmen have now become service men and are assisting local dealers to better and more effective merchandising methods.

Under the caption, "Business Folk in the Month's News," the August Nation's Business prints the picture of William Candler, well known Atlantan who was recently appointed chairman of a committee to study automobile accidents. Mr. Candler was named by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont.

Since the opening of the divisional offices of the United States Chamber of Commerce in the Atlanta Chamber of Commrce building, increasing interest has been taken in the affairs of the southeast. Mr. Woodruff's article is expected to be a forerunner of many similar contributions by southeastern business leaders.

OLD GUARDS' PARTY BACK FROM 17-DAY CARIBBEAN CRUISE

Bringing with them delightful memories of a 17-day cruise in Carribean waters, the Old Guards' party of some 50 Atlantans returned to Atlanta Wednesday morning. They sailed from New Orleans, July 13 in the United Fruit Company's steamship, the Parisminia, and visited Havana, Colon and Panama City in the Canal Zone and Porto Barrios in Guatemala.

Headed by Commander W. M. Camp, the group left Atlanta July 12, sailed for Havana the following day, arriving there Juy 15 for a three-day visit. Next they journeyed to Colon and from there crossed to Ancon and Panama City on the Pacific coast.

Continuing on to Porto Barrios, where the ship took on a cargo of bananas, the party enjoyed a short trip up the Rio Dulce in launches. Returning they again boarded the Parisminia and sailed for home. The entire group was most enthusiastic in their praise of the courtesy of the fruit company officials who assisted them on the trip in every possible way.

JOSEPH F. VICKERS, LOCAL SALESMAN, TO WED IN GOTHAM

Joseph F. Vickers, 31, son of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Vickers, of Atlanta, Wednesday secured a license in New York city to marry Miss Anne C. Gatons, 29, of 205 West Tenth street, New York, according to dispatch from that city.

Mr. Vickers, who is a salesman, was divorced from his first wife, Mrs. W. E. Vickers, in Atlanta on June 4, according to the wire from New York. He is a native of Atlanta. Miss Gatons was born in Cleveland, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gatons.

ATLANTA GAS CO. TO PLACE MAINS IN BUCKHEAD AREA

Permission to lay gas mains in the Peachtree-Buckhead section as far north as Highland drive was granted Wednesday by the Fulton county commission to the Atlanta Gas Company.

The present mains stop at the city limits, in Brookwood, and the permit given by the commission allows a 12-inch trunk main to be laid in Peachtree road from the city limits to Highland drive, above Buckhead. Branch mains will serve other streets throughout the section.

Commissioner Walter B. Stewart, who presented the matter to the commission, said the company intends starting the work in the near future.

55 MEN ENLIST IN MARINES HERE IN PAST 31 DAYS

Enlistments in the marine corps during the month of July in the Atlanta district totaled 55, according to an announcement Wednesday by Captain George W. Spotts, officer in charge. Applications during the month totaled 243, the announcement stated, but the majority of these were rejected for minor physical defects. All new recruits were transferred to the training camp at Parris Island, S. C.

The quota for the month of August is 75 men and a letter has been received from Washington with instructions not to disqualify applicants who are only 10 pounds under weight.

CITY AND COUNTY LOSERS IN SUIT FOR $1,500 DAMAGES

Verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $1,500 was returned by a jury in federal court here Wednesday in the suit of B. W. Wrenn and A. R. Wrenn, as executors of the estate of their mother, Georgia A. Wrenn, against the city of Atlanta and Fulton county. The plaintiffs alleged that the grading of Fort Hood place, between Marietta street and West Third street, had damaged three tenant houses situated there, by reducing their rental value and by causing reinforcing work to be done.

Officials To Discuss Work on Sewer and Drain For Goodrich Plant Site

Construction work on a sewer and drain at the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company plant site, on Hemphill avenue, will be discussed at a conference between members of the Fulton county commission, city officials and company officials at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The sewer work was discussed Wednesday afternoon by the county commission, but no definite action was taken. The commission also discussed the city's request for grading work in the vicinity of the plant.

Theater Group Here To Present Play by Shaw

Bernard Shaw's popular comedy-drama, "You Never Can Tell," will open for a three-day run at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the White Barn theater, of Fourteenth street, near Peachtree street. The play is being presented by the Civic Theater of Atlanta.

Representing the fourth offering of the Civic Players for the summer season, "You Never Can Tell" will include in its cast the following talented performers: Hyman King as Valentine, the dentist; Grace Heyl as Gloria Clandon; Charles Johnson and Betty Mathieu as the Clandon twins; Emelize Wood as Mrs. Clandon; Leonard Coker as Fergus Crampton; Ashton Chapman as Walter Bohem; Parker Hord as William; Herbert Willis as Finch Me Comas, and Betty Burdette as the maid.

Groynne Burrows, founder of the Civic Theater and chairman of the drama division of the Atlanta Writers' Club, is directing the play. Performances will be given, in addition to tonight's, at 8:30 o'clock Friday and Saturday nights.

CARSON ADJUDGED BANKRUPT; COURT RULES BY DEFAULT

An order adjudicating W. C. Carson a bankrupt was signed by Judge S. H. Sibley Wednesday and the proceedings referred to Harry Dodd, referee in bankruptcy.

Due to the fact that so much litigation had taken place in this case, a special adjudication was taken to cover all the details. It was pointed out that the involuntary petition against Sturm W. Carson and W. C. Carson had been dismissed but that proceedings against W. C. Carson individually had been ordered to proceed.

Ten days are allowed in which to file an answer to the amended petition and to resist the adjudication, the order stated, and this was not done.

In conclusion it states that "it is now hereby ordered that W. C. Carson, individually, be adjudicated a bankrupt within the true intent and meaning of the act of congress relating to bankruptcy."

WAR ON CONCEALED TAXABLE ASSETS OPENED BY COUNTY

In an effort to place concealed personal property on the tax books, the Fulton county commission Wednesday authorized Commissioner Walter C. Hendrix to work out a contract with R. L. McAdory, tax expert. Under the contract Mr. McAdory will undertake to bring to light personal property not listed on the tax books, working on a commission basis, it was said.

Redrafted Bill for Leasing Of Old Depot Site Goes Back For Committee Action Today

Special Group Asked to Negotiate With Proposed Builders of 17-Story Building.

The Western and Atlantic committee Thursday will receive a redraft of a bill providing for the appointment of a special commission to negotiate for lease of the Union station site in Atlanta as a site for a 17-story office building to be erected by a Chicago company.

The bill was redrawn by Representative Davis, of Mitchell, and as changed it is expected it will be given a favorable report by the committee.

This measure must be passed by the legislature to make it possible for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, lessee of the state-owned Western & Atlantic railroad, to negotiate a lease with the United States Cold Storage Company, of Chicago, for the use of the Union station site for the office building.

It is proposed by the Chicago company to build a 17-story office building which will face Pryor street at the Pryor viaduct and run back for a part of the block on Wall street between Pryor and Central avenue. The back part of the building would be used for a cold storage warehouse and a dry storage warehouse.

President J. B. Hill, of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, asked the passage of the bill so that negotiations for the lease with the Chicago company can be carried to a successful conclusion.

The proposed improvement will cost $2,000,000 at a minimum and in all probability will cost $3,500,000 when final plans are adopted. It will be one of the greatest downtown business building developments ever made in Atlanta.

The bill as introduced in the house by the Fulton delegation and in the senate by Senator Whaley, of the thirty-fifth district, names the members of the proposed commission as follows: James A. Perry, chairman of the state public service commission; President Cecil Neill, of the senate; Speaker Richard B. Russell, Jr., of the house; Judge J. Frank Jenkins, of the court of appeals; J. Houston Johnston, consulting engineer of the state public service commission and Sam J. Slate, former state auditor. These six members are to elect a seventh member.

prepared to vote, as it would then remain in possession of the house for reconsideration whenever a majority might wish to replace it on the regular calendar. Meanwhile, he said, other pending tax measures could be analyzed, with a view to selecting the one best fitted to meet Georgia's present needs.

Culpepper then renewed the motion to table the bill, and upon roll call vote it was carried by 96 to 91. Representative Peterson, Montgomery, author of the principal substitute for the Key bill, subsequently moved that it be taken from the table and put back on the calendar, but his motion was voted down by acclamation. The various motions relative to tabling were interspersed with motions to adjourn, offered primarily to conform with parliamentary procedure, but the house for a brief period was in a turmoil which caused Speaker Russell several times to suspend business until order was restored.

The income tax bill, sponsored by Representative Boykin, Lincoln, would fix by statute a tax on net incomes of persons, firms or corporations in the amount of one-third of the federal income levy. Boykin took the floor first in support of his plan, and explained its operation. The proposed tax, according to his estimate, would bring in an annual revenue of approximately $4,500,000, or $6,500,000 in the event the house should adopt the original suggestion that the state tax be fixed at one-half of the federal schedule.

The latter proposal was submitted in the form of an amendment by Representative Howard, Chattahoochee, who also sought to add to the bill a clause providing that the present ad valorem property tax of five mills be reduced to two mills, beginning in 1931. No action has been taken yet on the amendments.

Measure Opposed.

The remainder of the session was taken up by Representative Alexander, DeKalb, who spoke for more than an hour against the Boykin measure. Toward the end of his address he digressed from the main issue to survey Georgia's entire financial situation, and to protest against what he termed the "unjustifiable squandering" of money by the assembly and the "shameful waste" in operation of the state government.

In regard to the Boykin bill, he declared there was little doubt that it would be upheld under the state constitution, but that it would possibly come into conflict with the United States law.

"The provision for basing the state tax on the federal income levy," he said, "might be construed as interfering with operation of the federal law and with the personal rights of taxpayers, by causing them to reveal to the state authorities what tax they are paying to the United States government."

Debate Resumed.

At the afternoon session debate on the Boykin bill was resumed with Representatives Stokes, of Twiggs, and Representative Howard, of Chattahoochee, and Representative McGehee, of Talbot, speaking in support of the measure, and Representative Parker, of Colquitt, speaking against its passage.

After the house adjourned at 5 o'clock the house appropriations committee went into session to hear the needs of various Georgia institutions outlined by their representatives. Those who appeared before the committee in brief talks were Dr. M. L. Brittain, representing Georgia Tech; Chancellor G. M. Snelling, University of Georgia, Dr. A. M. Soule, Georgia State College of Agriculture; Representative Marion Allen, for the Georgia Training School for Boys, Milledgeville; Representative Phillips, of Tift, for the Coastal Plain Experiment station, Tifton; A. Pratt Adams, for the State Industrial school, Savannah, Americus Normal college; Representative Maynard, of Sumter.

Bus Bill Passes.

The senate Wednesday consumed most of its four-hour session in passage of the Zellars "bus bill," placing motor vehicles transporting freight and passengers under jurisdiction of the public service commission. Adoption of a substitute bill including all amendments passed by the committee to the senate bill was finally secured by a 40-1 vote.

Senator Zellars' measure requires bus companies to secure certificates of convenience and necessity from the public service commission and to operate on minimum service schedules approved by it. Provisions for suits against bus owners and operators in case of accidents were included in the substitute bill.

Sent to House.

It was expected that permit fees and other revenue rates in regard to licensing the bus companies would be added to the bill in the house of representatives. Upon motion of Senator Rawls, the bill was transmitted immediately to the lower house.

Retirement of supreme court justices after 20 years' service at the age of 70 as called for in a constitutional amendment offered by Senator Myrick was defeated on the floor of the chamber. The bill would have provided for voluntary retirement on full $7,000 salary. It was opposed on grounds of expense by Senator Lankford, of the fifteenth district, and others.

Roll call of the members failed to produce the necessary two-thirds majority for a constitutional amendment, and the measure was lost. The vote was 21-20 for adoption.

Poll Tax Increase.

A second amendment to the state constitution was under discussion when the senate adjourned at 1 o'clock. It would provide for increasing the poll tax from $1 to $2 per person. Senators Allen, Tyson and Vandeviere, who introduced the bill, spoke in its favor, as did Senator Pitner, of the fiftieth district.

Increase in general living expenses was argued by the proponents of the bill as cause for raising the tax on non-property holding voters. Revenue from the poll tax is allotted to common schools of the state which benefitted by more than $300,000 during the past year. The proposed two-dollar tax would double the schools' income.

No vote having been taken on the amendment, it will have to be placed upon the senate calendar a second time by the rules committee before final passage or defeat.

Execution Fees.

General bills passed by the senate included a measure to fix responsibility for payment of electrocution fees, proposed by Senators Myrick and Smith. As amended by Senator Tyson, of the second district, and passed by the house, the state government will have to bear expense of all death penalties inflicted at the Milledgeville farm.

Fees of $10 each for wardens and assistants and of $75 for electricians at executions were passed in the bill. Original provisions requiring payment of fees by counties in which the crimes were committed were stricken from the measure.

Extension of powers which the real estate commission exercises in the five most densely populated districts of the state was ordered in a bill of President Neill which was passed by the senate.

Railroad Police.

The "railroad police" measure of Senator Myrick received official sanction after being amended by its author to meet previous objections. The law is designed to permit railroad and steamship companies to employ special police officers appointed by the governor to protect their own property and premises.

Senator Matthews was successful in seeing his war veterans act approved by the senate without numerous amendments that had been suggested. The act would modify certain sections of present laws so as to permit soldiers judged mentally unfit by the United States veterans' bureau to be transferred to government hospitals for treatment.

With only four new bills presented Wednesday in the upper house, indications are that most of the major pieces of legislation are already before committees or now await action on the senate floor. It was hoped that discussion in committees of the house would be practically completed within the next fortnight.

The senate will convene Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

EUROPE PREPARED FOR DEMONSTRATIONS

gan of the communist party continues to exhort the workers to go into the streets and show their strength but the aggressive tone of previous issues and of posters and pamphlets seems to have been toned down since the arrest of 120 agitators and search of more than 300 houses by police.

Police operations have developed the fact that communists have important military documents as well as information concerning the telephone system of Paris which they are not entitled to possess. The search of the apartment of a woman teacher in a public school is alleged to have revealed this information.

It is declared that the teacher stored in a school building a large quantity of tracts inciting soldiers to desertion and preaching civil war. The police have given fair warning that they do not propose to trifle tomorrow with any disturbance. All trouble will be vigorously dealt with and any foreigners found among the agitators will be conducted to the frontier.

The French police will have the use of automobiles carrying wireless outfits to keep them informed of what is going on all over the city so as to guard against a surprise such as that which occurred during the Sacco-Vanzetti trouble when some quarters of Paris were disturbed by groups assembling where the police did not expect them.

NUMBER OF ARRESTS ARE MADE IN SOFIA.

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 31.—(AP)—A great number of arrests among communists were effected this morning, including six women.

In the course of a search in communist headquarters police said they discovered quantities of leaflets, documents alleged to be illegal and a secret printing plant.

Orders have been given forbidding street meetings on the occasion of the world-wide communist anti-war demonstrations planned for August 1. Shopkeepers must close their shutters all day. Police and soldiers were concentrated in barracks today in order to meet possible disturbances.

BELGIAN REDS ARE ACTIVE.

Brussels, July 31.—(AP)—Despite diligent police activities and many arrests, communist appeals against capitalism were displayed today on walls in many Belgian cities. The police are preparing to mobilize full strength in view of communist meetings in Brussels, Antwerp and most industrial centers. At Liege the police ejected 40 aliens convicted of distributing communist propaganda and drastic orders have been issued covering demonstrations expected tomorrow.

BERLIN POLICE AWAIT ANXIOUSLY.

Berlin, July 31.—(AP)—Tomorrow is awaited with suspense by Berlin police because the day has been heralded by communists and social democrats for "anti-war demonstrations" throughout the world.

Berlin communist leaders who were summoned to police headquarters for heart-to-heart talks with officials gave assurance the day would pass quietly and orderly. Ernst Thaelmann, leader of German communists, is at present in Leningrad, but repetition of the riots of May 1 is feared.

The Neue Berliner Zeitung states that according to orders received from Moscow, Berlin communists are mobilizing for guerilla warfare which is to break out in a number of different points simultaneously in order to keep the police on the jump and prevent their concentrating on any one spot.

LONDON GROUP INDULGE IN FORCE.

London, July 31.—(AP)—Eight British communists, seven women and one man, today engaged in a farce at the expense of Scotland Yard which was reminiscent of the suffragist agitation days when suffragettes used to chain themselves to the railings of the prime minister's home in Downing street.

The eight communists boarded one of the familiar red London omnibuses, chained themselves to the upper deck seats, and at a signal burst into the airs of "The Red Flag" and the "Internationale." They waved a big banner with the legend "Workers, Strike Against the Preparedness for War," in honor of the world-wide communist anti-war demonstrations tomorrow.

The cockney conductor of the bus faced a first-class dilemma when the demonstrators refused to be silenced and could not be removed from their self-imposed galley-slavery. He finally drove the bus to the dignified precincts of Scotland Yard, where the best detectives of Britain were equally at a standstill before the problem.

After the communists had been left singing in the rain while Scotland Yard inspectors and the cockney conductor debated the procedure, the police finally sawed through the Gordian knot, so to speak, by sawing the seats from the omnibus with the communists attached.

The eight "reds" were taken to the police station. There the chains were filed and after they had been thoroughly questioned and admonished, they were released.

He also announced he would back them in another endurance flight if their record is ever broken.

Major C. Ray Wassall and P. C. Chaffee, the refueling crew for the record flight, also were guests and both took bows. The wives of the fliers were presented with bouquets.

ENDURANCE FLIERS TO TOUR COUNTRY.

Chicago, July 31—(AP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, holders of the world record for sustained flight will inaugrate a tour of various cities starting in Chicago Friday, officials of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Corporation announced here tonight.

Flying the ship in which the record was set, Jackson and O'Brine will leave St. Louis Friday morning accompanied by the refueling ship piloted by Major Wassall and P. C. Chaffee. Major Robertson will accompany the fliers in his own plane.

From Chicago the quartet will go to Detroit and continue on to an unannounced itinerary.

PACKARD STANDARD EIGHT PRICES REDUCED $290

THE Packard Motor Car Company has just advised us by telegram that effective August 1, prices of all models of the Standard Eight have been reduced $290. The new prices are as follows:

126" Wheelbase Models
5-Passenger Sedan	$1985
2-Passenger Coupe	2060
2-Passenger Convertible Coupe	2135

133" Wheelbase Models
4-Passenger Coupe	$2285
5-Passenger Club Sedan	2285
7-Passenger Sedan	2285
7-Passenger Sedan Limousine	2385
7-Passenger Touring	2185
2-Passenger Runabout	2085
5-Passenger Phaeton	2085

(Prices f. o. b. Detroit)

These reductions have been made because the factory expects to announce in the Fall new cars which though the same in size and of characteristic Packard appearance, will have enough changes to classify them as new models.

Many of these improvements and refinements have been in production for some time on current models. This, together with the fact that the new cars will be priced higher than the present cars were before the reduction, gives today's purchasers a very great price advantage. And also, immediate use of the largest selling and most popular car in the fine car field.

Two-thirds of those who buy the Packard Standard Eight give up other makes of cars. Thousands prefer to buy out of income. Your used car will be accepted as cash and if of average value will more than make the down payment on a new car.

Flexible Plan Is Called Joker in New Tariff Bill; Makes President Supreme

Program of Senator Watson Allows Republicans to Make Many Seeming Concessions.

BY BASIL MANLY.

Washington, July 31.—(Special.)—Reports leaking from behind the closed doors of the finance committee where Senator Reed Smoot and his republican colleagues are struggling with the problem of tariff revision indicate that a plan is being perfected to concentrate republican strength in support of the flexible provisions of the Hawley bill and the so-called United States method of valuation of imports and to make whatever apparent concessions may be necessary in the duties on individual commodities.

This plan of strategy, which is said to have been conceived in the fertile and practical mind of Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, will not only result in general upward revision of the tariff but will make it possible for the tariff commission to recommend further increases from time to time. The cleverness of this strategy is further emphasized by the discovery that President Hoover in testifying before the ways and means committee when the Fordney-McCumber bill was under consideration in 1922 put himself on record as whole-heartedly favoring the American plan of valuation.

Under the present rules, which have been in effect for more than a century, imports are appraised on the basis of the foreign manufacturers' selling price as evidenced by invoices and other similar documents. A duty of 50 per cent ad valorem means that the American importer will have to pay one-half of the foreign selling price as tariff duty. It is claimed that this frequenty results in under-valuation through the use of false invoices and other similar devices, but this is vigorously denied by the importers.

Demand of Manufacturers.

For many years there has been a demand on the part of American manufacturers that the tariff should be based not on the foreign but on the American selling price. These efforts were futile until after the end of the World War, when the fantastic collapse of European currencies made foreign quotations temporarily meaningless. Then for the first time the use of American selling prices as a basis for appraisal began to receive serious consideration. A thorough investigation was made when the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill was under consideration but in spite of the disorderly condition of foreign exchange then existing American valuation was rejected except in the case of chemicals and a few other similar commodities.

Nevertheless, agitation for the use of the American selling price as a basis for tariff rates has continued unabated. The reason for this is obvious. It will increase the amount of tariff that must be paid even though the rate is materially reduced. This results from the simple fact that to the foreign selling price must be added the cost of freight and insurance, the cost of unloading and cartage in an American port and the amount of the American importer's commission or overhead. In some cases these items may amount to as much as 50 per cent of the foreign selling price. It is conservatively estimated that a duty of 50 per cent based on the American selling price is equal to the average of 63 1-2 per cent on the foreign selling price.

The Big Joker.

The other big joker in the republican plan of strategy is the provision by which the president's powers to increase duties under the flexible provisions are to be enlarged. Under existing law the president has had power for seven years to raise or lower tariff rates by 50 per cent but only after exhaustive investigation by tariff commission to determine the differences between cost of production at home and abroad. Such investigations require many months for their completion and only a few such investigations can be conducted at one time without enormously increasing the staff of the tariff commission.

Now it is proposed to give the president power to change duties on a mere certification from the tariff commission that there is substantial competition in the particular comodity under consideration. The president is also to be given power to remove articles from the free list and fix a duty upon them under a similar showing of foreign competition. This will make it possible for the tariff commission to recommend increases in duties almost overnight and without the necessity of establishing any comparison whatever of production costs here and abroad.

Upward Revision.

As the tariff commission is now constituted it is predicted that such a power would inevitably result in rapid upward revision. The chairman, Thomas O. Marvin, was formerly a representative of the woolen manufacturers and has been one of the most consistent advocates of extreme high protection in the United States. Recent recommendations of the commission have favored tariff increases almost without exception.

The great importance of the strategy which the republicans are now reported to be adopting was bluntly stated by John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, during the closing days of the senate committee's tariff hearings as follows:

"Senator King: Is it true that manufacturers care nothing about the rates in the tariff bill as long as they can get what they want in the administrative sections?"

"Mr. Edgerton: Well, I think I can say that is true."

Thus the tariff conflict, which will be resumed when the senate reconvenes on August 19, appears to be shifting from a controversy over individual rates on sugar and a thousand other items to a clear-cut issue on the two main questions of the method of valuation and the right of the president to raise or lower tariff duties.

KING ATTACKS SUGAR FORCES.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Forces controlling the Cuban sugar crop were blamed tonight by Senator King, democrat, Utah, for the recent increase in American sugar prices.

The Utah senator, who is generally regarded as a low tariff legislator, declared control of American prices by the Cuban producers "justifies congress in taking this into account in determining the tariff policy which shall govern the Cuban sugar situation."

"Cuba, and the American Sugar Refining Company," said Senator King, "can and do control the price of sugar in the United States. They can and do depress prices or advance them to levels which permit exploiting the American consumers.

He complained also of the formation of a world combination for control of the sugar prices and declared this situation might leave America at the mercy of the other nations.

Ridley M. Justis, Federal Fugitive, Is Caught in East

Ridley M. Justis, last seen February 26, 1929, on which day United States Judge Samuel H. Sibley revoked his probation and ordered him to prison for three years, was apprehended in Philadelphia Wednesday and now is on his way to Atlanta and a sojourn in the federal penitentiary.

A wire to local federal authorities from the United States marshal in Philadelphia brought the news of his arrest and the word was immediately sent back that said Justis was very much wanted here.

A search of the records in the office of the district attorney revealed that Justis was sentenced June 23, 1925, on three charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act. The next day the sentence was amended somewhat, giving him two years in prison on each charge, all to run concurrently, and a probationary period of three years at the expiration of his prison term.

He next was heard of November 13, 1928, when he was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Griffith on a charge of transporting whisky. His bond was fixed at $5,000. Hearing on the revocation of his parole was held two days later but the matter was postponed until February 26, 1928.

In the meanwhile, he had been arrested again on a charge of transporting whisky and again he made bond.

It was reported that he was seen in the postoffice building the morning his probation was revoked but no one had reported seeing him since then until notice was received from Philadelphia.

POLICE ARE ASKED TO AID IN HUNT FOR MISSING WIFE

Police assistance has been asked in the search for Mrs. Jessie Fay Howard, 34, of 741 Howell Mill road, who has been missing from her home since Monday, according to her husband, who reported the matter to Police Chief James L. Beavers. Mrs. Howard is described as having black hair, black eyes, and weighing 98 pounds.

Colored Methodists Of Griffin District Meet in College Park

The meeting of the Griffin district conference of the colored branch of the Methodist Episcopal church opened Wednesday at College Park, with Rev. W. B. Wood presiding. The first session, the boys and girls' conference, found 300 colored youths present.

Officers elected were: Rev. N. A. Bridges, chief secretary; Rev. C. W. Adams, chairman of finance committee, and Rev. L. W. Strickland, reporter. Superintendent W. B. Wood preached the opening address, taking "Evangelism" as his subject. Rev. J. F. Dorsey and Rev. L. W. Strickland preached the morning and night sermons.

Several prominent negro ministers were in attendance: Dr. Irwin, of M. E. church, south; Rev. N. J. Crolley, superintendent of the Gainesville district, and Dr. L. N. King, editor the Southwestern Christian Advocate.

PAPERS INDORSE BOB FOR CONGRESS

ficiency with golf clubs. For even while Bobby Jones doubtless is a good lawyer, he is known first to the country at large as a golfer. That he is a good lawyer is attested by his present position as chief counsel for one of the important southern railroads. But that he is truly the Emperor of the Links will be attested by the millions who have seen his graceful swing with the driver.

Addition to Golfing Colony

"Bobby Jones would be a distinct addition to the golfing colony of the capital, but in all probability, if Jones comes here as a member of the national legislature, he will come as a member of congress and not as a golfer. Even in Atlanta, where he has more leisure than he would have here, he plays little golf between the big championships. It would, however, be a unique situation for a member of congress to be playing in exhibition matches, and there would then be no doubt as to who is the best golfer in the national law-making body. The pudgy figure of Bobby Jones trudging over the courses about Washington attempting to lose the weight he will have gained in his irksome labors on Capitol Hill would be an inviting one to watch. It is not often that a member of congress combines in one person that of an internationally known sporting figure and a member of the national legislature. Probably Bobby would need many sessions on the links about Washington—no matter how super-heated the atmosphere—to relieve his mind of the debates on Capitol Hill and the endless committee work he would be expected to do. It is a graceful gesture for Jones' friends to suggest him for membership in congress, and should he accept and win he is assured of a hearty welcome in the national capital."

UPSHAW ALSO OUT OF CONGRESS RACE.

Definite announcements by former Congressman William D. Upshaw and Bobby Jones, national amateur golf champion, that they would not enter the race for congress in the fifth district to succeed the late Leslie J. Steele were the chief developments in the congressional situation Wednesday.

Congressman Upshaw gave out an interview in New York that he will enter upon a national field of activity after he completes his present "vacation service" as a cub reporter on a New York tabloid newspaper. He declared he had received importunities to run sent to him by mail and by telegraph but said he had definitely decided not to enter the race.

Meanwhile members of the fifth district congressional committee were discussing various plans for the coming primary. It is probable that several plans will be submitted to the committee when it meets at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the courtroom of Judge Jesse N. Wood, of the Fulton superior court.

ACTION ON PITCAIRN LEASE IS POSTPONED

City Council Committee Delays Decision Until Airport Is Surveyed.

The aviation committee of city council Wednesday postponed action on the lease application of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., for space to erect a new hangar at Candler field. Action will be taken by the committee as soon as a survey of the field can be made.

That the home offices of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., might be moved to Atlanta may depend on what action the committee takes has been brought to the attention of the committee, and a favorable vote is regarded likely. The aviation company plans to construct a $50,000 hangar at Candler field, and it is understood that Atlanta will have first claim on the location of home offices, which are to be moved, in case the lease application is granted.

The lease application calls for 32,000 square feet of space bordering the landing field, and five-year terms. A complete passenger and mail hangar is planned, with shops and waiting rooms.

"Youth's Companion" and "American Boy" Merger Announced

Detroit, July 31.—(AP)—Merger of two of the oldest and best known juvenile periodicals in America, The Youth's companion and The American Boy, was announced today by Griffith Ogden Ellis, president of the Sprague Publishing Company, publishers of The American Boy. The first number of the merged publication will appear in October and will be known as The American Boy Combined With The Youth's Companion. It will be published in Detroit.

Savannah Man Hurt.

Florence, S. C., July 31.—(AP)—S. O. Robbins, of Savannah, Ga., received a broken arm and internal injuries today when his automobile was struck by a car driven by Harvin Deschamps, a negro. He was taken to a hospital where physicians said his condition was serious. Robbins, accompanied by his two sons, Howard and James, had parked his auto on the side of a highway near here. The other car, traveling in the same direction, struck it from behind, throwing it over an embankment. Robbins, who was standing in front of his car, was thrown several feet. The negro and the Robbins boys were not injured. Deschamps was arrested.

PORT TAMPA BANK PLANS RE-OPENING

Depositors Get Together in Session To Arrange New Step.

Tampa, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Depositors of the First Bank of Port Tampa, one of seven financial houses in that vicinity that closed to protect depositors two weeks ago, today were considering a plan for re-opening.

As outlined by James G. Yates, president, the depository can be opened again if 75 per cent of those having money in the bank agree to leave 90 per cent of their money there for four years. They could withdraw 10 per cent of their funds at once, under this arrangement.

Yates explained that the moneys probably would not be tied up for so long and that repayment would be made as rapidly as possible. "The bank was solvent," he said, "and would not have been closed under ordinary circumstances."

Stockholders of this bank were assessed 100 per cent of their stock to provide new capital for a re-opening provided the plan is accepted.

Definite arrangements for re-opening other failed institutions were to be submitted today to R. A. Gray, assistant state comptroller, in charge of a corps of examiners who have been at work here checking over bank records.

Mr. Gray said he would go over the various plans with officers and directors and thought others of the financial institutions might be able to effect necessary arrangements with depositors within a month.

Meanwhile there was considerable speculation over what effect appointment of a state "liquidation" to have charge of closed banks, would have on the situation.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE IS FILED BY WIFE OF MILLIONAIRE

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Ernest A. Jackson, multi-millionaire real estate owner, today was named defendant in divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Carrie Jackson, daughter of former United States District Judge W. H. Munger, of Omaha.

Mrs. Jackson in her bill named Helene Blake, of Chicago, as co-respondent. Jackson, the son of a former Iowa governor, is reputed to have holdings worth $40,000,000 in Chicago loop real estate.

Miss O'Loan Dies.

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Miss Carlotte O'Loan, 76, author and for 25 years editor of The Angelus, Catholic publication of Detroit, died at a local hospital tonight following a brief illness. Under the nom de plume of Joseph F. W[illegible], Miss O'Loan wrote a number of books.

Many Are Enrolling at The Southern Business College For Its Practical Training

The Familiar and Popular Doorway to Business Success

W. R. Bridges, Field Representative, S. S. and B. U.

Young people are daily enrolling at the Southern Shorthand and Business University for its thorough and practical courses of business training. The forty-five oscillating fans keep perpetual cool breezes flowing throughout the Southern's spacious school rooms, thus making the place a veritable summer resort.

The July enrollment has exceeded the enrollment for July of 1928, and the prospects for August are exceedingly flattering.

Enroll next Monday, August 5, or the following Monday, August 12.

Business education is the one safe and sound stepping-stone into the commercial world, and the better the training, the more lucrative is the position obtained by the business college graduate.

Business Education Necessary.

Several new pupils, while entering the Southern recently, made practically this statement:

"I could have secured a position easily if I had known shorthand and typewriting. I found several openings for those with the knowledge of shorthand, typewriting and bookkeeping while looking in vain for some position I could fill."

Grow With Atlanta.

Atlanta continues to grow, but you are not growing with it if you haven't obtained a good business education. Many of Atlanta's prominent business and professional men used the Southern's training as the stepping-stone to their present financial success.

Great Successes.

Colonel Lucius M. Lamar, the attorney for one of the largest corporations in Porto Rico, and one of the greatest of lawyers, learned business, including shorthand, at the Southern Business College, then used this fascinating art, significantly expressed by the hooks, circles and loops, while studying law. Shorthand was the stepping-stone by which he reached the pinnacle of his profession and has become one of the foremost lawyers of the present age.

Dr. Z. D. Thomaston, of Florida, noted for his wonderful success in the medical world, first learned shorthand, typewriting and bookkeeping at the Southern, then, with this business training, worked his way through a university, after which he attended a medical college for several years, paying his tuition and all expenses by his work as a stenographer. He credits Business Education for his success.

Six Important Reasons.

The prospective student very naturally wants to know what a school that asks him to patronize it offers. Below is a list of the things that may be enjoyed at the Southern:

First. The opportunity to attend a thoroughly established school whose value to the community is not problematical. It was founded 65 years ago.

Second. Courses of study that through years of experience and effort have been developed to a point where they will provide the most complete preparation possible for business employment in the shortest time and at the least expense.

Third. You will have the opportunity to attend classes and receive instruction under thoroughly competent teachers who themselves have had actual experience in business and know what they teach from the practical as well as from the theoretical side.

Fourth. Association with an exceptionally fine group of students—young men and young women recruited from the very best families in the country and inspired with the desire to achieve everything possible for themselves.

Fifth. The free services of an efficient employment department not only while you are in school, but as long as you may be in business, because the Southern is just as much interested in assisting the graduate to secure an advanced position as it is in placing him the first time.

Sixth. Because your own value in the business field will be measured largely by the reputation of the institution from which you are graduated, the Southern undertakes to give you the distinction of being a graduate of a good school—an accredited school.

These are things worthy of the most careful consideration of intending students, because they will be factors, not only in his education, but in his career when he leaves school.

Enroll now, don't delay this important matter. Applications already in hand for entrance during the weeks beginning August 5 and August 12.

ANNEXATION DRIVE STARTED BY CLUBS

Special Civic Committee Will Take Active Role in Fight for Bill.

Copies of the Inter-Civic Association resolutions favoring annexation of the territory proposed in the bill sent to the legislature by city council were being sent to presidents of the member civic bodies Wednesday by W. Brown Hayes, secretary of the Inter-Civic body.

The presidents of the 35 member civic associations and leagues are to compose a committee of the whole to push the passage of the annexation bill in the general assembly, under a motion adopted at the Inter-Civic meeting Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce.

W. D. Hoffman, former member of city council and president of the Inter-Civic Association, who presided at Tuesday night's meeting, Wednesday said that as soon as they receive their copies of the resolutions the presidents of the member bodies are expected to start functioning as members of the association's annexation committee of the whole.

The Inter-Civic Association has for its members the president and five members of each of the member bodies, and serves as a clearing house for all of the various civic organizations. It is a city-wide organization, being representative of the civic leaders of the city.

MOVE TO GRADE NORTHSIDE DRIVE "GAP" IS INITIATED

A new move to grade a "gap" in Northside drive, between Powers Ferry road and Johnsons Ferry road, was initiated Wednesday at a special meeting of the Fulton county commission. Members of the commission decided to meet B. F. Burdett, realty operator, at Buckhead at 6 o'clock Friday morning to look over the proposed grading.

The ungraded stretch is approximately two and a half miles long. The project was started a number of years ago and abandoned because of the difficulty encountered in the two and a half mile stretch. A steam shovel bought by the property owners interested to grade the road is said to be still standing at the brink of a precipice which stopped the work. The plan proposed to the commission is to follow a different route from a point a quarter of a mile from the depression and work around the valley on a small grade.

NEW SENATE BILLS

The following bills were introduced in the senate Wednesday and referred to the committees designated:

By Mickle, of the 37th—To amend the school code so as to provide five trustees for all school districts in the state. Education.

CHANGES IN L. & N. OFFICE PERSONNEL EFFECTIVE TODAY

Expansion of the personnel organization of the Louisville & Nashville railroad local passenger department was announced Wednesday by F. T. Alexander, division passenger agent.

Changes and promotions are to take effect today. They involved appointment of Clark Dunn, traveling passenger agent, to succeed to B. L. Buter, resigned; T. G. DeVane, appointed assistant city passenger agent, and J. W. Moore, appointed chief clerk.

Mr. Dunn has represented the road in Birmingham, Memphis, New York and Lexington for a number of years. Mr. DeVane has been connected with local passenger offices for some time, while Mr. Moore comes here from the Memphis office.

NEW YORK UTILITY TO GAIN CONTROL OF NATURAL GAS CO.

A majority of the common stock of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, which will furnish natural gas to Atlanta and points between this city and Monroe fields in Louisiana, will be acquired by the United Power, Gas & Water Corporation, it was announced Wednesday in press dispatches from New York.

The communications also set forth that the name of the United Power Corporation will be changed to the Tri-Utilities Corporation concurrently with acquisition of the Southern Natural Gas holdings.

The Natural Gas Company has contracted with the Atlanta Gas Light Company for distribution of the product in Atlanta and contracts already have been let for laying a portion of the pipe lines through which the commodity will be brought to Atlanta by high pressure booster stations.

ATLANTA'S BIG PROBLEM.

The ancient maxim, "let justice be done though the heavens fall," applies with strong appositeness to the Atlanta annexation situation.

From Chattanooga, Asheville, Columbia, New Orleans and Memphis come newspaper comments upon the wisdom of the Atlanta annexation project and the unwholesome attitude of those who are opposing it. They wonder that any of those whose prosperity is dependent upon the public spirit and public taxes of Atlanta are willing to see her declassed to a municipal grade that the whole nation knows would be below her just deserts and right.

The situation, in view of the census taking of April next, constitutes a crisis. But it is not wholly Atlanta's crisis. It is one of the state at large, as well. The people of the state by a great popular vote in 1877 made Atlanta their capital city and planted here their representative institutions. They have watched the marvelous growth and high national fame of the city with pride and with constant refusal of anybody's plea to remove the capital to elsewhere. This city has become the magnetic center of most of the great enterprises drawn into the state from the east, north and west. Will the state's representatives permit that indubitable power to be sacrificed to the interests of those suburban people who are actually of Atlanta but object to being in Atlanta?

The Atlanta Inter-Civic Association, composed of the leaders of all the civic promotion bodies of the city, has emphasized the incontestable economic reasons for the proposed annexations. Atlanta's taxpayers are paying almost the whole expenses of the county for the people who live outside the city. And, should the city be outclassed by Birmingham or any other city the magnet for business concentration and distribution will be shifted at least in part from this city.

That astute financial expert, Joseph A. McCord, stated squarely that in such event the real estate values in Atlanta would drop materially.

The issue appeals to the just-minded people around the city's borders and to the square-dealing members of the general assembly.

DRESS REFORM FOR MEN.

Dress reform has been a perennial subject of discussion ever since Mother Eve elaborated her primitive fig-leaf; through thousands of evolutions in female attire it has returned in our day to near-fig-leaf proportions. Dr. W. F. Draper, assistant surgeon-general of the United States public health service, reports the recent weigh-in of a flapper's full regalia when the scales registered exactly seven ounces. On the other hand, the average man's togs weigh seven pounds, so the girls have the males beaten 16 to 1.

However, there is no demand that the women shall put on more dry-goods, except from the owners of the textile mills. The stores and dressmakers know how to balance the shrinkage of material with stretches of prices. The real demand now is for male dress reform—some consensus to shed coats, wear sleeveless and collarless shirts and, possibly, the knee breeches that are popular in the tropics.

There are ample and valid health reasons for advising men to get more air and sunshine to their skins and that hygienic advice is being given by the most serious physicians and health experts of the country.

Probably the most popular compromise would be a general consensus of men and women to wear only one-piece bathing suits, with ruffles for the women and military braid for the men.

HEADING FOR A WRECK.

The parliamentary pinochle-playing in the two houses of the general assembly seems to threaten the danger that there will come out of the body no well-conceived, digested and practical legislation to redeem the state from financial discredit.

The spending complex of the legislators is abnormally developed. Anything offered to make new offices, increase salaries and fees, and to make puff-ball appropriations, gets a hoop-la acclaim in either house; but when it comes to finding the money for those higher costs of government, there is an almost unanimous thumbs-down enthusiasm.

That the end of it all may be a disastrous failure to legislate the state into solvency, economy and cash-basis efficiency is being recognized throughout the commonwealth by those who understand our conditions and the imperative need of curing them promptly and permanently.

The state treasury has not been in a worse condition since the end of the reconstruction era. The state's deficit is near $4,000,000. The highway system is cashless and in debt nearly $2,000,000. The teachers of the state are unpaid and the old Confederate pensioners are begging for back pittances. The higher educational institutions are starving literally and the charitable institutions are on the verge of collapse for lack of voted support.

Georgia never was confronted with a more deplorable situation—a red-lettered record of cumulative mismanagement.

If it is the policy of this general assembly to plunge Georgia into a disgraceful slough up to her very eye-lids, perhaps, the sooner the deed is done the better.

Once let the hoodwinked people get their eyes free and look upon the wreckage, they will realize quickly how they have been deceived, double-crossed and disgraced.

Let the state go down into the depths further, if she must, for then she will summon her Samsonian strength and come forth again in honor and high credit.

THE VIRGINIA CONTEST.

Next Tuesday the democrats of Virginia will go to the polls in a primary to nominate a state ticket for the regular election in November. They are faced by a coalition ticket put up by the "anti-Smith democrats," so-called, and the regular republicans of the state. There is little to distinguish between the two wings of the hybrid bird, as both are set upon defeating the regular democratic party, substituting in the government a foraging fusion of politicians.

The hope is felt in all democratic circles that the loyal democrats of the Old Dominion will make such formidable and acceptable nominations as to foreordain a splendid victory in the November polling.

It is generally understood that the national republican leaders are looking curiously for the outcome of this contest in Virginia. If the fusion should happen to be successful, they will promptly and strongly attempt to form similar fusions in other southern states; but if the democrats smash the coalition, then hope of keeping the south permanently divided will vanish.

Millions of ears will be eager on Tuesday night next to hear the news from "Ole Virginny!"

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Jan Christiaan Smuts.

A character sketch of "Jan Smuts of the British Empire" appears in My Magazine. It was, the article states, that fine statesman and historian, Lord Bryce, a man of wide experience, as penetrating in judgment as he was reticent in praise, who declared that the great war revealed only three great men, and one of the three was from the overseas British dominions. To this son of the British commonwealth he awarded, by natural rank, the position of a statesman of the rare type that transcends national limitations and has the higher vision without which the nations perish. At the conclusion of the campaign in German Southwest Africa, General Smuts was called to London. Soon he became a minister-of-all-work. Did the air defense of London need strengthening? Was there any difficulty with the allies? Were delicate negotiations to be opened with an enemy? Smuts was the instrument chosen over and over again. Soldiers and statesmen alike respected his judgment. And withal he had a moral elevation, a breadth of view, a nobility of outlook that went to the hearts of men. He becam at a bound one of the few men to whom everyone looked for wisdom, a spokesman to and from the world. When Italy received a staggering blow he hastened to the Italian front, interpreted the position, and quickly and unerringly forecasted the issue. When the peace came he and his friend, Botha, were two of the most universally trusted of the plenipotentiaries who were called to Paris; and could many of his views have been carried out there would have been a better peace. "You know," he said once, "God is writing a treaty very different from this." And that view he expressed many times. Smuts has been built for greater things than those which normally emerge from South African politics. He is one of the few men fitted to appeal to the imagination and conscience of civilized mankind. Roosevelt said once that the Dutch become the backbone of any country to which they emigrate. Here is one who became a pillar in the British empire.

Mr. Herriot's "Beethoven."

Only a man with the soul of a musician can analyze music. And only such a soul could have written "The Life of Beethoven," by Edouard Herriott, former prime minister of France. It is a piece of work palpitating with life. The portrait of the giant that was Beethoven becomes immeasurably clearer under M. Herriot's lucid style. If we look for Herriot himself in the book here he is: "We who believe that the problems of Europe are insoluble through the old formulas, we who are seeking in good faith a new order of things in which the genius of every nation can develop itself in a peaceful manner" . . . And further on the subject of Beethoven's partiotism: "That attachment to a fatherland is the most essential condition of a sincere love for a large humanity. Abstract internationalism is only a chimera. . . . The man who is most attached to his duties towards other nations is he whose soul has sufficient resources to harbor love of family, of native soil and of his own country." Apart from having written a fine essay on Beethoven, M. Herriott has revealed himself as a great European.

Fourteenth of July.

Parisians commemorated the storming of the Bastille in the traditional manner on July 14 and the two following days, that is to say they danced in the streets till dawn. Every corner saloon had hired an orchestra, often no bigger than a corporal's guard, and put its chairs and tables out on the sidewalks and on the pavement. The streets were brightly lit all night as commanded by Robespierre and the men of 1795 and the "citizenry" were, as of old, asked to "abandon themselves to rejoicing over the fall of the last bulwark of feudalism." Of late years the Parisians have discovered a new diversion on the three annual feast nights, they go over to Montparnasse to look on while Uncle Sam's boys and girls attempt to show them what is meant by the phrase "painting the town red." Never was such hilarity, such chaotic gayety seen in the Latin quarter. The Americans kicked off the lid and refused even to let the dawn interfere with them. Dozens of them fell asleep exhausted under the chestnut trees that line the boulevards Montparnasse and Raspail. But that did not prevent them to be furiously at it again by nightfall. Cocktails seem to have a powerfully reviving effect.

Sermons To Live By

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY.

Text: He that covereth a transgression seeketh love; but he that harpeth on a matter separateth chief friends." Proverbs 17:9.

Our text teaches us how we may foster and preserve, establish and prolong one of life's most valuable possessions, our friendships.

It also warns us as to how friendship may be destroyed, so that we shall be upon our guard against this foolish procedure.

We should constantly keep our friendships in good repair.

If it is important—and who would say it is not?—to keep the roof of your house in repair, how much more important it is to keep the sweet defense of friendship against the storms of life also in repair.

And yet there is many a man who is very solicitous to prevent the leaks in his roof from damaging the house in which he lives, who is wantonly careless as to the security of that home of the heart, a faithful friendship.

The Bible has many beautiful things to say of friendship and of friends: "A friend loveth at all times." "Oil and perfume rejoice the heart; so does the sweetness of a man's friend that cometh of hearty counsel." "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother."

A great Englishman, being asked the secret of his serene life under difficult conditions, replied, "I had a friend."

Annie Johnson Flint, in some lines, "To my friend," expresses what we have all felt but are rarely able to say:

"Though I so seldom see you,
It's a joy to know you're there!
The thrill of your courage helps me
The burdens of life to bear.
Your strong faith lifts me sunward
Above the cloud of my care.
The thought of your faithful friendship
Can make my day more fair.
It's a comfort just to know you
And to know that you are there!"

The True Measure of Your Belief In Liberty Is the Liberty You Give

—By Robert Quillen—

The measure of a man's tolerance is the measure of his intelligence. That is a truism.

If you would discover how tolerant you are, first ask yourself this question: Do I believe in man's right to be free, or do I believe he should have a master.

If you believe in man's right to be free, you believe you have an inherent, inalienable right to do as you please.

But one man's rights end where another's begin. That, also, is a truism.

Conceding that to be true, you believe in your right do as you please so long as you harm nobody else.

Yet there is a further restriction. You have no right to do wrong, for the moment you do wrong you harm somebody else or in some manner infringe on his rights.

Concede that, also. But if you cannot do wrong, at least you have the right to be wrong.

Though all the world except yourself may stand as a unit in support of some belief, cause or faith, yours is the inalienable right to think for yourself and believe the thing you wish to believe.

If you are wrong, time will prove you wrong and perhaps set you right. But in the meantime you are exercising your rightful privilege as a free-born man, and those who molest or defame you or in any way endeavor to punish you for exercising that privilege are enemies of human liberty.

That is true, isn't it?

If you concede that it is true, you do indeed believe in man's right to be free and may take your stand with those champions of human liberty who have fought the good fight against tyranny throughout the ages.

Now comes the test of your tolerance, of your intelligence, and of your justice as well.

Do you believe in the other man's right to be wrong?

If he holds a belief or preaches a faith or advocates a cause that to you seems wrong and ridiculous, do you join the enraged cattle who jeer and threaten him, or do you, while abominating and vigorously opposing his doctrine, uphold his inalienable right to believe and preach it?

There is the test.

If you would throttle him because you think him wrong, you do not believe in liberty. You merely believe in liberty for yourself. You are a tyrant at heart, and only want of power keeps you from being a tyrant in fact.

Belief in free speech is not demonstrated by speaking, but by listening. Tolerance, like charitableness, is proved by giving, not by taking.

EDITOR.

Q. How many airplanes of all types are there in the United States?

A. The latest statistics for 1928 show approximately 6,600.

Q. What is the minimum age for enlisting in the marine corps?

A. Eighteen years with the consent of parents, and 21 years without.

Q. How long ago were cross-word puzzles invented?

A. Something similar to the cross-word puzzle is said to have taken up much of the time of the Hindus and Chinese as long ago as 1000 B. C. The American Indians also played some kind of criss-cross game with grains of corn when the first white men arrived on this continent. Magic squares played an important part in the occultism and mysticism of the middle ages. These seem to have been the predecessors of cross-word puzzles of today.

Q. What animal is called a sea-pig?

A. The name is sometimes applied to the porpoise.

Q. What is the meaning of the term "brat?"

A. It is usually a term applied contemptuously, meaning an ill-behaved child.

Q. Is the common Amercian bull-frog the largest species of frogs?

A. The largest frogs are native in Africa and weigh about ten pounds. Negro tribes in southern Cameroon and French West Africa consider the giant frogs a rare delicacy, and preserve the thigh bones for use in religious ceremonies. The bullfrog of this country compares favorably in size with those of Europe, and probably is the largest of the more plentiful edible species.

Q. Where was Jetta Goudal born? What was the first picture in which she appeared?

A. She was born in Versailles, France, in 1901. Her first appearance was in "The Bright Shawl," which was released in April, 1923.

Q. How can poplar trees be exterminated?

A. Girdle the tree in June, one foot wide and remove all the bark so that there is no connection for the sap to run back to the roots. When the leaves are dead cut the tree as close to the ground as possible. The roots will not sprout again.

Q. How high from the ground is the cross on the dome of St. Peter's church in Rome?

A. The top of the cross is 435 feet from the ground. The dome itself is 404 feet high and 138 feet in diameter.

Q. What is the meaning of "O Sole Mio?"

A. "O My Sun."

Q. What causes mists and clouds?

A. Mists are caused by condensation of watery vapor in the air into tiny globules of water. A cloud may be defined as elevated mist. It has been recognized that the formation of clouds is due to two causes, the mixing of two currents of different temperatures, and the dynamical cooling of air by diminishing pressure.

Q. What parts did Noah Beery play in "Beau Geste" and "The Godless Girl?"

A. He played Sergeant LeJaune in "Beau Geste" and the brute in "The Godless Girl."

Q. What color is the Harvard university flag?

A. Crimson.

Q. What does the name Almeida mean?

A. It is a Byzantine feminine name meaning "the power of love."

Q. Is the book "Nigger Heaven" fiction?

A. Yes, but it is based on modern life.

Q. Is there a black rose?

A. The species known as "Prince Camille de Rohan" is considered black.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Hollywood July 31.—Screen and stage personalities are getting all mixed up in the colony.

Once a legitimate star has made a successful movie the gelatine gentry take him or her to their heart. Before that success is established in cinematics, the notable (regardless how much fame he may have had on the stage) just hasn't made good.

So making good in Hollywood is coming through with a local success.

Anne Harding, who has had an enviable career on the legitimate stage, is not one of the Boulevard lights here.

She keeps strictly to her work, and for her hours away from the studio finds no difficulty in gathering together a group of people from the east coast who have long been her friends.

Just at present she has established a Hollywood precedent by refusing to have her hair curled.

This quite radical departure from established form in the motion picture ritual was at first regarded as mutiny. Studio officials and beauticians and designers pleaded and implored. They tried to convince the lovely lady that sex appeal is largely established with curling irons.

Their supplications fell on deaf ears. Anne Harding was quite willing to have her hair arranged in any way suitable for her part. In three different and bizarre ways, to be exact. But all three different and bizarre ways must be accomplished without the aid of a curling iron. It's a brave stand to take.

Winifred Westover Hart is recuperating from the effect of an intensive period of work after years of idleness, and at the same time is taking off 45 pounds of fat accumulated to play the role of lummox.

It must be a magnificent feeling to take on 45 pounds and have a legitimate excuse for it. Winifred Hart says she had the time of her life, but the reducing process isn't so rapid and she is particularly anxious to get down to ingenue proportions so she can suggest something more to producers than a clumsy servant.

"Plenty of schlagobers" is the recipe for gaining the 45. "Schlagobers—for the benefit of the non-German devotees of this column, is nothing more or less than a mighty daub of whipped cream.

Jack Dempsey comes into a Boul cafe and gets more breathless attention than most of the pretty women there. Perhaps for the reason that the cafe population is made up mostly of pretty women.

"Is'nt he a gorgeous figure!" said pale, anemic Young Things with romantic sighs. They've been living on lettuce and grapefruit so long, acquiring the Hollywood silhouette, that the sight of a prizefighter sets them all a-tremble.

A village blonde was revealing her engagement to two other belles—also her romances. And most of them have been heralded in headlines.

Said she: "I am going to tell him everything. Everything. I'm not going to have any would-be friends slipping up to him after we're married and whispering 'see So-and-So over there talking to your wife? Well, he's one of her old affairs. No—none of that for me; I'm going to tell him all—"

Second Blonde: "What courage, dearie!"

Third Blonde: "Dearie, what a memory!"

The World and All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL.

YOU'D BE SURPRISED.

Almost any fact is surprising, if you state it well and illustrate it so as to make it easy to contemplate.

That's the basis of one of the very successful nonfiction books of the hour, "Believe It or Not," by Robert L. Ripley, published by Simon & Scuster.

Well, take the first fact that comes to hand. One that isn't in Ripley's book.

I am. That's the fact that is the basis of all philosophy. But it's pure assumption. State it more challengingly, thus: I am, but I can't prove it. There you have an arresting fact. Perhaps the most arresting that the mind of man has ever contemplated. So arresting, in fact, that some millions of thoughtful humane have spent their entire lives contemplating it. In India and other oriental countries, you will find over-thoughtful fellows, practically naked, starving to death while they look steadily at their abdomens, thinking of that inexplicable mystery, "I am."

And there you have the illustration to go with the fact.

GOING OUT BY THE CO ROUTE.

Another way I annoy some readers is by boasting that in spite of oft expressed wishes I shall never have a nervous breakdown. You know why, of course; but for the benefit of new readers I may say it is because there is no such ailment. There, there. We can't stop now to quarrel about that. There is something else that will do for an argument today.

Being a regular doctor, and not really a quack, I can't guarantee this, but I firmly believe that I shall not pass out by the carbon monoxid route when I get tired of hanging around this sphere. Of course you never can tell; I may be pinned down somewhere and be compelled to inhale the exhaust of some blamed flivver that seeks to take the right of way when it belongs to me. But what I mean is that by all ordinary care, intelligence and caution I ought to find some more respectable means of fading from the picture. I'd hate to think of competitors standing over me, sniggering behind their hands and saying: "Poor sap, he tried to warm up the engine on New Year's morning with the garage door closed," or "I understand they found him in bed, with a portable gas stove red hot and the bedroom window shut tight."

The sharp, unpleasant odor you may notice on entering a gas heated and poorly ventilated room is not carbon monoxid. That odor is no indication of the presence or absence of the deadly carbon monoxid gas which is odorless. Carbon monoxid is likely to be formed and given off into the air of a room whenever the glow of a radiant heater is more than three-fourths of the distance from bottom to top, no matter whether the heater has a pipe connecting with the flue or not. Carbon monoxid is likely to be given off from any kind of stove, heater or burner where iron becomes red hot. It is likely to be given off from any kind of stove, burning any kind of fuel, when the draft is closed and the supply of air to the fire is restricted. Of course proper pipe connection with the flue or chimney or the outdoors will carry away the carbon monoxid, unless there is a red hot iron through which the gas may pass into the room.

Carbon monoxid notoriously forms where a good deal of carbon or soot accumulates and becomes incandescent, as in the popular hot water heaters. It is exceedingly important, not only for health but for safety, to have every such water heating device properly connected with chimney or flue to carry away the poisonous products of combustion, of which carbon monoxid is the most dangerous.

Probably I shall never have a good steady job in a garage, unless they need somebody to do general cussing for the emergency crew. I find that thorough and exhaustive cussing will make a balky carburetor carburete after all sorts of manipulation of the various gadgets on it fail to bring a single phyt out of the thing. But in case I ever do get into the adjusting racket I'm going to have a 40-foot length of stout inch hose hanging around my shoulder and before we take even a peek at the under side of an engine we'll attach the hose to the exhaust and stick the other end out in the alley. I believe this will help to keep my complexion nice and ruddy, and also it ought to keep my life insurance in force for quite a while. Haven't you noticed the pallor of most garage mechanics? They have a wee touch of carbon monoxid poisoning. Some of them are just dumb enough to imagine a man can get accustomed to it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Save the Wrapper.

I heartily second all the mean things you say against the wet wash. I take one with the greatest reluctance, for I suffer for hours afterward from irritation and itching . . . (Mrs. S. D.)

Lanolin	2 drams
Boroglycerid	1 dram
Cold cream made with white petrolatum	6 drams

Or have your druggist make up the following emulsion, which grateful sufferers from bath pruritus, xerosis (abnormally dry skin) and ichthyosis (fishskin, gooseflesh, alligator hide) have christened "dew of Sahara":

Powdered tragacanth	1 dram
Phenol.
Glycerin.
Oil of bergamot, of each	5 drops
Olive oil	4 ounces
Distilled water, to make	1 pint

Use twice daily to anoint dry rough or pruritic areas. Pruritus is a medical term meaning itching or irritation without apparent cause.)

The cream is a formula given by a New York dermatologist. The emulsion is a formula given by a Louisville dermatologist.

Our healthy, normal boy aged 2 years wets the bed every night. . . . (B. E. C.)

Answer—Nothing should be done other than ordinary training for a child less than 3 years old. The tragedy of 1928 proved that we don't want wet presidents, so I am glad to send instructions for the correction of the bed wetting habit to parents or guardians of a child over 3 years of age who wets the bed, if a stamped addressed envelope accompanies the request.

Drops in Eye Examination

Please let me know whether the medicine used by some eye specialists in examining the eyes is injurious to the sight. (M. G.)

Answer—No, but a lot of merchants who are not permitted by law to use drops would like to have unsophisticated customers believe something like that.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Norfolk, Va.

I am a young man 28 years of age, married, and have been employed in a clerical capacity for 10 years with one firm. During that time I have not advanced materially in either position or salary, and because of the specialized nature of my work it has no value whatever as a basis for improvement in my present employment, or for a more remunerative connection with another concern. My brain would have atrophied, so to speak, had I not resorted to good literature to alleviate the drabness and pangs of stark reality. During these years the best books have furnished me a means of escape and have also counteracted to some degree the handicap caused by my inability to attend college.

From this rather omnivorous reading, however, I have formed conclusions regarding religion and philosophy different from those instilled in me during my adolescence, and am now somewhat of a skeptic. I have become introspective, melancholy and speculative. "My mind to me a kingdom is" (or was), but I find it insufficient to satisfy an inner urge for something better. I am animated by a burning desire to attain what I consider a worthwhile existence, but I have not the means whereby to satisfy it.

I am plagued from another quarter. My wife desires children, but I am adamant on this score because of my financial condition and future outlook, and have relegated the matter to some future solution. My mental condition has grown worse until Walpole's phrase, "Life is a comedy to him who thinks, a tragedy to him who feels," appeals to me as eminently sound reasoning. I fear I am suffering from an "inferiority complex," and consequently am unable to orient myself to life as I find it.

On every hand I see others no more intelligent than I pushing forward and securing the prizes of life, while I sit by pusillanimously, forced by economic circumstances to waste precious time, during which in different surroundings I might give an account worthy of one who desires life's better things.

My studies have given me an outlook that need not be compared unfavorably with that of a college man, and I am not uncertain as to my general knowledge. But I lack the specialized knowledge which can be turned to immediate account in making a livelihood. I detest the thought of self-annihilation, but lately this disconcerting idea has suggested itself on frequent occasions. I am fighting it manfully, but "quien sabe?"

I would sincerely appreciate your analysis of my condition and prospects.

I have inserted your letter at length because it is honest, candid, well written and has meaning for young men and women similarly situated. The person who would gain the good life must realize that it has conditions to be respected and rules to be obeyed. May I focus your attention on two important factors in your case, both of which prevent your happiness and that of your wife. The first is contained in your hint at taking yourself out of life before God orders your withdrawal; and the second is your refusal to fulfill the purposes of true matrimony by having children.

Both these drawbacks may be traced to your self-centered state. Only once does your letter mention your wife, and then but to emphasize your dominancy. If you were an ordinary man, incapable of rising above your present level, the defects I venture to indicate would still be important. It is, therefore, the more to be regretted that your fine possibilities should be marred by a pronounced egotism and a want of sportsmanship in two very vital relations.

Be true to the life your Creator gave you. Be true to the consummation of your marriage. Demobilize some of your concentration and fix it on others, primarily on your wife, who shows sound sense in her desire for children, and on the splendid adventure life offers to every courageous man. In short, be a white soul through and through. Your cultural reading is all to the good, provided you do not allow a well-nourished brain to exist side by side with a starved heart and a defaulting conscience.

I agree that you must have an outlet for your pent-up fires or they may burst the boiler. You have shown you can absorb first-class ideas. Why not express them publicly and on a liberal scale? I would hesitate to suggest this to many young men. But you have the gift. Weld what you have dug out of books by the sweat of your brain with your own experience in life, and fuse the whole product into a lecture. Ask your nearest clergyman to lend you his platform for its deliverance. Any man who can write as well as you do is entitled to a wider hearing, provided his faculties of speech are correspondingly developed. Such a course will take you out of yourself and create in others some degree of appreciation for what you really are. The warmth of their response should result in a general thawing out of your social instincts and a more normal and happy outlook on life.

Home responsibilities await your resolution. Keep your temper. Don't sour on your surroundings. Be sure few things are worth having which can be won without great effort. Memorize Kipling's stirring lines:

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a man, my son!

As you advance in life some prizes you covet will recede from your reach. But others and often more valuable ones will emerge into view. So direct your unusual talents to a definite end and hold on till the goal is won.

The Way of the World

By Grove Patterson.

THE HAPPY MAN.

It has been said there is no such thing as the attainment of happiness. It is true that life is full of discouragements and disappointments and that one's dreams and ambitions are not always realized. But the fact remains that there is a fair degree of happiness to be attained and it can be had in quite simple fashion. It comes to the man who has no fear, who is not trying to make an impression on anybody, who does as he pleases without trespassing on the rights of others, who is not trying to save the soul of anybody else, who is not trying to force his opinion on anybody or trying to regulate somebody else's life. It comes to a man who has no politics to play, no axes to grind, nothing to conceal and who is conscious that he knows how to make a living.

Man Confesses Slaying Friend Thought Killed Accidentally in Tussle

Barsh Claims He Shot as Mills Was Advancing on Him With Open Knife.

Augusta, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—George Barsh, first pictured as the defender of the life of a pet dog last Sunday in an argument and scuffle in which the animal's owner, Foster E. Mills, was fatally wounded, tonight was in jail under a murder charge after police announced that he had made a confession.

Barsh today told officers, they said, that he shot Mills after the latter had threatened him "with something in his hand." Earlier in the week Barsh had said that Mills was shooting at a dog and that when he intervened a gun in Mills' hand accidentaly discharged and wounded him.

Mills said before he died several hours later that "nobody shot me." Officers explained this today by declaring that through statements made by Barsh and his wife and Mrs. Fanny Rogers of Bath, S. C., they learned that witnesses to the shooting and Mills, himself, all of whom were on an outing in Columbia county, had agreed to describe it as "accidental."

Mills, holding a knife in his hand, was advancing on Barsh when the latter shot, Mrs. Rogers told authorities today.

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—(adv.)

Graf Zeppelin Offers Comfort, Luxury

ZEPPELIN RACING TO BEAT STORM

to fly to America a youth was caught just as he attempted to leap from the hangar to the top of the dirigible. Officials said at that time that he probably would have crashed through the gas bag and been killed as well as endangering the aircraft.

List of Passengers

The official list of passengers aboard the Graf Zeppelin was announced after the departure as follows:

Nelson Morris, a member of the Chicago packing firm family; Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous Australian explorer; Joachim Rickard, international lawyer resident at Madrid, whose home is in Boston; Richard Burke, aviator, of San Bernardino, Cal.; Frank Nicholson, journalist, of New York; Herbert Fiebel, jeweler, of Saginaw, Mich.; George Crouse, wholesale grocer, of Syracuse, N. Y., and New York City, and Mrs. Crouse; Gregory Gourevitsch, Polish pianist of Paris, and Mme. Gourevitsch; Walter Spiess, of the German ministry of transportation; Ernst Millarch, professor of mathematics at Bonn University; Werner Stauffcher, industralist, of Basle, Switzerland; Heinz Von Eschwege, journalist, of Berlin; Count Albrecht Monteglas, journalist, of Berlin; Carl Schutz, engineer, of Kiel; Dr. Leisler Kiep, of the Hamburg-American line, Berlin; and Count Franz Von Soden, engineer, of Friedrichshafen.

The Graf Zeppelin has aboard also two chimpanzees—a male and a female, named Looey and Susy—600 canaries, and four pigeons.

Cabins Are Ablaze.

The sky was bright as the Graf Zeppelin departed with its cabins ablaze with light and its five motors forcing it ahead with increasing speed. There was a light breeze which made the night cool but not uncomfortable.

Dr. Eckener arrived at the hangar scarcely four minutes before the ship was dragged out. The passengers, two women and 16 men, already had gone aboard. The veteran commander, who took the Graf Zeppelin on a successful round-trip flight to Lakehurst last autumn, quickly took his place in the pilot room and shouted gruff commands to the ground crew.

Just before entering the ship Dr. Eckener said that he would pass over Basle, Switzerland, after leaving Friedrichshafen and then head westward. He plans to fly across France to the Bay of Biscay if weather conditions are suitable and then strike out along the 46th parallel of latitude. From that point he will be guided by weather conditions as to whether he will pass over the Azores.

4,500 Miles to Travel.

He said that if the weather prompts such action he will turn southward even before reaching the Bay of Biscay. The distance to Lakehurst is about 4,500 miles. Along the dirigible's probable route.

The Graf Zeppelin's chef, Otto Manz, nearly missed the take-off of the big ship. The passengers had all arrived from the town in special automobiles and were staging the last part of their farewell part in the hangar when it was discovered that Manz was missing.

There was a wild rush to find him and officers of the dirigible, accompanied by newspapermen, finally discovered Manz sound asleep in his butcher-shop nearby. He was roused and rushed aboard to get the first meal for the passengers at 8 a. m.

Hundreds of spectators were assembled outside the field to watch the departure.

Dance Is Enjoyed.

The passengers assembled at midnight in the lobby parlor of the Kurgarten hotel, where a dance started. A light breakfast was arranged for at the conclusion of the dance and before the passengers left for the hangar shortly before 2 a. m.

The passengers were informed that their beds were waiting for them aboard the dirigible. They will have an opportunity for several hours sleep in the airship's luxurious cabins before the first meal is served at 8 a. m.

The Zeppelin's "wine cellar" was stocked more lavishly than on any previous trip. There was a great abundance of both wine and champagnes. Officials pointed out that the surplus will not be thrown overboard as they near the United States but will be locked and sealed in an iron box carried for that purpose. The United States customs officials warned on the last trip against recurrence of the discovery of bottled liquor in the passenger cabins.

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR ROUND-WORLD TRIP.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Arrangements for the trip to America of the Graf Zeppelin and for the succeeding trip around the world which is scheduled to begin at Lakehurst, N. J., Wednesday or Thursday of next week, were concluded with navy department officials today by F. W. Von Meister, American representative of the Zeppelin company.

After the Graf Zeppelin leaves Friedrichshafen its commander will endeavor to communicate with American naval radio stations every eight hours for the first day and a half and every four hours from then until the ship is moored at Lakehurst. This, it is hoped, will be 70 or 80 hours after the beginning of the flight. In the mornings the Zeppelin will transmit between 5,000 and 8,000 kilocycles and in the afternoons between 8,000 and 11,000.

Discussing arrangements for the round-the-world flight, Mr. Von Meister said the undertaking would have been impossible except for co-operation of the American navy. In addition to preparing for the scheduled landing at Los Angeles and Lakehurst, it has made available for emergencies mooring masts at Camp Lewis, Washington, and at Honolulu. The extensive radio network maintained by the navy also will aid.

Part of the time, however, the airship will depend on Japanese naval radio facilities and upon ships at sea for communication, and for a time, particularly over northern Russia and Siberia, may be in touch with German stations only.

The Zeppelin will use a wide variety of fuel in the lengthy trip, loading first with "blau" gas in Germany, then with ethane gas at Lakehurst, a mixture of pyrofax and hydrogen at Tokyo, and a mixture of equal parts of pyrofax and illuminating gas at Los Angeles. The fuel is burned in ordinary gasoline engines equipped with special carburetors.

INCREASES MADE IN FEW PRODUCTS.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Agricultural tariff rates received some increases from the republicans of the senate finance committee in their revision of the house tariff measure today but the pruning knife was applied to lumber and tobacco schedules.

The duties proposed on milk, eggs and poultry were jumped up above the increases voted by the house. The rates on cattle, sheep, swine and butter were kept at the house figure. The increase voted by the house on tobacco wrappers used in manufacture of cigars was eliminated and the tariff which has applied since 1922 on mahogany logs was repealed.

Senator Couzens, of Michigan, who yesterday bolted the secrecy rule of the republican conference sessions, made this information on the committee's actions today available to his constituents. Senator Couzens gave notice he would not be bound in the future by the secrecy rule when he became aroused at the constant "leaks" of the committee's information to the "lobbyists" and other representatives of interested parties.

Senator Bingham, Connecticut, waged a determined drive for retention of the tobacco increase voted by the house. Tobacco growers of his state, Georgia and Florida, had urged this increase in opposition to the protests of the manufacturers of the cheap cigars. Bingham was overwhelmingly voted down, however.

Strenuous efforts also were made to boost the tariff on dry and frozen eggs, but repeated motions for increases in these rates were rejected by narrow margins. There were divisions of 6 to 4 on several roll calls.

The increases in the rates on milk, cream and skimmed milk were reported as compensatory raises to correspond with the rate of 14 cents a pound on butter put into the house bill. The milk duty was changed from 5 cents to 6 1-2 cents a gallon; cream, from 48 cents to 56 6-10 cents a gallon; and skimmed milk from 1 3-4 to 2 1-20 cents a gallon.

Egg Rate Retained.

The rate of 10 cents a dozen on eggs provided by the house bill was kept at that figure by a 6 to 4 vote. The rate on live poultry was advanced from 6 cents to 8 cents a pound; and on dead birds from 8 cents to 10 cents a pound. The turkey tariff was kept the same as in the house measure.

A reduction was ordered in the duty on fish, fresh and frozen, from one cent a pound to 1-2 cent and cod from 2 1-2 cents to 1 1-4 cents a pound.

An attempt was made to boost the tariff duty on cattle but this was rejected. The house bill fixed this rate at 2 cents a pound on cattle of 800 pounds or less and at 2 1-2 cents a ponnd on cattle of more than 800 pounds.

The agricultural schedule was not completed and will be taken up again tomorrow. All rates in this schedule which were changed today were reported. The vast majority of the rates were kept at the house figure.

No attempt at disciplining Senator Couzens was made by the other members of the committee. While there was relaxation in the secrecy ban to some extent by the others, they did not abandon the rule.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to itching skin, sunburn, windburn and clears up bites, pimples and rash. Even in severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the skin. To draw out local infection and clear away unsightly blemishes there's nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it [illegible]. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00.—(adv.)

JOSEF ROSENBLATT IS DISCHARGED FROM BANKRUPTCY

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Josef Rosenblatt, internationally-known cantor, who went into voluntary bankruptcy on January 14, 1925, was discharged from bankruptcy today despite the opposition of creditors who charged that he had concealed assets and had failed to keep proper books of account.

When Rosenblatt filed his petition he listed liabilities of $191,719 and assets of $32,859.

MOUTHFUL OF GEMS LEADS TO ARREST OF SHIP EMPLOYE

New York, July 31.—(AP)—A mouthful of diamonds landed Louis Jannessens, 40, of Antwerp, assistant pantry steward on the liner Arabic, in the hands of customs officials today. Failing to find any diamonds in Jannessens' clothing when they accosted him as he left the ship, officials noted a movement of his hand to his lips and upon investigation found $10,000 worth of small cut stones in his mouth. He was arrested for smuggling.

SYNOPSIS.

Martha Bundy, just out of college, establishes herself in New York in partnership with Jerry Breen, an artists' model, as an agent for artists. Both girls are popular in the art world and the upper Bohemian set. Martha's escort-in-chief about town has been Mortimer Blade, who has introduced her to speak-easies of the more expensive sort. One Richard Lame, an artist who bears a striking resemblance to Blade, also takes her about. There is some mysterious connection between Blade and Lame that Martha has never fathomed. This evening Lame calls for her at the women's hotel where she lives.

TENTH INSTALLMENT.

Richard Lame awaited her at the desk, so strangely like Mortimer Blade, yet so different. There was slight difference in their features, save that Lame's eyes did not impinge so closely upon his nose. It was rather a matter of expression, of spirit. Blade was purely material. That was advertised by his countenance. Lame dealt with the immaterial and imponderable. There was not a little touch of the ascetic, but more of the dreamer of dreams. . . . A dreamer of dreams that were sometimes humorous. When he was serious he was quizzical, and when he was in sprightly humor he sometimes surprised by his sudden gravity. One did not get all of him at a first casual meeting.

"I hope I didn't keep you waiting," Martha said, advancing and holding out her hand. Young folks always seem to find it necessary to touch hands.

"I've waited longer for less charming people," he said. "What's your humor tonight? Noise and confusion or quiet and high-class conversation?"

"Quiet, I think," Martha chose. "I'm not so happy, for some reason."

"Asking yourself questions when the answers aren't in the back of the book?"

"Something like that."

"Then you may spend the evening asking me. Maybe you'll pick a gobbet of truth out of the great mass of misinformation I've colected. . . . Here's a cab. Do you usually hold hands in a cab or do you prefer your own corner?" His eyes twinkled. "One aims to please."

"I've never felt any great urge to hold hands—so far," said Martha.

"Be patient. It comes to everybody, I understand. How is business? Somehow I can't see you as a hard-headed business woman."

"If I held hands more," she said, "I think business would be better."

His eyes were grave, though his voice was gay. "And so she came at last to the land of things as they are," he said.

"Why won't men ever be impersonal? Why can't I be just an individual? Why must I always be a girl?"

"During business hours?" He chuckled. "There's no power to declare a moratorium on sex. No method has been discovered of being neuter from nine till five. Whatever first cause created the institution failed to foresee the present generation, and most specially the girl who has ambitions to be a captain of finance."

"It's unfair."

"Everything is unfair. Why should it be fair? And, you know, you young 'uns who howl most about it do very little by way or alleviation."

"What do you mean?"

"You rig yourselves up to make yourselves as desirable as possible. You emphasize your lips with red and expect beholders to forget that lips were created for kissing before they took on the job of selling life insurance. You wear the most entertaining silk stockings and make no secret whatever of your knees—and expect us to think of you as we would of a bony old gentleman in knickers. In short, you put on all the lure in the box and then kick because it catches fish."

"But I don't dress for men. I dress for myself. I like to look nice. I don't care if a man never looks at me."

"Which, of course, closes the argument," said Lame.

The car stopped before an unpromising exterior, and Lame helped Martha to alight. "You may not care for this," he said with a trace of irony in his voice. "It is neither expensive nor noisy. But a gentleman may eat here without insulting the memory of his mother's cook."

"Do I appear to demand expense?" Martha asked.

"It's one of the rules, isn't it?" he asked, not unpleasantly. "We men must pay for our privileges."

"Doesn't that," she asked, "depend upon the man? It's even thinkable that I might dine in Childs' with someone I liked."

"That," he said, "sounds to me like a low form of flattery."

They settled themselves, and Martha looked about her curiously.

Then, smiling a little, Lame said, "Now we may speak of deep and holy things and smooth the ice and paint the lily."

"No," said Martha, "it's my day for doing puzzles."

"I thought you girls had solved all of them," said Lame.

"No," said Martha, "all we have done is to demand the right to find out the answers for ourselves."

"And the puzzles remain as puzzling as ever?" he asked curiously. "I've wondered about that. You all seem to know where you are going with such relentless certainty."

"They say we're a great deal more knowing than our grandmothers," said Martha. "I wonder."

"I've known some wise grandmothers," said Lame.

"But, objected Martha, "were they wise before they got to be grandmothers?"

"An idea, that! What you children want is to know at 20 all your grandmothers have found out at 70?"

"And why not?"

"It seems to leave an aching void beyond. What do you do with the remaining 50 years? If you crowd the Biblical three-score and ten into the first score, what, if one may ask, is left?"

"Time," said Martha, "to use one's education . . . There's a man scowling at you."

"Jealous, probably," said Lame. "I can imagine myself scowling at any man I saw dining with you."

"One thing I rather like about you," said Martha, "is that you say things like that without seeming to mean them."

"Oh," said Lame, "it is my theory to make love most casually. It's my line, as the college boys say."

"He's rather handsome," said Martha, "and somehow familiar." She wrinkled her brows. "I feel as if I should remember him."

"How," asked Lame, "can you expect to remember all of us? The modern girl needs a memory like the doorman of a club."

"He's coming over here," said Martha in a low voice.

It was true; the gentleman approached. He was verging upon the elderly, was exceptionally well groomed and handsome in that precieuse sort of way which seems to descend upon elderly gentlemen who have not wholly laid aside youthful things. Just at present his face was not altogether agreeable.

Now he stood beside the table, and Lame raised his eyes. Martha glanced quickly at her companion's face, sensing that this was no ordinary meeting of acquaintances, but his face did not change, not even as to the cool, somewhat quizzical expression of his eyes. And he did not speak.

"You are in this country," said the elderly gentleman.

"Quite obviously," said Lame, and added the respectful, "sir."

"For how long?"

"The sentence," said Lame, "is indeterminate."

"When did you return?"

"It may have been a year ago, sir."

"Does Mortimer know it?"

"If he does, sir, it is evident he failed to confide in you. Therefore I am discreet."

"He knows," said the gentleman, and frowned darkly. "How long has he known?"

The elderly gentleman turned his eyes upon Martha, and they lighted unpleasantly. "Am I to be presented to your companion?" he asked.

"The circumstances," said Lame cooly, "do not seem to require it, sir. One does not like to say it, especially to you, but you are not precisely one I would care to vouch for to a young lady."

"Lady?" asked the gentleman, lifting his brows.

Martha flushed, but Lame's color remained unchanged. "Let me retain my admiration for your manners, sir," he said. "It's something to cling to."

"My apologies. One cannot tell in this day. The distinctions between debutantes and matrons and chorus girls and cabaret habitues have grown indistinguishable." He lifted his shoulders. "I want to talk to you."

"Is it necessary? I think all has been said that can be said."

"You declared," said the gentleman, "you never would return to this country."

"One should never make unqualified statements."

"When can we talk?"

"I think not at all, sir."

"It's necessary, imperative. The situation is impossible."

"I find it satisfactory."

"Is that because you have reached a working agreement with Mortimer? . . . Of course he would try to double-cross me."

"What are you doing in America?"

"Painting."

"Ah . . . And what name do you sign to your canvases?"

"My own."

"Not——"

"I do not imitate Mortimer—I am not secretive. The name is Lame."

"I shall find you. I tell you" . . . his voice became suddenly tense—"it is necessary. We've got to come to terms." A vindictive light came into his eyes. "Perhaps you have interviewed Mortimer. He is remaining invisible for a time with a darkened eye and certain contusions and abrasions."

"I have not laid hands on him," said Lame.

"Then," said the gentleman, "I'll guess it was some of those droll Bundy boys. I warned him. They take that sister of theirs seriously. Probably they remonstrated with him." He turned away. "You have a studio?" he asked over his shoulder.

"I have."

"Expect me tomorrow."

"It will be useless, sir."

"Nevertheless—expect me." With that the elderly gentleman walked to the exit and disappeared. Lame remained silent; Martha studied his face uneasily. She was, she felt uncomfortably, close to some vortex of events, was even concerned in them: Mortimer Blade, the elderly gentleman, Lame! She wondered for an instant if there were such a thing as fate that threw together certain people in the furtherance of certain larger but hidden purposes.

"Be patient. It comes to everybody, I understand. How is business? Somehow I can't see you as a hard-headed business woman."

"If I held hands more," she said, "I think business would be better."

His eyes were grave, though his voice was gay. "And so she came at last to the land of things as they are," he said.

"Why won't men ever be impersonal? Why can't I be just an individual? Why must I always be a girl?"

"During business hours?" He chuckled. "There's no power to declare a moratorium on sex. No method has been discovered of being neuter from nine till five. Whatever first cause created the institution failed to foresee the present generation, and most specially the girl who has ambitions to be a captain of finance."

"It's unfair."

"Everything is unfair. Why should it be fair? And, you know, you young 'uns who howl most about it do very little by way or alleviation."

"What do you mean?"

"You rig yourselves up to make yourselves as desirable as possible. You emphasize your lips with red and expect beholders to forget that lips were created for kissing before they took on the job of selling life insurance. You wear the most entertaining silk stockings and make no secret whatever of your knees—and expect us to think of you as we would of a bony old gentleman in knickers. In short, you put on all the lure in the box and then kick because it catches fish."

"But I don't dress for men. I dress for myself. I like to look nice. I don't care if a man never looks at me."

"Which, of course, closes the argument," said Lame.

The car stopped before an unpromising exterior, and Lame helped Martha to alight. "You may not care for this," he said with a trace of irony in his voice. "It is neither expensive nor noisy. But a gentleman may eat here without insulting the memory of his mother's cook."

"Do I appear to demand expense?" Martha asked.

"It's one of the rules, isn't it?" he asked, not unpleasantly. "We men must pay for our privileges."

"Doesn't that," she asked, "depend upon the man? It's even thinkable that I might dine in Childs' with someone I liked."

"That," he said, "sounds to me like a low form of flattery."

They settled themselves, and Martha looked about her curiously.

Then, smiling a little, Lame said, "Now we may speak of deep and holy things and smooth the ice and paint the lily."

"No," said Martha, "it's my day for doing puzzles."

"I thought you girls had solved all of them," said Lame.

"No," said Martha, "all we have done is to demand the right to find out the answers for ourselves."

"And the puzzles remain as puzzling as ever?" he asked curiously. "I've wondered about that. You all seem to know where you are going with such relentless certainty."

"They say we're a great deal more knowing than our grandmothers," said Martha. "I wonder."

"I've known some wise grandmothers," said Lame.

"But, objected Martha, "were they wise before they got to be grandmothers?"

"An idea, that! What you children want is to know at 20 all your grandmothers have found out at 70?"

"And why not?"

"It seems to leave an aching void beyond. What do you do with the remaining 50 years? If you crowd the Biblical three-score and ten into the first score, what, if one may ask, is left?"

"Time," said Martha, "to use one's education . . . There's a man scowling at you."

"Jealous, probably," said Lame. "I can imagine myself scowling at any man I saw dining with you."

"One thing I rather like about you," said Martha, "is that you say things like that without seeming to mean them."

"Oh," said Lame, "it is my theory to make love most casually. It's my line, as the college boys say."

"He's rather handsome," said Martha, "and somehow familiar." She wrinkled her brows. "I feel as if I should remember him."

"How," asked Lame, "can you expect to remember all of us? The modern girl needs a memory like the doorman of a club."

"He's coming over here," said Martha in a low voice.

It was true; the gentleman approached. He was verging upon the elderly, was exceptionally well groomed and handsome in that precieuse sort of way which seems to descend upon elderly gentlemen who have not wholly laid aside youthful things. Just at present his face was not altogether agreeable.

Now he stood beside the table, and Lame raised his eyes. Martha glanced quickly at her companion's face, sensing that this was no ordinary meeting of acquaintances, but his face did not change, not even as to the cool, somewhat quizzical expression of his eyes. And he did not speak.

"You are in this country," said the elderly gentleman.

"Quite obviously," said Lame, and added the respectful, "sir."

"For how long?"

"The sentence," said Lame, "is indeterminate."

"When did you return?"

"It may have been a year ago, sir."

"Does Mortimer know it?"

"If he does, sir, it is evident he failed to confide in you. Therefore I am discreet."

"He knows," said the gentleman, and frowned darkly. "How long has he known?"

The elderly gentleman turned his eyes upon Martha, and they lighted unpleasantly. "Am I to be presented to your companion?" he asked.

"The circumstances," said Lame cooly, "do not seem to require it, sir. One does not like to say it, especially to you, but you are not precisely one I would care to vouch for to a young lady."

"Lady?" asked the gentleman, lifting his brows.

Martha flushed, but Lame's color remained unchanged. "Let me retain my admiration for your manners, sir," he said. "It's something to cling to."

"My apologies. One cannot tell in this day. The distinctions between debutantes and matrons and chorus girls and cabaret habitues have grown indistinguishable." He lifted his shoulders. "I want to talk to you."

"Is it necessary? I think all has been said that can be said."

"You declared," said the gentleman, "you never would return to this country."

"One should never make unqualified statements."

"When can we talk?"

"I think not at all, sir."

"It's necessary, imperative. The situation is impossible."

"I find it satisfactory."

"Is that because you have reached a working agreement with Mortimer? . . . Of course he would try to double-cross me."

"What are you doing in America?"

"Painting."

"Ah . . . And what name do you sign to your canvases?"

"My own."

"Not——"

"I do not imitate Mortimer—I am not secretive. The name is Lame."

"I shall find you. I tell you" . . . his voice became suddenly tense—"it is necessary. We've got to come to terms." A vindictive light came into his eyes. "Perhaps you have interviewed Mortimer. He is remaining invisible for a time with a darkened eye and certain contusions and abrasions."

"I have not laid hands on him," said Lame.

"Then," said the gentleman, "I'll guess it was some of those droll Bundy boys. I warned him. They take that sister of theirs seriously. Probably they remonstrated with him." He turned away. "You have a studio?" he asked over his shoulder.

"I have."

"It will be useless, sir."

"Nevertheless—expect me." With that the elderly gentleman walked to the exit and disappeared. Lame remained silent: Martha studied his face uneasily. She was, she felt uncomfortably, close to some vortex of events, was even concerned in them; Mortimer Blade, the elderly gentleman, Lame! She wondered for an instant if there were such a thing as fate that threw together certain people in the furtherance of certain larger but hidden purposes.

TOBACCO PRICE HOLDS HIGH LEVEL, SALE GOOD

Improved Quality of Weed Now Being Offered on Markets.

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—The sale of Georgia's bright leaf tobacco continued high today in the 22 trading centers and the price ranged maintained its high level reached Monday when the second week of the season was started.

The sales were heavy in a number of the warehouses that considerable tobacco remained on the floors after the close of the day's trading. That the improved quality is now being offered is shown by the spurt being made in the price averages being paid the growers on most of the markets. Many lots were sold above the 30 cents figure and several farmers received as high as 75 cents a pound for choice quality leaf.

An air of optimism seldom seen in this section pervades the whole tobacco belt which comprises more than 60 counties. Warehousemen and farmers both say that this is the greatest leaf season the Georgia markets have ever experienced.

8 INDICTMENTS ON DEATH CHARGES BY MUSCOGEE JURY

Columbus, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Eight indictments, growing out of deaths in this vicinity, have been returned by the Muscogee county grand jury.

Alto Gibson was charged with killing Paul L. Murphy, of Atlanta, and with assault and intent to murder L. L. McWatty, also of Atlanta. They were struck by a truck driven by Gibson while repairing an automobile beside a highway near here. Both were employes of the Bell Telephone Company.

Merrill Ballard, a soldier at Fort Benning, was indicted for the killing of Willie Lamb, another soldier, last April 30.

Indictments were brought against John Dunn, George Brady and C. Greer in connection with the death of John Henry Henderson, Jr., who died after being hit on the head with a bottle.

Willie Hunter, negro, is under indictment charged with killing his uncle, Howard Mabry. Dave Stalling, negro, was charged with killing his wife and Dock Snellings, negro, was indicted for the death of Howard Shumaker.

MRS. SARAH B. DIMON DIES AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Brooks Dimon, 88, widow of the late Samuel Dimon, died here last night. She is survived by three sons, Mayor J. Homer Dimon, Samuel K. Dimon and George A. Dimon, and one daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Woodruff. Funeral services will be held today.

BIGGER TOBACCO MARKET PLANNED FOR THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—An enthusiastic mass meeting of business men of Thomasville was held at the local chamber of commerce rooms yesterday, to lay plans to make of this town a bigger tobacco market than it has been in the past.

While 1929 receipts at the warehouse here are almost 20 per cent heavier than were the receipts for 1928, Thomasville still remains one of the half dozen smaller tobacco markets of south Georgia. Buyers representing the larger tobacco using corporations of the nation are stationed here, and they are especially anxious to see the local market grow.

They have assured the Thomasville people that they will do everything that is reasonably fair and proper to render aid in promoting larger receipts here. For the first time since the warehouse was built here it is now under lease, instead of being operated by a manager employed by local stockholders.

SIGNALMAN FOUND DEAD ON RAILWAY TRACKS AT ETON

Chatsworth, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Roy Aderhold, 18, of Etowah, Tenn., was found dead on the L. & N. track at Eton this morning. He was employed by the L. & N. railroad with the signal department and he, with other employes, occupied camp cars at Eton. The other employes say he was lying on the track near their car while the other boys were inside; that when they retired for the night they expected that he too would join them and thought nothing of it until he was found cut to pieces this morning.

He was supposed to have fallen asleep on the track. His body this morning was taken to Etowah, where he will be buried.

Expect Mystery Death Solution In Man's Arrest

Valdosta, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—A mystery of several days standing arising from the finding of the scalded body of James Adams on a road near here last Sunday was today expected by Lowndes county authorities to be solved with the arrest within the next 24 hours of John Adams, nephew of the dead man.

Irving Adams, another nephew, held here, has refused to answer questions, officers said. Isaac Brown, negro, also in jail, has discussed the case, they added, but declined to reveal what information, if any, they had obtained from him.

Authorities would not comment on a theory that Adams was killed in the explosition of a still. Bruises on his body were believed to have been made by dragging it through underbrush to the road where it was found.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. HARTLEY, GRIFFIN WOMAN

Griffin, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sara Elizabeth Francis Hartley, wife of the late Judge W. M. Hartley, died at her home near here late Tuesday. Mrs. Hartley was born in Baldwin county in 1854 and was married to Judge Hartley in 1872. Soon afterward they moved to Zebulon, where they made their home.

Mrs. Hartley had been in failing health for six months and for the past eight weeks her condition had been critical.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Mary Branan, Mrs. Mattie Barrow, Mrs. Robert Barron, Mrs. H. S. Titshaw, Miss Leah Hartley and Miss Berma Hartley, all of near here, and three sons, Ira G. Hartley, of Atlanta; John A. Hartley, of Forsyth, and Dr. J. M. Hartley, of Hollywood, Fla. Funeral services were held from the home this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. J. M. F. Barron officiated, and interment was in the Baptist cemetery at Zebulon.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO GET CANNING FACTORY FOR PAVO

Thomasville, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—A survey committee, headed by C. H. Everett, of the Planters bank, has been named by citizens of Pavo to carry on further negotiations with representatives of a company contemplating establishment of a canning factory in the town of Pavo.

The committee was selected at a mass meeting held in Pavo last Saturday, and will report to a second meeting, that has been called for 4:30 p. m. Saturday, August 3.

AUGUSTA PAPER SUIT IS MOVED TO FEDERAL COURT

Augusta, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Judge A. L. Franklin in Richmond superior court today signed a formal order for the transfer to the United States district court of the suit of Harold Hall against William La Varre for the operating control of the Augusta Chronicle and three south Georgia newspapers.

The order was signed, it was announced, after attorneys for Hall had withdrawn objections to the transfer.

Hamilton Phinizy, La Varre's local attorney, announced that the answer to Hall's suit would be filed within 30 days after a certified copy of the plaintiff's petition had been filed in United States district court.

The transfer formally vacated an order issued by Judge Franklin citing La Varre to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court unless he turned over to Thomas J. Hamilton, appointed receiver pending litigation, stock and money used in operating the four newspapers.

NEGRO IS HELD IN UNKNOWN JAIL AFTER ATTACK

Waycross, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Willie Bryant, negro turpentine worker, who is alleged to have attacked a young white woman Monday, was arrested by possemen last night and was being held today in a jail, whose location was not disclosed by Ware county officers.

The attacker entered the woman's home, 13 miles from here, during her husband's absence and beat her until she became unconscious.

PICKETT GIVEN 6-10-YEAR TERM IN BANK ROBBERY

Nashville, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—A jury in superior court here today convicted Ellis Pickett on a robbery charge growing out of the holdup of the Homerville bank and fixed his punishment at from six to ten years imprisonment. The case was tried here on a change of venue from Clinch county.

After Pickett's conviction J. P. Cook went on trial on charges of aiding the former in the robbery.

GRAND JURY HITS PROHI ENFORCEMENT

Columbus, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—The Muscogee county grand jury in a general presentment made yesterday expressed the opinion that "there is plenty of room for greater efforts on the part of authorities to enforce the prohibition laws." No specific criticism was made in the report. A campaign against reckless drivers and speeders recently announced by County Officer John M. Miller was indorsed by the jury.

Exams for Teachers.

Thomasville, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Examinations for teachers in Thomas county are to be held at the county courthouse on Friday and Saturday, this week. The examinations on Friday will be for those desiding to obtain county licenses to teach. On Saturday there will be examinations for elementary, high school and junior college certificates.

Get Traffic Cop.

Sparta, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) On account of the increasing disregard of all traffic laws in this city by motorists the city authorities will put a traffic officer on duty August 1 with orders to rigidly enforce all speed and parking laws. It will be the duty also of the traffic officer to enforce the muffler law and any other infringement on the state laws.

GRADED INCOME TAX MEASURES REPORTED

Committee Also Approves New Classification Fee Proposal.

Favorable reports on constitutional amendments authorizing a graded income tax and a classification tax were ordered returned by the house of representatives committee on amendments to the constitution at a meeting Wednesday night.

The income tax bill as favored by the committee would revise the constitution so as to give the general assembly power to collect a graded tax not exceeding five per cent on net incomes. It would also abolish the ad valorem tax on all real estate and tangible property for state purposes after 1931. The bill was drawn up by a sub-committee and combined the features of two bills pending before the committee. Recommendation for a favorable report was unanimous.

The Key classification tax measure giving the legislature the right to classify property for taxation was provisionally passed, subject to the formal approval of Representative Key, of Jasper county, who was prevented by illness from attending the meeting.

Changes in legislature sessions and in compensation of its members were proposed in two other bills which received favorable reports of the committee. These would allow the assembly to adjourn immediately upon the completion of business after 30 days of meeting, instead of requiring the present 60-day sittings.

An amendment by Wind, of Grady, and Barret, of Stephens, proposed a straight biennial salary rate for the legislators of $420 regardless of length of session. Felker, of Walton, was the author of a similar constitutional change which would give members of the assembly an annual salary of $500 per annum whether annual or biennial sessions were held.

JUDGE SIBLEY FLAYS CONDITIONS IN TOWER

The belief that Fulton tower is the most poorly kept jail in the northern district of Georgia was expressed by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, judge of federal court, in a letter read Wednesday at a special meeting of the Fulton county commission. He asked that the tower be put in better condition and be made more clean and wholesome.

Judge Sibley declared that unless this is done the United States will be forced to find another place to keep its prisoners. He said, "Not only is the food bad but the place is full of vermin and the stench is revolting." A prisoner brought into his courtroom from the tower "very unpleasantly perfumes the whole atmosphere in 15 minutes," Judge Sibley said.

Various jail officials and others appeared before the commission and asserted that the tower is well kept and is in clean, sanitary condition at all times. It was pointed out that the jail was regularly inspected by a federal inspector of jails, who classed it as the best-kept institution of its kind in Georgia.

After hearing the numerous reports, the commissioner expressed confidence in the jail and the officials responsible for its maintenance, and delegated Chairman Paul S. Etheridge to answer Judge Sibley's letter.

ESCAPED MEMBER OF CITY CHAINGANG CAUGHT BY GUARD

George Evans' memory for faces Wednesday brought Jeremiah Rooney back to the city chaingang, on which the latter was serving 30 days for drunkenness. Rooney escaped from the gang Tuesday, but on the following day had the misfortune to meet Evans, a guard in the rock quarry where Rooney was working on the streets. Evans was shopping downtown when the meeting took place and a capture followed.

NEW TRIAL ASKED BY POLICY FIRM IN DEAN VERDICT

Motion for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Callie Dean against the Employers Liability Insurance Corporation was filed in federal court here Wednesday and Judge Samuel H. Sibley set the hearing for September 14.

Mrs. Dean was awarded $30,000 principal and interest amounting to approximately $3,700 by a jury in her suit to collect on her policy for the death of her husband.

AL FRESCO RECEPTION WILL FOLLOW WEDDING RITES

Society Will Witness Newell-Whatley Nuptails

Fashionable society will assemble this evening to witness the marriage vows of Miss Ann Lane Colquitt Newell and Robert A. Whatley, Jr., which will be solemnized at 9 o'clock this evening at the home of the charming bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Colquitt Newell, on Clifton road in Druid Hills. For sentimental reasons and because he performed the ceremony of Miss Newell's parents, Dr. John E. White, former pastor of the Second Baptist church, will journey from Savannah to Atlanta to officiate at the wedding. The ceremony will be followed by an al fresco reception held in the gardens at the rear of the resiednce where a platform has been erected for the younger set to dance during the reception hours.

Miss Ellen Hillyer Newell, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids are Misses Sara Hurt, Mary Armstrong, Pamela Johnston, Constance Spalding, Marian Wolff, Eugenia Morris, of New York; Ellen Wolff and Mary Goddard. Miss Julia Colquitt, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Walter T. Colquitt, will be the junior bridesmaid, and Walter Colquitt, Jr., will be junior groomsman. The best man will be Frank Troutman, and Nisbet Marye, Madison Massey, Clifton Smith, Barmore Gambrell, Bernard Wolff, Richard Hobbs, of Albany, Ga., and Robert O. Persons, of Forsyth, Ga., will be groomsmen. Acting as ushers will be Russell Porter, Lee Ashcraft and Judge Walter Colquitt.

Miss Brown Gives Luncheon.

Miss Penelope Brown was hostess at luncheon yesterday at her home on Piedmont avenue, in compliment to a group of visitors. The table was covered with an imported lace cloth and graced in the center by a Venetian basket filled with pastel shaded summer flowers.

The guests included Miss Mimi O'Beirne and her guest, Miss Elizabeth O'Beirne, of Dallas, Texas; Miss Adolyn McClatchey and her guest, Miss Sarah Dean Janes, of Albany; Miss Sally Spalding and her guest, Miss Lucy Lesesne, of Mobile, Ala.; Miss Imogene Hudson and Miss Brown.

Mrs. Ira Jones Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Thomas Morgan was hostess Wednesday afternoon at a small seated tea at the Piedmont Driving Club in compliment to her niece, Mrs. Ira Jones, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is being so delightfully and extensively entertained as the guest of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. West, at their home on Peachtree road. Pink flowers graced the table and the guests' places were designated by little pink baskets holding bonbons and miniature French dolls, whose costumes carried out the same color motif. Covers were placed for twelve.

Miss Grennor Weds W. W. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Grennor announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Regina, to Willie Webb Grant, of Laurel, Miss., which took place Saturday evening, July 27, at 9:15 o'clock, at the home of the Rev. G. C. Light, on State street, in the presence of Miss Mary McLendon and Joe M. Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant left for Laurel, Miss., Sunday afternoon, where they will make their home. Mr. Grant is a prominent business man of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Give Bridge-Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sam Smith entertained at a bridge-supper Tuesday evening at their home on Park place in honor of Miss Marion Speer and Kirby Smith, whose marriage will be solemnized at an early date. The hosts were assisted by their sister, Miss Ruth Speer, and niece, Miss Jane Wiley.

The guests included Miss Speer, Mr. Smith, Misses Marguerite Smith, Jessie Mae Whitworth, Evelyn Weinholz, Ruth Speer, Jane Wiley, Mary Speer, Clara Belle Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Golden, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mrs. Patterson To Present Cups At Highland

Mrs. Fred W. Patterson, chairman of the Camp Highland committee, announces that she will present every two weeks a silver loving cup to the girl who has been the best all-round camper for that period. The camp councilors will decide which girl will receive the cup each time. At a recent meeting of the councilors they discussed the awarding of these cups and the characteristics the winner should possess. It was decided that the all-round girl is happy, has a sense of humor, eager for knowledge, honest, a good sport, tolerant, ever understanding, friendly, sincere, unselfish, neat in appearance, refined, reverent to God, dependable, modest, and enjoys wholesome pleasure.

The first loving cup was awarded Saturday evening, July 27, to Miss Sarah Davis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Davis, of Atlanta. Miss Davis is an outstanding student of Girls' High school, taking active part in all school activities. Three girls were given honorable mention: Misses Queenie Mathews, Helen Purdy and Jane Gulley. Every two weeks the winner of the loving cup will be announced in the newspapers.

Fairburn Garden Club Holds Flower Show August 6

The Fairburn Garden Club will hold a midsummer flower show August 6, at which some unusually fine specimens of asters will be displayed. This occasion will also bring together many friends from out-of-town sections. A picture show relating to bird lore and bird conservation will be sponsored by the club in August, this show to take the place of the regular August meeting. Much interest is centered in the organization of a junior garden club, the members to include many high school girls who will plant sweet peas and other flowers this fall to be used for their class day decorations next commencement.

The club met recently at the home of Mrs. Thornton Camp, with the president, Mrs. H. G. Swanson, presiding. After the business meeting Miss Mary Hobgood, the program chairman, presented a well-arranged program on "Trees as Good Citizens," which included a theme on roadside planting, a subject vital to the members at this time.

Mrs. Clotfelter Entertains For Miss Morris

Marietta, Ga., July 31.—Mrs. Max Clotfelter was hostess at a bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home on Kennesaw avenue in compliment to Miss Martha Morris, a bride-elect. Miss Ida Brumby will honor Miss Morris with a bridge party this afternoon at her home in Vance circle.

Gen. and Mrs. Davis To Be Honored At Series of Farewell Parties

Fort McPherson, Ga., July 31.—It is with sincere regret that the military contingent will bid Major General and Mrs. Richmond Pearson Davis "aloha," which in the Hawaiian tongue means farewell, for during their stay at the post they have endeared themselves to a host of friends throughout the fourth corps area. Prior to their leave-taking in September they will be honored at a number of entertainments. Saturday evening Major and Mrs. Roland Gaugler will entertain at a dinner-dance at Cascade terrace in their honor and Wednesday afternoon, August 7, Major and Mrs. Carl H. Seals will be hosts at a tea-dansant at the Officers' Club with General and Mrs. Gilbert Procter as honor guests. Dancing will be enjoyed from 5 to 7 o'clock. A number of other social functions are being planned in compliment to these attractive departing members of the garrison by the military group, the dates to be announced later.

Today Miss Helen Caffey will be hostess at a breakfast in compliment to Miss Katherine Ripley, whose marriage to Lieutenant Edward Harold McDaniel will be solemnized at the post chapel at a beautiful ceremony in September. The guests will include Miss Ripley, Miss Foster, Miss Helen Bach, Miss Jean Kendrick, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Miss Margaret Hall, Miss Beatrice Brownell, Miss Bernice Fiske, Miss Dorothy Tebbetts, Miss Helen LeFavour, Mrs. Henry Ashley Ripley, Mrs. Katherine Smith, Mrs. Abraham G. Lott, Mrs Frank Burton, Mrs. Will L. Pyles, Mrs. Harry Workman, Mrs. George Woodard, Mrs. Walter F. Macklin, Mrs. Carl H. Seals, Mrs. Richard T. Edwards, Mrs. Herbert F. Teate, Mrs. Robert Moore, and Mrs. Thomas Sherman Timberman. Miss Caffey will be assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Mrs. Lochlin W. Caffey, and a trio of the younger set of the garrison, including Miss Marjorie Ripley, Miss Helen Bach and Miss Ellene Winn

A charming member of the social contingent of California, Miss Virginia McGinn, will arrive Monday to be the guest of her brother and sister, Captain and Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey, at their quarters at the garrison.

Captain and Mrs. Simeon J. Seals left the garrison Tuesday morning for a motor trip through the mountains of North Carolina. Upon their return they will have as their guests their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Seals, and their mother, Mrs. Jeanette Forbes, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Captain and Mrs. Ernest Higgins and their niece, Miss Dorothy Mae Richardson, of Silver City, New York, left Tuesday afternoon to motor to Boston, Mass., where Captain and Mrs. Higgins will take the boat for Halifax, Nova Scotia, to visit Captain Higgin's mother, who is seriously ill. Miss Richardson will join her parents in New Jersey for the remainder of the summer and then will return with them to Silver City.

A group of the younger set of the military contingent presented a cleverly arranged play at the Scout hut at the garrison Monday afternoon. The play, which was coached and enacted as well by the children themselves, was based on the beloved "Tarzan" stories with Peter Jones, the elder son of Major and Mrs Augustus B. Jones in the title role.

Newell-Whatley Rehearsal Followed By Buffet Supper

Following the wedding rehearsal last evening of Miss Ann Lane Newell and Robert A. Whatley, Jr., whose marriage will be brilliantly solemnized this evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Newell entertained at a buffet supper at their home on Clifton road in Druid Hills. The beautifully appointed table in the dining room was overlaid with an exquisite lace cover veiling pink satin. A large silver basket of long-stemmed summer flowers in various shades graced the center and either end of the table. Between the baskets of flowers silver candelabras holding pink burning tapers were arranged.

In the late evening the guests, which included members of the bridal party, members of the families and out-of-town guests, enjoyed dancing on the platform erected on the grassy terrace at the back of the Newell home.

Wesleyan Alumnae Board Is Honored By Mrs. Stephens

Dr. and Mrs. Godfrey Barnsley Arrive From Brazil To Visit Ancestral Home

Kingston, Ga., July 31.—Two very interesting visitors in Bartow county, are Dr. and Mrs. Godfrey Barnsley, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who are guests of their cousin, Mrs. Adelaide B. Saylor, and her sons, Preston and Harry Saylor, at Barnsley Gardens, the ancestral home, near Kingston. Dr. and Mrs. Barnsley arrived in New York a few weeks ago and have been touring in the north, visiting Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cleveland, Akron, including the great rubber factories; Detroit, where they inspected Ford's automobile works; Chicago, Cincinnati, and Knoxville, before coming south. They made the trip on the huge motor busses in order to see more of the country. From here they will go to Atlanta and Savannah, taking a ship back to New York from the latter place, and then sail for Europe to spend several months on the continent, London, Paris, and Switzerland in order that Mrs. Barnsley may get a glimpse of snow as she has never seen colder weather than an occasional frost; Italy, Spain, Portugal, thence back to Santos, Brazil, and home.

History Like Romance.

Dr Barnsley's history is like a romance. His father, the late Dr. George Barnsley, an officer in the Confederate army, preferred exile to taking the oath of allegiance, so went to Brazil, became a citizen there, married and raised a family. About 1889 he returned to the States and spent several years on the estate established by his father, Godfrey Barnsley, in the early thirties. But his son, Godfrey, became homesick, so at the age of 15 he ran away and made his way back to Rio. He studied dentistry, came to Philadelphia to complete his education, thence to Sao Paulo, where he became a leader in his profession and established a college of dentistry. He has given up his practice, devoting his time to developing his real estate holdings in Sao Paulo, which has a million inhabitants and is the capital of the state of the same name.

Bigness of Everything.

In speaking of this trip Dr. Barnsley says that what impresses him most is the bigness of everything in the United States. As a lad his experience here was confined to the county, Rome and Atlanta, but now he has visited big cities and can see the difference. Of course, Brazil comprises more territory than the United States and unlimited natural resources the surplus of which has been barely scratched, though at least $100,000,000 of United States capital is invested there. Brazil has a waterfall higher and of greater volume than Niagara, but unharnessed, while its soil and mineral resources are of undreamed of richness.

He says that while they have many entirely modern hotels of two or three hundred rooms, in New York he stopped at the Pennsylvania, which has 2,000 rooms, and one in Chicago with 2,400, and everywhere found the service like clockwork. The Ford motor works are marvelous, and in Dr. Barnsley's opinion are doing much to civilize the whole world by making transportation easy and swift.

Brimful of Ideas.

Agriculture, splendid roads, the homes in the various cities, wonderful big stores, everything here is a delight to him, and he will return to Sao Paulo brimfull of ideas for its development and improvement Last Sunday afternoon Mrs. Saylor and her guests spent with Mrs. Abbie E. Bayless, Miss Bell and Ed Bayless in Kingston. Dr. Barnsley and Mr. Bayless were schoolmates at Moreland Park Military academy, Atlanta, under Professor C. M. Neal, and close friends when at home, and as both have since traveled widely in South America and had many interesting experiences, they had much to talk about, while the ladies made the acquaintance of Mrs. Barnesley, who is a beautiful woman of the brunette type to be found in Latin America. Though Portuguese is the language of Brazil, she speaks English fluently, but is so young appearing it sounds absurd to hear her claim two married daughters and one grandbaby. During their few days' stay Dr. Barnsley will be kept busy renewing acquaintances of his boyhood, and showing his wife the many interesting features in this part of Georgia.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CUBBY BEGINS TO FEEL IMPORTANT.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Unless you're riding for a fall
'Tis wisest not to boast at all.
—Cubby Bear.

Cubby Bear had had a good look at himself in a pool in the Laughing Brook. It suddenly came to him that he was no longer a cub. He was neither a cub, nor was he a full-grown Bear. But he was big enough to suddenly feel very important. He was big enough to feel wholly independent. He no longer cared because Mother Bear had driven him away. In fact, he was very glad she had. It was fine to feel that he could do just as he pleased.

It wasn't long after this that he met his twin sister. Instead of appearing glad to see her, he growled at her. She growled back. You never would have guessed that they were brother and sister. After they had growled at each other sufficiently, they turned their backs to one another and separated.

Cubby was hungry all the time now. He found tender young shoots with which to help out the roots that he dug up. He went over to the Laughing Brook and caught a fish or two. All he could think of was food. That was because he was making up for that long winter fast and also because he was growing. A healthy young Bear is like a healthy boy. Both need plenty on which to grow.

Cubby's sense of importance was growing as fast as his body. He had met Bobby Coon and Bobby has departed in some haste. Cubby could remember when he had been afraid of Bobby Coon. He had met Lightfoot the Deer and Lightfoot had suddenly found that he had business somewhere else.

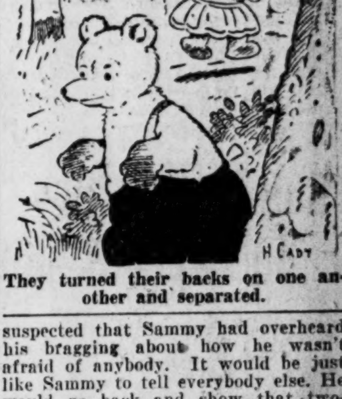
"They are afraid of me," chuckled Cubby. "Everybody is afraid of me. And I'm not afraid of anybody. No, sir, there isn't anybody I'm afraid of."

He had forgotten Mother Bear and his father, Buster Bear, when he boasted that way. And he had forgotten those two-legged creatures called men. So it was that one day as he went swaggering along through the Green Forest over to the Laughing Brook, without any warning he came face to face with Farmer Brown's Boy. For just one little minute, Cubby Bear stood stock still. Then, with a whoof out of pure fright, he almost turned a back somersault in his haste to get away. Off he went, crashing through the brush, and after him rang the merry laugh of Farmer Brown's Boy.

"I do believe that was Cubby Bear," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "My, how he has grown! The little scamp didn't used to be so afraid of me."

Then Farmer Brown's Boy had to laugh as he thought of all the scrapes Cubby Bear had gotten into, and the sound of his laughter followed Cubby Bear and made him feel most uncomfortable. He felt still more uncomfortable when Sammy Jay began to call after him, "Coward, coward, coward! Who feels important now? Coward, coward, coward!"

The worst of it was, there wasn't a thing that Cubby Bear could say. He suspected that Sammy had overheard his bragging about how he wasn't afraid of anybody. It would be just like Sammy to tell everybody else. He would go back and show that two-legged creature that he wasn't afraid. So Cubby turned around and started back. But he didn't go back as fast as he had come. Oh, my goodness, no! And when he was half way back to where he had left Farmer Brown's Boy, Cubby suddenly remembered that there was some particularly tender young roots that some other Bear might get if he didn't get them right away.



They turned their backs on one another and separated.

Ed Hamm, Olympic Jump Champion, Returns to Tech; Grant Defeats Mooney for Third Straight Dixie Title; Crackers and Pelicans Rained Out; Double-Header Today

HAMM RETURNS TO TECH AND WILL COMPETE

By Ben Cothran.

Tech's track team has come back to school. Ed Hamm, world's champion broad jumper and a sprinter of renown, reached Atlanta yesterday, according to authentic reports. He plans to enter summer school and will re-enter the school this fall.

Hamm was off the track team last spring because of an operation for appendicitis. Having nothing to do, Ed's mind began to wander and feet followed mind. Ed went to Birmingham, competed there for the Birmingham A. C. and then entered the rarefied National A. A. U. meet in Denver recently.

HAMM OFF FORM.

Being off jumping form due to a long period of inactivity, Hamm's performance at the Denver meet was nothing to shout about. From Denver he went to Vancouver and competed in a meet there, participating in the dashes—doing considerably better—another form of track in which he is most adept. Hamm visited friends in California and then came back to Georgia to return to school and alleviate the fears of all Tech's track-minded patrons.

Hamm seems to be in tip-top condition following his wanderings up and down the country and will get down to work this fall to prepare for a great season on the track and in the jumps next spring.

The Tech jumper, as it is useless to tell you, is the world's champion broad jumper and also won the event for the United States in the 1928 Olympiad at Amsterdam. Hamm's world record jump is 25 feet 11 5-8 inches. He is one of the best dashmen in the south.

PLANS TO COMPETE.

Last winter Hamm's participation in the larger indoor track meets of the east was curtailed by his operation, but it is expected that he will take part in them this winter as a warm-up to the spring season.

It will mark Hamm's last year of collegiate competition as he is in his senior year. Ed was captain-elect of the 1929 team.

Sub Beats Glick In Every Round

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 31.—(United News.)—Manuel Quintero, of Tampa, Fla., won an easy decision over Joe Glick, Brooklyn lightweight, in the 10-round headliner of a fight card at Ebbets field tonight.

The winner was awarded all 10 rounds. He outfought and outgeneraled Glick, a former leading lightweight contender, all the way and was never in danger.

Quintero, a Spaniard, was a last minute substitute for Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, who was forced to withdraw this afternoon because of blood poisoning.

Quintero weighed 143½; Glick, 137.

Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, former National Boxing Association champion, defeated Benny (Kid) Carter, of California, in the 10-round semi-final which followed the main bout. Bass won eight rounds, with two even. Bass weighed 128, Carter 126½.

American Beaten In Chess Tourney

Carlsbad, Czechoslovakia, July 31.—(AP)—Frank J. Marshall, of the United States, lost his first round match in the fourth international chess masters' tournament which opened here today. He was defeated by Dr. M. Vidmar, of Jugoslavia. Jose R. Capablanca, of Cuba, got a draw with Dr. S. Tartakower, of France.

Striblings Home.

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—W. L. Stribling, Jr., accompanied by "Pa," arrived here today by airplane from Tulsa, Okla., making the distance in a total of 7 hours and 27 minutes of flying time, they reported.

The arrest of W. L. at Tulsa, "Pa" described as a "joke."

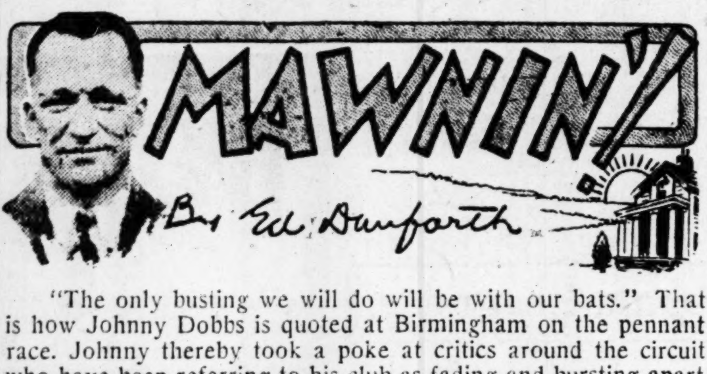
America's Helens Head Tennis Teams

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs, the California girls who rule the world of women's tennis, were named today as the nucleus of the American Wightman cup team in a statement issued by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Other members of the team will be selected on the basis of their records in the present Seabright tennis tournament, and in the invitation tournament to be played at Easthampton, L. I., next week, the association said.

The American girls will meet the British team August 9 and 10 at Forest Hills, L. I., for the international trophy now held by England. Five singles and two doubles matches will be played, the team winning four or more to receive the trophy.



"The only busting we will do will be with our bats." That is how Johnny Dobbs is quoted at Birmingham on the pennant race. Johnny thereby took a poke at critics around the circuit who have been referring to his club as fading and bursting apart at the seams.

Johnny further deposes: "We are on top to stay. We had a slump coming to us and I think we are over it. Every player on the team is confident of winning and it takes confidence to win. Look for us to finish right where we are now."

And so on. That is a vigorous statement from the usually cautious Dobbs. The Rajah of Ringgold not often comes right out and predicts a flag or anything. It shows the Barons are stirred up to an extent.

STAND BACK.

Now if the Barons feel that way about it—and Larry Gilbert feels as he does, that his Pelicans have just begun to fight—and Doc Prothro believes that his hard luck is at an end—and Wilbur Good is pretty certain he and his Crackers are going to keep right on winning, beginning today—what a torrid August is in store for us.

SO LONG, SLIM.

The Barons have released old Slim Love outright. He takes a weight of age out of the league with him. Love pitched his first game for Memphis back in 1912 and has been in and around, off and on, ever since.

Love beat the Pelicans three games when he was pitching for Dallas in 1926 in the Dixie series. Slim is 40 years old today, by the way.

TECH'S CHANCES.

Here is a communication from B. L. G., Fairfax, Ala., who comments on the early display of football dope in the papers and Georgia Tech in particular:

Wish you'd lay off this football stuff for a while longer. All this premature football gossip has my temperature worked up to an October stage, and by the time the season opens I'll be chewing up the thermometer.

There seems to be a general tendency to decry Tech's lack of capable reserves, but should think that IF Coach Alex can unearth another Drennon, and maybe find an Owen Reynolds or a Hek Wakefield to play the end vacated by Waddey, that his starting lineup could run up enough touchdowns in one half to let the Rinky Dinks finish the game.

Of course that is a big IF, but they do happen along occasionally—say every hundred years or so. Anyhow, if I'm wrong, sue me. B. L. G.

GOOD HELPS PARHAM.

Nap Rucker says that Wilbur Good is the best hand in baseball to develop young outfielders and points to Bob Parham as a shining example.

"Wilbur knows the business of outfielding from A to Z and has a knack of making young ball players understand what he means," Nap says. "Parham was just an awkward, willing youngster in June. Now he is a $25,000 shot for any major league club. Within my experience of scouting I have never seen a college ball player come along so fast as Parham. Part of the credit must go to Good's teaching.

"Good was particularly fitted to help Parham with his batting, for they swing alike. Parham likes to choke his bat and use a punch at the ball; so does Wilbur. Neither is a cow-tail swinger such as most of the newcomers are these days.

"Parham will be ready for the majors next season. I don't know but what he could go up there right now and get along."

DUROCHER SUBSIDES.

One for the book: Bill McGowan, American league umpire, says that "Mouthy" Durocher, once the most celebrated jockey in the major leagues, has lost all his gab.

Durocher, when he was working spasmodically in the Yankee line-up was eternally in hot water riding umpires and other ball players.

Now that Leo is a regular he is too busy playing baseball to think up wise cracks. Just another youngster who has become educated.

Mandell Is Placed Under Police Guard

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, who will defend his world lightweight boxing championship against Tony Canzoneri at Chicago Stadium Friday night, was spirited away from his rural camp tonight under police guard as a precaution against possible violence by members of a purported gambling clique.

Mandell was a heavy favorite in the betting the odds on him having mounted steadily during the past week. According to persons close to the champion, Mandell has been annoyed by anonymous telephone calls and prowlers at his camp, during the past 24 hours. These were believed to have been instigated by a syndicate endeavoring to stage a betting coup. As a result the police guard was obtained to accompany him to a hotel, and to remain with him until ring time.

The champion, looking and acting the part of a fighter trained to perfection, pulled stakes at his rural camp today, moving downtown to a gymnasium to go through whatever motions were considered necessary. He stepped through two spirited rounds with the gloves and breezed through light gymnasium exercises before ducking to the showers.

Canzoneri made it another afternoon of boxing at his Garden of Allah camp before letting down until ring time. He boxed six fast rounds, two apiece with a trio of sparring mates in his final workout with the gloves. He will not break camp until time to

Entries Close In Net Meet

Albany, Ga., July 31.—Entries in the south Georgia tennis tournament, to be staged here August 6, 7 and 8, will close Friday, it was announced today by the Albany Y. M. C. A. Players are urged to send in their applications by that date. A handsome trophy will be awarded the champion and runner-up. Walter Williamson, of Albany, is the present champion, and he will be on hand to defend his laurels.

Play will be on the Tift Park clay courts, which are in first-class condition, and several of the first round matches will be played at night, as the courts are brilliantly lighted and have been long in use for night playing.

A number of the outstanding tennis players of south Georgia have already entered, and more are expected to send in their applications. Albany players are also expected to enter in considerable numbers.

GRANT DOWNS JACK MOONEY FOR NET TITLE

Atlanta Ace Wins Dixie Net Crown in Straight Sets.

New Orleans, July 31.—(AP)—A great little tennis machine, firing relentlessly across the nets today, captured the southern championship for the third straight year. Bryan Grant, 18-year-old Atlantan, won the title when he completely vanquished his fellow townsman, Jack Mooney, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, 6-3.

Taking the court shortly after 3 o'clock, the match was short and one-sided from start to finish. Grant, employing steady, easy tactics, won the first game easily and then marched straight through the set, with Mooney unable to gain but three points in the half-dozen games.

MOONEY OFF.

Mooney, a veteran of Dixie courts, was double-faulting, and netting many shots, while Grant was using an effective lobbing game, intermixed with an occasional hard forehand and a light backhand that caught his opponent flatfooted.

Mooney, sticking to his chop-stroke style, found his judging of distances slightly, but tragically off. He sank them often in the net, missed his mark by an inch or so. His shots often, too, were out of bounds by narrow margins.

Turning into the second set, Grant kept up the fireworks, running through six more straight games with ease, never called on often to extend himself, although his opponent showed slight improvement in form. Mooney made six points in the second set.

LOSER RALLIES.

Grant ran his straight games to 14 in the third set but then found his game lagging slightly, and Mooney rallied to win a game after it stood at advantage one way or the other three times. Grant won the next, and Mooney the next, and the games stood at 3-2 in the deciding set. Grant won another and Mooney, now playing effectively, pulled out a game to make it 4-3. Then Grant stopped him cold, however. The little Atlantan began racing the court, to make several seemingly impossible shots, once laying a low drive over, after losing his balance and skidding a half dozen feet on the damp court. He also crossed Mooney once with a trick service shot, a faint little underhand cut that barely dropped across and caught Mooney entirely off guard. He had tried the service twice before during the match without success.

LARGE GALLERY.

He also, as usual, permitted Mooney to carry on the offensive, depending on his precisive volleying and lobbing to swing the match and his strategy was always effective. Mooney, in trying to "kill" the ball, continued to net them, as the match ended.

The match was played under a warm sun with a gallery of 1,200 watching the play.

Clifford Sutter and Dan Murray, of New Orleans, retained their southern doubles tennis crown in the finals of the championship tournament by defeating Gus Feuer, of Miami, and Maurice Bayon, of New Orleans.

The score was 3-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

Flying Gal Wins Saratoga Feature

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Flying Gal, the well-played second choice from the Belair stud, today put in a claim for eastern two-year-old filly honors as she won the Schuylerville stakes at Saratoga.

In conquering a field of highly-touted misses, including the two-time winner The Spare, from the Sagamore stable, Flying Gal won the first race of her brief racing career. W. R. Coe's Conclave was second, only a head back, while a length to the rear of the Coe entry ran the Wheatley stable's Erin. The race was worth $4,925.

The running of the midsummer claiming stakes, a $5,000 event for three-year-olds and up at Arlington park, saw the Everglade stable's Dunmore galloping home the victor, with Flattery in second place and Laundryman third. The race was worth $6,575 to the winner.

Big Day Ahead For Bike Riders

All indications point to a hectic day of bicycle riding for young boys and girls 12 to 17 on August 17, when the officials of Lakewood park will put on a meet for the purpose of reviving interest in bicycle sports, something that at one time ranked with the best of sports.

With this purpose in view, Oscar Mills, general manager, and Alfred C. Newell, president of the Southeastern Fair Association, decided to divide the city in four sections and all entries from each section will race in a preliminary event, with the winners racing in the final. Suitable prizes will be awarded winners of heats as well as final winners.

There is no admission charge for entering and all that is necessary is to send in the name, address, age and distance desiring to race to Mr. Mills at Lakewood. The track is open from 3 to 5 o'clock each afternoon for the purpose of allowing entrants to practice.

There will be quarter-mile races for girls and a half and mile races for boys.

Manager and Star With Sandlot Champions

The Inman Park Cardinals, undefeated in the American Legion's sandlot baseball tournament for the city of Atlanta, depart this morning for Albany, where they will participate in the state eliminations. The young man with the bat is "Radio" Lyle, clean-up hitter and outfielder. Note the uniform supplied by the legion with the insignia on the sleeve. With Lyle is "Wop' Lyle, manager of the team. They play at Albany this afternoon.

CARDS LEAVE FOR TOURNEY

Atlanta Legion Champs Meet Macon Team at Albany Today.

All dressed up and somewhere to go, the Inman Park Cardinals, champions of the Atlanta Sandlot Baseball league as sponsored by the American Legion, will leave this morning for Albany, site of the state eliminations in the national tournament.

The Cardinals will be meeting the Macon Peaches in their game this afternoon. Frank Haas, representing the Atlanta Legion post, was in Albany yesterday for the drawing. The Pepperells of Rome drew a bye. They were champions of the state last season.

They are a fine lot of boys, the Cardinals. They all bought new suits for the trip and were furnished new baseball uniforms—pretty ones, too—by the legion. They wear the legion insignia on the sleeve and the boys are sure to offer an appearance as fine as their baseball. It was the best in the city of Atlanta.

Included in the squad which will make the trip are Bill Good, Jr., son of the Cracker manager, and Alf Anderson, son of Frank Anderson, Oglethorpe coach. Good plays the same position as his father, right field, and Anderson, like the rest of them, is a second baseman.

WINNER GETS TRIP.

The teams competing at Albany represent the various congressional districts of the state. The winner at Albany will go to Meridian later in the month to participate in the southern tournament. The winner at Meridian will compete in the national finals.

The Inman Park Cardinals won 20

Color In League Fades With Axel Lindstrom

Swede One of Few Wandering Characters in Baseball—Enjoys Self Anywhere.

By Ralph McGill.

Maybe it's because my astigmatism is playing a return engagement but there doesn't seem to be anyone in the league with quite the color that Axel Olaf Lindstrom, the Swedish slabber, brought into the league some years ago.

The Swede knew well the subject of man's ephemerality and dispensibility. He wants written on his tombstone this epitaph—"He saw it all and enjoyed it all."

The Swede has won 15 games for Jimmy Hamilton in the Central league this season. That' of course, is very good pitching regardless of leagues. He was one man who could get along with Jimmy Hamilton, was the Swede. He pitched for Hamilton in 1923 at Nashville and won 20 ball games.

That happened to be the year that he wanted to enjoy baseball. The next year he didn't and he was shipped along to Wilkes-Barre in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

FIRECRACKERS.

It was a firecracker that started the Swede on a tour that has ended at Canton. He seems sure to spend the year there. He made up his mind that this was one year he would not enjoy beer. He made up his mind that it would not be necessary for someone to knock on the manager's door and say "Oh, manager, the Swede is plastered again."

The Swede was going along very well for the Wilkes-Barre club until the Fourth of July came along. They travel by bus in the N. Y.-P. league, and the bus was standing in front of the hotel when the Swede came out all full of patriotism and nothing else.

There was a kid peddling firecrackers in front of the hotel and he solicited the Swede.

"Sure," said the Swede, always a ready spender.

PURCHASE.

Caterpillars Ruin Grass on Fairway Of Glen Arven

Thomasville, Ga., July 31.—An army of caterpillars descended suddenly and unexpectedly this week on the new 18-hole golf course being constructed at Glen Arven Country Club, a mile from the city limits of Thomasville, and cleaned up the nicely growing Bermuda grass on the new fairway No. 1, lock, stock and barrel.

The pests operated at night, and after one night of feeding the entire fairway was thoroughly cleaned out of Bermuda. There was a little sprinkling of nut grass that had crept onto the fairway, and the caterpillars did not disturb this grass, which, however, the club members would have been glad to get rid of.

Old-timers say they well remember when armies of caterpillars used to descend upon fields of growing cotton, and eat up every leaf in one patch, then cross over to the next cotton field and clean up everything green there.

Reports of caterpillar damage to cotton have not been heard of in this region, however, for many years—in fact not since the advent of the boll weevil.

Abe Luckey Wins Battle at Miami

Miami, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Joe Slovin, Silver Springs, Fla., featherweight, scored a technical knockout over Harry Lazeruse, of Washington, D. C., in the sixth round of their scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. A left hook to the body sent Lazeruse to the floor for the third time and his seconds tossed in a towel. Slovin weighed 127 and Lazeruse 125 1-2.

Report Untrue.

Just before Bill McKechnie was recalled to St. Louis to manage the Cards it was reported that Specs Toporcer was to succeed him as manager of Rochester. But Billy Southworth got the job back.

Waite Hoyt Is Out With Infected Leg

New York, July 31.—(United News.)—Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the world's champion New York Yankees, will be out of the game for an indefinite period, it was learned today.

Hoyt, whose susceptibility to infection has lost him to the team at various times in the past, contracted ivy poisoning from his young son. In scratching it, he opened a sore on his leg which became infected.

Edgar Barrow, Yankee business manager, said he believed Hoyt would be able to pitch in a week or ten days but doctors say incisions may be necessary to rid Hoyt's system of the poison. This would retard recovery considerably.

Hoyt's showing in the past two months of the campaign is one reason for the 9 1-2 game lead the Athletics enjoy. Hoyt hasn't won a game since June 21. His last appearance was in Cleveland June 21. When the team returned to New York Hoyt went to his home at Larchmont and has not appeared in uniform since.

BLETHEN IS DUE TO HURL OPENER AT 2:15 O'CLOCK

Hal Lee To Replace Silva in Outfield—Sheehan Returns.

By Ralph McGill.

With Sheriff Hal Lee replacing Doc Silva in the outfield and Jack Sheehan back at his second base position, the Crackers are all ready for a double contest with the Pelicans this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

Rain yesterday brought a temporary halt to the famous battle for second place. It was showers of blessings for the Crackers, as it gave Sheehan's knee a chance to recuperate further and gave the pitching staff a day of rest.

Wilbur Good prepared to throw showers of Blethen at the Birds in the first game this afternoon. The Maine Moose Murderer is said to have recovered from the misery in his stomach which kept him out of the Tuesday debacle and is ready to go. Red Oldham or Don Brennan will draw the assignment in the second contest.

Those plans were subject to change like George's menu cards, but Hal Lee was a fairly sure bet to break into the outfield.

PINCH HIT HAL.

The young man's pinch hit in the Tuesday game was an additional argument toward putting him in. It will be the first time the line-up of Bob Parham, Nick Cullop and Hal Lee has worked together. Lee reported on the day Cullop was forced from the line-up by injury. When Cullop recovered Lee was benched.

Nap Rucker, the sage of Roswell, was overjoyed at the prospect of seeing his protege in action. It was Nap who pulled Lee away from his sheepskin at Mississippi college. Wilbur Good started him off last year. He gave Wilbur Good quite a boost, declaring that he knew of no teacher in the minors he would rather have a young outfielder under than the Cracker skipper.

BALL PLAYER.

"I know this boy Lee is a ball player," said Rucker yesterday. "He has been sick but I think he can go now. He can hit and field. I'm glad to see him get in the line-up again. They said it was a pretty howdy-de-do down at Macon when I took him away from there, but I wanted to see the boy take a step up and see what he can do. I believe he will help."

Doc Silva, the hustling right fielder who has been doing some valuable work for the Crackers, will be benched for a while. He will not be released, it was said, one of the pitching staff being slated for dismissal when the two new men, Bill Moore, of Newark, and Kent Greenfield, of Brooklyn, report. Silva is a great man on the bases but his hitting has been off. It is believed that Lee will add punch to the attack.

MOORE LEAVES.

Moore is reported to have left Newark and should be here in time to work in the series. Waivers have been asked on Greenfield and despite a report that Cincinnati would block the deal, Cracker officials were confident they will obtain his services.

Jim Battle, infielder obtained from Waco in the deal for Frankie Zoeller, will not get in the line-up today, Sheehan's re-entry and Lee's replacement of Silva being all the changes contemplated.

Larry Gilbert, one-up on the Crackers in the famous battle for second place, was sitting comfortably about his hotel lobby yesterday. His pitchers were all in good shape and he had a selection from three to shoot at the Crackers today.

The double-header will begin at 2:15 o'clock.

Miss Maddox Wins Opener

Asheville, N. C., July 31.—(AP)—Victory of Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, southern champion, over Miss Jane Cothran, 17-year-old Greenville, S. C., girl, today featured the first round of match play in the seventh annual Biltmore Forest Country Club invitation golf tournament.

Mrs. R. "Railroad" Jones, medalist and former winner of the event, of Winston-Salem, disposed of Mrs. Ben G. Humphries, of Memphis, Tenn., 5 and 4, and tomorrow will clash in the second round with Mrs. W. H. Willard, who advanced at the expense of Miss Daisy Rice Bartlett by a score of 4 and 3.

Miss Dean Van Landingham, of Charlotte, defending champion, who won from Mrs. Jones last year, went into the second round by a victory over Mrs. Gertrude C. Alexander, of Chicago, who was no match for the Queen City star and fell before an avalanche of pars, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Conway Thompson, of Spartanburg, displayed championship golf in defeating Miss Frances Hill, of Biltmore Forest, 7 and 6, and stands a good chance of winning when she clashes with Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta.

The Flag Race Day-by-Day

Birmingham defeated Mobile, 8 to 1, Wednesday afternoon and gained a half game on both New Orleans and Atlanta, who were idle because of rain.

The Crackers are now five games behind the Barons and three and one-half games behind the Pelicans in second place.

Bruins Split Bill; Pirates Lose Again

Phillies Beat Bucs, 6-2, As Cubs Break Even And Gain Half Game.

Chicago's nine-game winning streak was snapped Wednesday when the invading Boston Braves won the first game of a double-header, 6 to 1. The Cubs, however, gained another half game on the field by taking the second game, 6 to 3.

Harry Seibold held Chicago to seven hits in the first game. Hack Wilson hits his twenty-ninth and thirtieth home runs of the season in the second game.

Pittsburgh lost its third in a row when the Philadelphia Quakers trounced the Pirates, 6 to 2. Lou Koupal held the Pirates to eight hits.

Joe Genewich and Eppa Rixey met in a pitching duel at Cincinnati and the latter won, allowing New York seven hits. The score was 2 to 1. Genewich allowed only eight safe blows.

The Brooklyn Robins divided a double-header at St. Louis, losing the first to the Cardinals, 5 to 2, but winning the second, 8 to 2.

ROBY OFFERS 50-ROUND SHOW

Best Colored Talent To Appear in Fistic Carnival Tuesday.

Fifteen rounds of boxing, a fistic carnival that will exceed in volume any of his former shows, is announced for the night of August 6 at the City Auditorium by Cleve Roby. Every colored boxer of note in this section and several huskies imported for the occasion will be tossed into the ring.

Roy Dunn, a favorite with Atlanta fans, who has been fighting in New York for several months, is matched in the headline event of ten rounds with "Speedy" Dean, the East Orange Thunderbolt. The boys will weigh in at 140 pounds; both are slashing, fast-stepping fighters and Roby promises it will be the hottest main event he has ever staged.

In the other bouts matches have been carefully made to bring together boxers and sluggers. Among the talent Roby has lined up are Happy Hunter, Atlanta heavyweight; Sylvester Davis, of New Orleans; "Speedy" Freeman, the Conyers giant who knocked out Charlie Booker in 15 seconds at Roby's gym a few weeks ago; Battling Henry, Milton Wright, the Greenville Wildcat; "Rough House Glover, the Macon Tiger, who has a long string of knockouts.

The first bout will be called at 8:30 o'clock and the show will end when the last bout is over. However, the main event will be called at 10:30 o'clock, regardless of whether the preliminaries have been finished. Those who have not had enough fighting may remain after the main event to see the card completed.

BARONS CELEBRATE.

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.—The Birmingham Barons celebrated the winning of one pennant and strengthened their hold on first place in the current race by defeating Mobile, 8 to 1, as New Orleans lay idle because of rain today. President John D. Martin was present and took part in the ceremonies preceding today's game when the flag, representing the league championship for 1928, was raised. Bob Hasty allowed the Bears only seven hits while the Barons were making good 11 hits.

INDIANS WIN, 6-4.

Talladega, Ala., July 31.—Fritz Lott hurled Talladega to a 6-to-4 victory over the Anniston Nobles here today to take the series and win his thirteenth game of the season.

The hefty Indian pitcher gave up only five bingles, the Nobles crossing the plate only once until the eighth inning rally that netted three markers. He struck out eight.

Triples by Camp and Harris in the eighth frame and concentrated hammering of the pill netted the Braves a two-run lead that the Nobles were unable to overcome in the ninth. Lewis hit three for four times at bat, scoring the first run after pounding out a triple. Beagle hit two for four, driving home three runs.

CARROLLTON'S THIRD STRAIGHT.

Carrollton, Ga., July 31.—Carrollton took three in a row from Cedartown by winning today, 5 to 4. Leslie, of Cedartown, hit a single, a double and a home run in four times up and made several nice catches in the outfield. Patton led the hitting for Carrollton with two out of three, while the fielding features were furnished by Holsomback, Reese and McGhee. Cedartown threatened to tie it up in the ninth by putting two on with one out but the next two batters popped out.

GADSDEN BLANKED.

Gadsden, Ala., July 31.—Lindale shut out Gadsden here Wednesday, 5-0, to take the odd game of the series.

Baker gave up only six hits and struck out five. Until the seventh inning neither team scored and each had only four hits, then the Rubbernecks' defense cracked and the Pepperells tallied twice in the seventh on a double and two singles.

In the eighth three more were added on a triple, an error, a double, a base on balls and two singles.

Currie, with three for five, and Moulton, with three for four, led at bat for Lindale, while Sorrel's two doubles made him the stellar hitter for the homelings.

Gehrig Crashes 26th Home Run

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig hit his 26th home run of the season in the first inning of the White Sox-Yankee game here today, increasing his margin over Babe Ruth to two. Young Ed Walsh was in the box and the bases were empty when Gehrig lost the ball.

Baseball Games Resemble Circus

And still baseball magnates complain about the poor attendance.

The minor leagues are suffering with the GeeGees—Gasoline and Golf.

Poor attendance has been blamed on everything but short skirts and sunbacks.

Bill Wrigley had an idea—let the women in free evry day and the men would pay to get in to see them.

Released.

Breadon Undergoes Change in Policy

Sam Breadon, known as the big one-manager-a-year baseball magnate, is now the big two-managers-a-year magnate.

He'll be like the collegians soon—he'll have a different manager for every game.

He admits he fired McKechnie last fall because he couldn't win any world's series games. McKechnie won't win any world's series games this fall, either.

Of the two, Southworth and McKechnie, Southworth has the more pleasant job. He's in Rochester and McKechnie is in St. Louis.

The managers of the Cards and Browns have a lot in common if they could ever get together. But the schedule keeps them apart.

Sunday Baseball Wins in Jacksonville

Jacksonville, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Jacksonville today was assured Sunday baseball games, on the face of virtually complete returns cast at a special election yesterday. With only a few scattered votes to be counted, the count stood 5,747 for Sunday games, and 1,310 against.

Columbus and Selma are the only other clubs in the Southeastern league now which do not play on Sunday

Hartnett's Arm Baffles World

Since Gabby Hartnett's arm went dead on him in Catalina last spring the Cubs have sent him to the best doctors in the country and no one has discovered the trouble, or helped the arm. Gabby doesn't know what happened to it, nor can he describe the pain sufficiently to help the medicos. And it's the first sore arm he he has ever had.

Jacksonville Buys Fox Handy Man

Columbus, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—The sale of Olin Hutto, left-handed pitcher and emergency outfielder, to the Jacksonville Tars was announced today by Bill White, manager of the Columbus Foxes in the Southeastern league Carl Littlejohn, suspended pitcher of the Foxes, is expected to be restored to active duty to bring the team up to its full strength of 16 men.

The SPORTLIGHT

The Luck of Injuries.

The Pirates had more than a double share of frosty luck last season when about half the ball club was in the hospital a big part of the year. Fate didn't help them out a lot this season by disabling Pie Traynor and Burleigh Grimes just as Donnie Bush was whizzing along at the head of the pack. Injuries have decided many a pennant race. The record along this line belongs to one of the old Cleveland clubs of 25 years ago, when Larry Lajoie was in charge. On one eastern trip Harry Bemis, one of the two catchers, had his arm broken by a fast ball. Joss, Moore and two other pitchers had their arms hurt and couldn't work. Stovall had a bone fractured in his hip from a low throw. Lajoie was spiked and out for two months with blood poison. Bill Bradley was badly hurt and out for six weeks. Harry Bay stepped into a hole in center field and broke his leg. All told, the Cleveland club, with a pennant winning outfit well in the lead, lost 10 regulars inside of a week and dropped to fourth place. There were eight .300 hitters on this club in the days when .300 hitters were scarce. They were Lajoie, Flick, Bemis, Nig Clarke, Bay, Bradley, Stovall and Turner.

With an average run of luck Lajoie as manager would have won at least two pennants, and so would have played in at least two world series. But there never has been a manager good enough to win pennants with players in a hospital.

The Same in Football.

Injuries have decided as many football games as material and coaching. Many modern football schedules are terrific. In fact, they are entirely too hard when you consider the fact that they are played out by students somewhere between 19 and 22.

Many teams today face six or seven hard games on a nine-week schedule. As a result they must play half of these games with badly battered athletes, with half men or with material that is nerve worn.

It is practically impossible for any football team to tackle six or seven hard games and be physically and mentally fit, barring all the luck there is. Few injuries are serious, but bad knees, bad ankles, lame shoulders and frayed nerves take a heavy toll. These physical injuries might happen at any time in even a minor game, but at least the nerve pressure is much lighter.

What About Commercialism?

Most of the best golfers in the game invaded Montreal recently to take part in the Canadian open, where the first money prize was $400, or just a trifle more than the expenses of the trip.

Can you imagine any flock of prizefighters, boxers or what not among the bigger drawing cards swarming to some free-for-all for the love of the game and the thrill of competition?

On the other hand, you get many of them not only demanding crazy financial rewards, but also refusing to let the other fellow make weight in order to eliminate even the slightest risk.

As Dr. Muldoon said recently, "A ring champion is a fellow who goes about the country getting whipped."

There is no other sport where you can gather as many professional stars in competition for small financial rewards as you get in golf. Canadian sportsmen have made the Canadian open an event worth going to, beyond the money-collecting side. They have made it a top-line sporting event, where even $400 first money won't keep away such stars as Hagen, Horton and Mac Smith, Farrell, Diegel, Sarazen and many others —who also happen to pay their own expenses back and forth. And to win this $400 the ultimate victor has to beat most of the best talent there is in professional golf.

The Literary Classic.

After reading the stories signed by fighters, ball players, etc., the record still remains with one John Lawrence Sullivan. And it is one of George Ade's favorites. "It was announced," says Mr. Ade, "that Sullivan had been signed to cover the training activities and the battle itself when Fitzsimmons met Peter Maher in Texas. The famous John L. arrived without either a portable typewriter or a fountain pen, but that did not stop him. His readers, however, were a trifle startled the next day when they saw this:

"BY JOHN L. SULLIVAN

"E'en as the mantle of dewy eve descended from a purple sky across this sweep of open plain," etc., etc.

"I think," says Mr. Ade, "the readers might have fallen for the rest of it if the ghost writer hadn't lugged in that word 'e'en.' There is nearly always a limit."

GAY TRAMP OF DIAMOND

It exploded right against the manager's ear.

When they got the manager out of the bus a medical man unscrambled the ear. He discovered that the ear drum was bursted and that the ear was pretty well mangled.

The manager, who was a playing manager and a valuable one, was out of the game for a week. While meditating in the hospital he fired the Swede.

"Oh, well," said the Swede, "I never did like Wilkes-Barre," and he shoved on off.

BACK TO VOLS.

He came back to Nashville and lived well and easily. The next summer found him a tourist. It was after that that he settled down and went to work. He found that he had a lot around his waist that needed removing. He got a job with a wheelbarrow and when spring came around with rustling shade the Swede was down to normal weight.

There have been few smarter pitchers. He had the reputation of being a "cheater" and he tried to enhance it. He would seem to scar the baseball with his thumb. He would make all sorts of false motions with it. And they never caught him at anything.

He did, though, slip over spit balls in the pinch. When the Swede was in a pinch with men on base and two out he was known to slip in as many as two spitballs on the batter. And he never got caught. He was smart with his slabbing was the Swede. Everyone who knew him liked him. He walked through the world laughing at it and offering to bet odds it would never laugh at him. A great guy, the Swede.

NO RESTRICTIONS.

He didn't like restrictions and he never repressed anything. He will likely win 20 games for Jimmy Hamilton this year and take a tour of a half dozen leagues next season. It all depends on what he thinks he would enjoy. Baseball doesn't see many of that type now. The world has about weeded them out. The Swede, however, keeps beating the world. He may keep on until he dies at some ripe old age and grin up at his epitaph—"He saw it all and enjoyed it all."

games and were not defeated a single time during the season. Their battery of "Mo" Kunsburg and "Whistle" Roberts proved to be one of the finest in the city. The North Side Terrors were their most feared opponents but the Cardinals won three straight games from them in the scheduled five-game series. Kunsburg and Roberts formed the battery in all three games.

The complete squad of men departing from the Terminal station this morning, supplied by "Wop" Lyle, manager and coach, follows: "Dog" Leary, "Alf" Anderson, "Pa" Hutchinson, "Hot" Lyle, Bill Good, "Scat" Scarboro, "Bubber" Yarter, "Whistle" Roberts, "Mo" Kunsburg, Tom Harper, Bud Partee, Carey McQueen, "Funny" Humphries, Manager "Wop" Lyle and the bat boy, Gershon.

The squad will be in charge of M. M. (Scrappy) O'Sullivan, of the local Legion post. They are scheduled to play their first game this afternoon.

Orlando Sandlotters Enter Final Round

Orlando, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Following victories in the semi-final rounds today, the U. S. S. Tampa Post junior baseball team will meet the Orlando Legion Rotary nine here tomorrow afternoon in the first of a three-game series to determine which will represent Florida in the southern district tournament at Meridian, Miss., later this month. State American Legion officials made this announcement tonight.

TENN. CHAMPION IN RACES HERE

Carl Smith To Enter Motorcycle Events at Lakewood Saturday.

Carl Smith, Tennessee state champion motorcycle racer, has entered the motorcycle championship events and will ride at Lakewood Park Saturday afternoon. With his entry practically all champions recognized by the Southern Association in the one, two, three, and five-mile events will be among those present for the one-mile time trials.

The racing association has limited the number of riders in an authorized meet to eight riders in any event and on Saturday every entry will ride a one-mile test against time in the first event of the afternoon. This one-mile test will be an assault on the track record, and with a clear track and no possibility of interference a new record is almost sure to be set. A special prize in this event for a new record has been put up.

The eight men—unless Mrs. Bob Kendrick crowds out one of the men in the time trials—who register the fastest lap will compete in the other events on the card. More than eight riders in any race creates an element of danger, particularly in going to the first turn, that the authorities wish to eliminate if possible. The time trial is being used to make sure that the fastest men and machines are chosen for the other events.

The rains have aided the work on the track and unless there is a veritable cloudburst Saturday all the rainfall will have done is to settle the dust and remove a number of problems for the maintenance crew at the track.

Benefit Game.

When a benefit game was staged in Philadelphia for the family of John Castle, Harry Seibold of the Braves was secured to pitch. It was Castle who first coached Seibold.

Added Experience Needed by Youth

Experts Are of Opinion That Davis Cup May Return Home Next Summer.

By Walter Trumbull,

New York, July 31.—Rather than return where it could fill itself with the waters of bubbling springs, the Davis cup has remained to be filled with the bubble water of France. Henri Cochet deserved his victories. The best man won.

The American players did better than most of us expected. With Lacoste out of the play, it was figured that the challenging team had a better chance, but I doubt whether any of us thought it was a great chance.

Many will say now that if Frank Hunter had played in place of George Lott it might have made a difference. What of it? What the United States really is trying to do is to develop the best tennis players in the world. The winning of a silver trophy, however handsome and ornamented by tradition, is only a symbol.

Without impairing your sight, you could put in your eye the persons who believe that Hunter culd have beaten Cochet. The argument is that he might have beaten Borotra.

COCHET UNTIRING.

But Borotra, tired from both singles and doubles play, for his is a wearing style, must have known that it didn't make much difference whether he won or lost. Cochet isn't the type to tire. He can conserve energy and the further he goes the better. When Borotra met Lott, the Basque was fresh and fit.

What I am asking myself is, if the United States Davis cup committee wished to develop its younger players, would it not have been better to have played Lott against the Germans, giving him experience and practice.

Those on the grund were better situated to make the decision, but to us over here the date of the German matches seemed to be the time to decide who should play in singles against the French.

Especially was this so if there was thought of using a young player who never had played in a Davis cup match before. The tension would have been lessened and the extra ex-

Garlington, Walsh Meet Friday

CAPITAL CITY CHAMPIONSHIP IS AT STAKE

Rain Fails To Halt Golfers in Many Tourneys Here.

Thomas E. (Tooley) Walsh and T. R. (Dick) Garlington, two youthful Atlanta golfers, will play 36 holes Friday over the Capital City Club course for the club champion crown, worn last year by John Grant, Jr. The match will start at 11 o'clock.

Walsh won his way into the finals in the lower bracket of the championship flight when he defeated Henry Morgan and Dave Black.

Garlington was in the upper bracket and defeated Charlie Black, Jr., and John Grant, Jr., 1928 club champion.

Finals in all of the other flights were played last week and the championship final was slated for last week also, but Garlington was out of the city and it was decided Wednesday afternoon to play the match Friday.

Johnson Wins At Forrest Hills.

Playing in a steady rain and over a soaked course, Travis Johnson defeated W. F. Stewart, 2-1, Wednesday afternoon at Forrest Hills in the feature match of the annual club championship tournament. Bess Shields defeated J. W. Turner, 4-3, in the third flight in the only other match during the afternoon.

The Johnson-Stewart match was unusually close, both players making many spectacular shots, despite the rain and the heavy greens and fairways.

Johnson won the match on the seventh green when he made the hole in a par four while Stewart drove into and had an unplayable lie and took a five. Both players shot the last nine in 38, three strokes above par.

Sea Island Beach Tourney.

An interesting entertainment program in connection with the second annual invitation golf tournament of the Sea Island Country Club, at St. Simons Island has been planned for August 8, 9 and 10, according to members of the committee.

Qualifying rounds over 18 holes will be played Thursday, August 8, and the lowest 64 players will be formed into flights. All flights will have eight players, with the exception of the championship flight; and the defeated eight in the first round will make up the second flight.

A large number of trophies and prizes will be given to the medalist, winners and runners-up in all flights and to the club team with the lowest medal score.

All entries in the tournament are requested to be in the hands of the secretary of the tournament committee, Sea Island Country Club, St. Simons Island, Ga., not later than 6 o'clock Saturday night, August 3.

I. N. A. Golfers Lose Match.

Fireman's Fund golfers defeated the Insurance Company of North America team 15 1-2 points to 2 1-2 points on the Black Rock course Wednesday afternoon in the regular weekly matches of the Insurance Golf league. The victory pulled the Fireman's Fund golfers out of the cellar into fourth position.

Southeastern Underwriters also played good golf and defeated the second place Royal team 12 1-2 points to 5 1-2 points. Scoring was done on the Nassau system.

Frank McCary, of F. F., defeated Joe Singleton, of I. N. A., 1 up, 4 up, 5 up. Rupert Getzen, of I. N. A., defeated Pew Chestnutt, of F. F., 1 down, 3 up, 2 up. Howard Arnold, of F. F., defeated Tom Donaldison, of I. N. A., 6 up, 2 up, 8 up. Reuben Ard, of F. F., defeated C. J. Maddox, of I. N. A., 2 up, 4 up, 6 up.

For Southeastern Underwriters Muggsy Smith defeated J. A. Tischer, of Royal, all square, 4 up; Jake McConnell defeated George Gantt, of Royal, all square, 1 up; Gene Dennington defeated Jake Hill, of Royal, 4 up, 1 down, 3 up, and Frank Jones was square with Fred Warner, of Royal, at the end of each nine holes.

Hartford Insurance Company drew a bye.

Dr. Louie D. Newton defeated J. L. Vickery 1 up in a first round match played late Tuesday afternoon in the fifth flight.

Radium Springs Dates Tourney

Albany, Ga., July 31.—The third annual invitation golf tournament at Radium Springs will be held September 5, 6, and 7. The announcement of the dates was made several months ago, but the committee has just begun to make detailed preparations for the big event.

With the recollection in the minds of players of the last two invitation tournaments held on the Radium Springs course, to say nothing of the successful Georgia state amateur tournament, this magnificent course is expected to draw many golfers from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas for this invitation tournament.

Following the third annual invitation tournament, it is announced, the first woman's invitation tournament will be held on or about October 26. It is planned to form during this tournament the Woman's Georgia State Golf Association. Some of the leading women golf players in the state are backing up this tournament and organization movement.

By Walter Hagen,
British Open Golf Champion.

Montreal, Canada, July 31.—American golfers are playing more and more on Canadian courses. While they appreciate the cooler weather in the northern dominion during the hot months they also have found here many fine golfing courses.

This is not only true of eastern Canada but it is likewise true of the dominion as far west as the Pacific coast where golfers from Washington and Oregon cross the line to play.

In fact, golfing is becoming one of Canada's most valuable "invisible imports" through the attractiveness of its golf courses. At the moment the Canadian Pacifc is laying out a fine course in connection with the new Royal York hotel at Toronto. It his been designed with the view of making it a sort of Pine Valley of Canada. Stanley Thompson is the architect and he intends to lay down a model course.

In keeping with this general policy of cultivating golf the Canadian amateur championship will be played at Jasper Park in the Canadian Rockies August 19-24, so that the entrants to the United States national amateur championship to be held at Del Monte, Cal., during the week beginning September 2, will be able to play in the Canadian Rockies.

Leo Diegel four times winner of the Canadia open championship, will soon leave for his new berth in Mexico, where this winter he will welcome the tournament players to the $25,000 Agua Caliente open. That the open champion of Canada will spend the rest of the year teaching Mexicans how to play the game gives a pretty clear idea of how international golf has become.

Diegel's winning of the Canadian open championship this year was a brilliant performance as his score of 274 for the four rounds indicates. There is seldom a tournament in which he starts that he fails to break 70 at least once and every time he ties four of his rounds together he is sure to win.

But Leo has always been unfortunate in the American opens. Once at Worcester he had the championship all but sewed up when he took a terrible seven on the final hole. However, I think he will win both of the major titles before he quits the game.

come into Chicago for the weighing-in Friday afternoon.

Meanwhile members of the Illinois state athletic commission suspended business temporarily in acting as a clearing house for buying tickets to the championship match for politicians and deserving friends. The commission returned 234 of the original 959 seats obtained from Paddy Harmon, president of the Stadium Corporation, but found itself $2,299.80 short when the accounting was made.

A representative of the commission immediately began to check up in an attempt to recover the shortage.

Promoter Harmon regards the prospect of a sell out as rather bright. With a seating capacity of nearly 25,000, the stadium can do about $145,000 worth of business. The advance sale, according to reports tonight, has exceeded $90,000.

LOTT NEEDS EXPERIENCE

perience might have made a tremendous difference.

LOTT BETTER.

Hunter is one o fthe greatest fighter who ever stepped on a court, but I know that most of the men who know and have met them both consider Lott the finer tennis player.

Wilmer Allison told me that in his judgment Lott at his best was the greatest player he ever had seen, outside of Tilden at his height. It is well to remember also that Lott came close to beating Borotra and gave Cochet a battle, but in each instance he was up against too much experience, and in the match with Cochet, probably to much class. Cochet is the greatest player in the world today.

But there isn't a doubt that the chances of the United States for next season are bright. Lott will be a better man then, and Van Ryn and Allison are the leading doubles players of the game right now.

This means that America can reasonably count on one match out of five which are played. Lott, next season, should take at least one singles match. Cochet can't win but two. The result then would hang on the remaining singles match, but it wouldn't be the one against Cochet.

In spite of his talk of retirement, Tilden might be on hand again next season with one great effort left in those aging legs. If he is not, Johnny Van Ryn is no set up in singles. Mr. Van Ryn is a very active and skillful and determined young man.

So it is possible that the Davis cup is nearing the end of it's European stay. Two years from now, the cup matches may be played again at Forest Hills. Or they might be played in Germany or England. Competition is constantly growing keener.

TOM LOUGHRAN PRAISES PILOT

By Tommy Loughran,
Lightweight Champion of the World.

Philadelphia, July 31.—It is about time I think, that I told the world something about my manager, Joe Smith. He is so retiring that he never would say anything about himself, so somebody should do it, and who knows him better than I?

A lot of fellows who ought to know better say I haven't been handled properly. That makes me laugh. Haven't I fought almost every good man of my weight or above it since I started out 10 years ago? Haven't I won the light-heavyweight championship of the world and put myself in the front rank of heavyweight contenders? Haven't I been financially successful?

You can write "Yes" to all these questions, and a lot of credit for those things is due to none other than my friend and manager, Joe Smith.

TEACHER.

When I was a kid he took hold of me, taught me the finer points of the game—started to steer me toward the top. Some people think he rushed me by letting me fight Gene Tunney, Harry Greb and other stars when I was only 19. He didn't, as a matter of fact. He knew by limitations and capabilities. He was very careful not to let me go too fast.

Joe is absolutely on the level. I need no contract with him. His word is his bond—more than his bond, for that matter. My success is first with him, not for his own sake, but mine. I can train for fights without having a single doubt on my mind, for I know that my interests are looked after.

Joe was a boxer himself years ago. He knows what's going on in the ring and never loses his head. Even when Lomski knocked me down and a lot of people in the audience thought I was on the way out he wasn't flustered for a minute. I think I have the greatest corner combination in the game in him and Jack Brady and Bob Levy.

GRAFTERS.

A lot of people have tried to get a "cut" of me, and perhaps some might have done me good. I don't know whether they would or not, but I always believed that Joe is a great manager, that he has my best interests at heart, and that we can do better pulling together than by letting anyone else into the firm.

Some of the knockers are already beginning to admit that Joe Smith has proved himself one of the great managers of all time by the way he has handled me. They will all admit it by the time I win the heavyweight championship of the world.

Stout's Trotter Wins Rich Event

Detroit, July 31.—(AP)—Descendants of the mighty Axworthy which back in the late '90s was one of the great harness horses in the country, did honor to the memory of their sire today by capturing the first three places in the revival of the M. & M. stake for 2:11 trotters, once the greatest trotting race of them all.

Rose Morgan, a bay mare by Morgan Axworthy out of Rose Spier, owned by E. M. Stout, of Pontiac, Mich., captured first money in the $5,000 stake by taking the last two heats.

Gaylworthy, a son of Guy Worthy and Dorothy Day, owned by Ben F. White, of Lexington, Ky., took the place and Full Worthy, gelding son of the same sire by Native Spirit and also a member of the White stable, finished third.

Maureen Orcutt Smashing Records

On Sunday Miss Orcutt set a new course record for women at Van Cortlandt park when she toured around in 74 strokes. Yesterday she set another when she turned in a card of 80 over the Engineers' Country Club links, generally considered one of the most difficult in the Metropolitan district.

WILLIAM CAREY OFF TO DETROIT; SNAG BOBS UP

New York, July 31.—(United News.)—William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, left tonight on a more or less mysterious trip to Detroit.

The Garden chief provided the thin veil of mystery by declining any comment on the reason for his trip but there were few who did not regard it as an almost sure sign that the automobile city has been or will be selected as the site of the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight.

Frank Bruen, a vice president of the corporation, has been in Detroit for several days, looking over the ground and laying tentative plans for the staging of the bout in that city and it was believed that Carey's visit would serve to wind up the arrangements and place the official stamp of approval on the plans.

Carey, however, will find at least one complication of importance awaiting his arrival tomorrow. Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan promoter, announced today that he held a contract signed by Jack Sharkey and approved by the Michigan state board of athletic control, calling for a bout between the verbose Bostonian and Pierre Charles, of Canada.

The contract called for a meeting on last August 23 but was extended indefinitely when Sharkey was injured, Fitz said. He believes the contract still is good and will try to enforce it if outside promoters attempt to bring the Schmeling-Sharkey fight into "his" territory, he said.

Fitzsimmons Throws Bomb.

Detroit, July 31.—(AP)—Coincident with announcement by the state boxing commission that the Jack Sharkey-Max Schelming fight would be staged at Navin field here by Olympia arena, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced that he held a contract with Sharkey giving him prior claim on the latter's services.

Fitzsimmons said the contract, signed August 23, 1928, holds good in all of the 27 states affiliated with the National Boxing Association. Sharkey, Fitzsimmons said, would have to fulfill the contract before he could meet Schelming or any other fighter in a match sponsored by Olympia arena.

The boxing commission announcement stated Sharkey and Schelming would meet at Navin field on September 19.

Julius Seligson Meets Reverse

Seabright, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—A glamourous tennis figure whose daring racquet carried him to two national championships some 15 years ago came smashing through to the semifinals of the Seabright tournament today.

Crushing Julius Seligson, one of the leading members of the younger generation of players, in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-4, the redoubtable Richard Norris Williams, II, of Philadelphia shared with John Doeg, the Californian, Berkeley Bell, the Texan and Norman Farquharson, the invader from South Africa, the honors of the day.

Farquharson, the only surviving foreign contender flashed bold and brilliant tennis in subduing Gregory Mangin, thirteenth ranking American player, 9-7, 0-6, 6-4, Doeg looked impressive in ending the hopes of J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., 7-5, 6-3, and Bell had matters all his own way in overwhelming the Japanese, Sadakazu Onda, 6-2 6-3. But the achievement of the veteran campaigner, Williams, was in many ways the most impressive of the four.

Few players in all the court history of the world have matched the magnetic appeal of Williams at his best and a gallery of nearly 1,000 persons watched with deepest interest as he upset the stocky Lehigh student with a steady succession of cross court drives, drops shots and the "all or nothing" half volleys for which Dick Williams is famous.

Baseball Pool Probe Opened

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Daniel P. O'Connell, brother of Edward J. O'Connell, chairman of the democratic county committee in Albany, was taken before the federal grand jury today to testify in the investigation of the Albany stock market and baseball pool. He was arrested by United States marshals in Albany yesterday on a material witness warrant. Federal Judge Julian W. Mack ordered that after testifying O'Connell be admitted to bail under bond of $10,000 as a material witness for the trial of James J. Otto, now in Atlanta penitentiary, who has been indicted for perjury in connection with the Albany pool investigation

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle told Judge Mack that five deputy marshals had been "trying hard" to serve O'Connell with a subpoena for six months. He said O'Connell made use of fast automobiles to speed from his place of business to his home and camp on top of Helderberg mountain.

O'Connell refused to answer questions asked him before the grand jury on the ground that it might tend to incriminate or degrade him to do so. He was taken back before Judge Mack, who directed him that he must answer.

O'Connell had been asked what business he was engaged in, where his business was located, where he had been in June, and whether he knew William Pringle, James Otto and Walter Kane, all of whom are serving terms in Atlanta for their part in the Albany pool, and numerous other residents of Albany and New York counties.

Marines Yell Leader Is Boss

When the Quantico marines invade the college gridirons this fall a well-known figure will say:

"Give the bulldog growl and make it loud. Get me?"

And not the usually meek request:

For the yell leader, on some exciting occasions, will be none other than Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, the commandant.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Rudy Vallee, nationally-popular idol of the microphone and of the recording studios, and one of the most romantic musical personalities of the day, will be the conductor and vocal star of the third of the new Victor series of half-hours of dance music to be broadcast from Station WEAF over WSB and the coast-to-coast system of the N. B. C. this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

On this occasion Vallee and his famous Connecticut Yankees will play ten of his own newest recorded arrangements of current dance hits just released by the Victor studios.

Two highlights of the evening's program will be "Baby, Oh Where Can You Be?" "Maybe, Who Knows?" and "Heigh Ho, Everybody," which has come to be known as Rudy's musical greeting to his radio listeners. Vallee will play them precisely as they were recorded by him and his interpretation of those melodies which have caught the nation's fancy will set millions of couples dancing when he lifts his baton.

The complete program of the Victor broadcast includes:

* * * *

Down the Field
Heigh Ho, Everybody
Miss You
Baby, Oh Where Can You Be?
You're Just Another Memory
Vagabond Lover
S'posin'
Maybe Who Knows
Peace of Mind
Deep Night

The new series of Victor concerts, with a different orchestra and different stars each week, is composed entirely of current dance tunes and the latest recorded music. The entertainments have been arranged to mark the presentation of the new micro-synchronous Victor radio with electrola to the public.

A long-popular concert and vaudeville favorite, Henry Burr, tenor, is a featured entertainer with the "Around the World With Libby" concert ensemble this evening when the ninth in his popular series, featuring Scotch music, is broadcast from 8:30 until 9 o'clock p. m. WJZ over WSB and a nationwide hookup of associated stations. Mr. Burr sings the universally-favorite "Loch Lomond."

Scotch folk-songs, known the world over for their lilt and beauty, make up the largest part of the program. "The Wee Mac Gregor" battle march, derived from native dances, has several stirring passages for bagpipes and drums.

Two of the numbers, the first a medley of Scotch songs to be sung by the Libby vocal ensemble and the second a medley of Harry Lauder songs by the orchestra, have been especially compiled for this broadcast.

In the first are such old favorites as "Annie Laurie," "Blue Bells of Scotland," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon," "Land o' the Liel," and "Robin Adair."

The selection of Lauder gems includes "It's Nice to Get Up in the Mornin'," "Stop Yer Ticklin' Jock," "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," "I Love a Lassie," "She Is Ma Daisy," "We Parted on the Shore," and "A Wee Deoch and Doris."

The Swing o' the Kilt ...... Montague Ewing
Libby Concert Orchestra
Celtic Idyl ...... Shaun Hart
Libby Concert Orchestra
Comin' Through the Rye—Old Folksong—Poem by Robert Burns
Margaret Olsen, Soprano
The Wee MacGregor ...... Amers
Libby Concert Orchestra and bagpipes
Medley of Scotch Songs
Libby Vocal Ensemble
Medley of Harry Lauder Songs
Libby Concert Orchestra
Loch Lomond ...... Old Folksong
Henry Burr, tenor
Scottish Symphonic Dances ...... T. Waugh Wright
Libby Concert Orchestra

The gentle rhythms of the dance and the pastoral calm of spring are presented in the program of semi-classic music which will be broadcast during the Maxwell House concert over WSB and the N. B. C. system this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The broadcast, directed by Rosario Bourdon, features two waltzes by Brahms, "The Rustle of Spring" by Sinding, and "Here Comes the Spring" by Debussy.

The complete program details follow:

Scarf Dances ...... Chaminade
By the Lazy River (foxtrot) ...... Packey
Two Waltzes ...... Brahms
Rustle of Spring ...... Sinding
Here Comes the Spring ...... Debussy
Oh, You Beautiful Doll ...... Von Tilzer
Maybe, Who Knows? ...... Etting

Two investment questions, carefully selected from the many he has received during the past week, will be answered by the "Old Counsellor" in the Halsey, Stuart program to be broadcast over WSB and a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C. system tonight at 8 o'clock.

The weekly mail indicates that there is a wide general interest in financial matters, according to the familiar radio character. He says that the mail comes from all parts of the country, and requests range from suggestions for an initial investment by a young man to desire for the Old Counsellor's ideas on the investment of thousands of dollars.

* * * *

March of the Musketeers, from "The Three Musketeers" ...... Friml
Frasquita ...... Lehar
Liza, from "Show Girl" ...... Gershwin
Black Eyes ...... Horlick

REMOVAL OF BURNS TO TROUP COUNTY GANG UNEXPIANED

Fairburn, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Officials of the Campbell county chain gang today were unable to explain the action of the Georgia prison commission in transferring Robert Elliott Burns, former Chicago publisher, who is serving an uncompleted sentence for robbery committed seven years ago, to the Troup county gang.

Since his return to Georgia he has been in the Stonewall camp near here doing road work and other camp duties.

Kiwanis Gives Picnic.

Cordele, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) More than 300 country club boys and girls were guests of the Cordele Kiwanis Club at the annual picnic in the city today. They took in the movies in the morning and at the swimming pool at noon they heard a welcome address from Dr. T. J. McArthur, for Kiwanis, and an address from G. G. Cunningham, state club agent, from the agricultural college at Athens. Afternoon water sports at the pool finished a day of pleasure for the youngsters.

FALL OF 20 FEET OFF LADDER KILLS ATLANTA WORKER

William S. Lathem, 48, of 1296 Marietta street, N. W., died Wednesday afternoon in a local hospital from internal injuries which he received several hours earlier when he fell 20 feet off a ladder. Lathem was repairing the roof of the Dog and Cat hospital, 1035 Marietta street, when he fell backward as he was carrying a load of asphalt to the roof, according to W. B. Capps, his employer.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Awtry and Lowndes company. Lathem is survived by: his widow; a son, S. Lathem, Jr., of Powder Springs, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. E. D. Franklin, of Birmingham; and four sisters, Mrs. Hammett, Mrs. W. E. Felherman, Mrs. Walter Harris, and Mrs. Mattie Kennedy, all of Birmingham.

BRIDGE SHORTENS ATLANTA ROUTE FROM KNOXVILLE

Madisonville, Tenn., July 31.—(AP) The Niles ferry toll bridge, which shortens the route from Knoxville to Atlanta by some 50 miles, was opened today. Governor Henry Horton dedicated the structure, which cost approximately $155,000.

It is on the main route between Knoxville and Chattanooga and is in one of the most historic and beautiful sections of Tennessee. Nearby the ruins of Fort London, erected in 1756, stand.

SCOUTS' JAMBOREE SESSION IS OPENED

Atlanta Boy Takes Lead in Jamboree

Arrowe Park, Birkenhead England, July 31.—(United News.) Douglas Oliver, Atlanta boy scout, who accompanied the explorer, Martin Johnson, on a recent African expedition, is taking an important part in the jamboree. He is directing rehearsals of a series of Indian pageant dances in which scouts from Atlanta, Tampa, and Chattanooga will take part.

Arrowe Park, Birkenhead, England, July 31.—(United News.)—The "world jamboree" of Boy Scouts from throughout the world was officially under way tonight and 1,300 American boys were taking a prominent part in the conclave which marks the 21st year of the organization's existence.

Sitting around the campfires in the big tent city erected here for the jamboree, the Boy Scouts reviewed the opening ceremonies and renewed their community singing this evening.

The strong American contingent, wearing brightly colored lumberjack blazers, swung into the arena this afternoon as the opening ceremonies started. Leading the parade of 50,000 boys, the Americans made a stirring picture as they marched along toward the royal box where the Duke of Connaught, uncle of the king, reviewed the parade.

Flags waving briskly, the Americans led the way for the Australian, Armenian, Brazilian and 67 other contingents, following in alphabetical order. Boys from every part of the world marched in the parade, which ended with the contingents assembled before the royal box from which the Duke of Connaught made the address of welcome.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell, whose idea launched 21 years ago grew into the present Boy Scout organization, replied to the duke's speech of welcome. He stressed the importance of the jamboree as a factor in world peace.

Give "Grand Howl."

The honor of leading the parade before the royal box went to W. S. Block, of Minneapolis, who led a contingent of Minnesota and South Dakota scouts. He drew a silk American flag from his pocket as he passed the box and the other scouts in his group did likewise, waving them above their heads as the band played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The scouts will have the Prince of Wales as honor guest at a "big howl" tomorrow and American Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will spend several hours in the 450-acre camp Friday afternoon. It had been planned for him to remain all night but officials said the pressure of diplomatic business probably will prevent that.

The Americans introduced an original jamboree song at the community singing around the camp fires tonight. They spelled out the word "jamboree" several times to the tune of the Big Ben clock chimes broadcast from London and then spelled out "Arrowe" as if it were the sound of the clock striking six times.

Sing Greeting.

They also sang a piece called "America's Greeting" which was written by Charles Gammons, of Newark, to the tune of another song. The Americans have received the greatest cheers, however, for their southern songs, especially "Working On de Railroad" and "My Old Kentucky Home."

Virtually all of the American groups are building interesting exhibits for their part in the jamboree. The alligator patrol of Daytona Beach, Fla., brought along an alligator which led to the rumor that there were 2,000 alligators in the camp.

The Rockford, Ill., and Fort Wayne, Ind., groups are building a 50-foot totem pole which will be left here as a permanent memorial. Twenty sea scouts from Chicago and St. Joseph, Mo., were among the late arrivals but they immediately started work on a "land schooner" consisting of masts and railings. It is near the tepees of the Oklahoma Indian contingent. The sea scouts are under direction of Howard Gillette, prominent Chicago businessman who is their national commodore.

Get Out Paper.

One of the most interesting stunts put on by the Americans is the publication of a regular morning newspaper called "Scouting."

The Indian motif is carried throughout the American part of the camp. William Tompkins, of San Diego, this afternoon gathered a group of Nigerians, Bulgarians and Poles around his camp fire and instructed them in the sign language.

The American Boy Scouts will give an exhibition of Indian dancing, axmanship and roping in the arena tomorrow afternoon. "The pine tree patrol drill" will be given by New Orleans scouts after which Buffalo, N. Y., and Jackson, Mich., scouts will present a minstrel show.

The Prince of Wales is scheduled to arrive at 6:45 p. m. He is to remain overnight in the tent city.

ALEXANDER BOBO DIES AT HOME IN ROME

Rome, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Alexander W. Bobo, 78, prominent resident of Floyd county, died at his home here this morning after a long illness. Mr. Bobo is survived by his wife and four children, Martin Bobo, of Cedartown; Mrs. Lucile Simmons, Columbus, N. Mex.; John and Hiram Bobo, of Floyd county.

Lions Eat.

Valdosta, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) The Valdosta and Quitman Lions Clubs held a joint meeting at Blue Spring today, each club having a large attendance. The Lions from both cities were accompanied by their ladies and a picnic feast was prepared for the hungry Lions.

CUT SEEN BY GOOD IN EXPENDITURES OF AMERICAN ARMY

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Secretary Good expressed confidence today that certain army expenditures would be reduced in accordance with the wishes of President Hoover.

At the same time he briefly discussed the report yesterday of the inter-departmental board which recommended pay raises for all the services, while explaining he had not had an opportunity to study the recommendations. The board was created on the suggestion of the secretary of the navy, he said, after a bill had been introduced in the last session of congress to provide increases in navy pay, which had not been passed.

Rear Admiral Luke McNamee, head of the board, said today the report had been submitted to the war and navy departments for study. Formation of a special committee of congress will be requested, he said, to prepare the legislation.

REPORT SHOWS $48,150 SAVED BY PROBATION

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—Criminal probation in the state of Georgia has saved the United States government $48,150, during the fiscal year ended June 30, it was shown in the annual report of R. A. Chappell, federal probation officer, forwarded to Washington today.

Of this number 202 are for violation of the national prohibition law, others are for violation of the drug laws, postal laws, motor vehicle theft act and other minor offenses.

Fifty-eight of these placed on probation for violating the prohibition law were women, three of whom were under 21 years of age, the report revealed.

Presuming that there had been no system of probation and that these prisoners had been kept in county jails at government expense, Mr. Chappell outlined, the cost would have been $51,750. The cost of operating under the probation system in Georgia was less than $3,600, the report showed.

While Mr. Chappell has the entire state of Georgia, government authorities are said to be considering the appointment of a probation officer in each of the three federal districts of this state.

Onl ytwo of the 263 persons placed on probation were foreign born. There were 226 white persons and 37 negroes; 247 who claimed to be temperate and 14 who admitted intemperance; 11 with a previous prison record and 252 without a record. Eighteen of the 263 were under 20 years of age. Fines imposed when the probation sentences were given totaled $4,835.

COTTON MILL STRIKE ON 3D DAY IN ENGLAND

Manchester, England, July 31.—(AP) Lancashire's cotton mill stoppage entered its third day today with prospects slimmer than ever for an immediate settlement and return to work of the striking operatives.

The employers professed still to be ready to negotiate for a solution of the dispute and the cardroom workers and spinners seemed prepared to dicker with them, but the powerful weaving branch was determined to remain adamant in opposition to the proposed wage reductions.

Meanwhile a section of the British press raised a loud cry about the serious loss to British industry growing out of the stoppage as a consequence of the opportunity it gave rivals to seize the national trade.

Germany, France and Japan were represented in these quarters as gloating over the opportunities it presented. The Mail declared northern France would reap a golden harvest, orders which ordinarily would go to Lancashire going to Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing, the paper averred the French textile mills were working at top speed.

The Mail also depicted Germany as profiting at the expense of England if the strike is prolonged, and represented Poland as reckoning big net profits.

The Express printed an article by an unnamed textile authority vehemently attacking obsolete organization of the cotton industry which, the writer said, is still bound by the methods of 60 years ago, absurd under present conditions.

Payment of French $400,000,000 Debt Is Now Postponed

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Payment of France's $400,000,000 war supplies debt to the United States, due tomorrow, has been postponed in view of that nation's ratification of the $4,025,000,000 Mellon-Berenger agreement which provides for dunding it, with all other war obligations, over a period of 62 years.

The postponement was effected through an exchange of notes between Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Claudel. Although the congressional resolution authorizing such action in event of French ratification of the general debt funding agreement failed to receive the signatures necessary to make it a law, the administration felt that its adoption by both senate and house shortly before they recessed for the summer provided ample moral authority to carry out its intent.

The postponement was made effective until May 1, next year, subject to approval or disapproval of the general agreement by congress. Calling attention that congress will reassemble in a short time, Secretary Mellon told the ambassador he expected the agreement to "receive consideration at an early date."

Pending congressional approval, the French government will continue to pay interest on the war supplies debt with the understanding that, if the Mellon-Berenger agreement is ratified, such payments will be credited to the general annuities. Within a reasonable time after congressional approval, France is expected to bring the payments specified in the agreement to a current basis.

LITTLE PROSPECT FOR DROUGHT END

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Little prospect for relief was foreseen today by the weather bureau from the blanket of heat and drought with which for some time mother nature has covered widespread parts of the country.

This view of the weather bureau was disclosed today in a summary of conditions for the past week and was received with a sigh in the capital, especially by members of the senate finance committee, and the federal farm board who daily toil in hot rooms with doors closed.

A need for rain, evidenced in this locality by inches of dust on any unpaved road in nearby Virginia and Maryland, was stressed in the weather report except for some gulf states. It said drought conditions in New England, the great plains states and the cotton belt were acute.

Forestry officials also were keeping an eye on the weather in the hope, dissipated somewhat by the report, that rains might assist in combating forest fires in many sections.

The report said the temperature ranged from six to eleven degrees above normal seasonal average for the past week in nearly all portions of the country except southeastern tier of states. A general rain, it added, would be beneficial to much of the corn belt, while the "northwest continues generally dry."

"Crop prospects in the northwest," it continued, "are discouraging, although in sections where irrigation is practiced excellent advance was made. Showers were beneficial in some central Rocky Mountain districts and the southwest, where the range and water supply revived, but the great basin is generally dry, as well as the more western states."

Sections of the northern states were said to have been too hot for harvesting, men and animals being unable to work in the terrific heat.

Late spring wheat, the report added, continued to deteriorate in North Dakota while the crop was reported "only fair" in Montana, with many fields reporting a complete failure."

Produce

Demand and trading very dull during the early morning hours. Carlot receipts are gaining slightly and truck receipts are moderate. Vegetables from near-by producing sections show wide range of quality; many commodities showing considerable worm damage, especially squash and cucumbers. Good squash are in demand at high prices; local tomatoes of fair quality bringing moderate prices, also green corn. Lemons advanced as well as large size oranges; small oranges in liberal supply at steady prices. Onions are slightly weaker and potato market is firm. Quality of Georgia peaches improving and prices show slight advance. Sweet potatoes now coming to market by truck and selling at steady prices. Lettuce and celery remain steady.

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

Bullish Advance of Stock Listing Continues as Favorable Earnings Reports Feature Day's News—Score of Issues Boosted to New Peaks.

New York, July 31.—Disappointed over the failure to get at least an extra dividend, speculative holders of Steel common sold at the opening this morning causing a break of a point in Steel common to 205 1-2 with the remainder of the market irregular. Before the end of the first 15 minutes, however, the bull leaders of the stock market, encouraged over the high record peace time earnings of the steel corporation, were again in the saddle and at full gallop.

In the early trading Steel common touched 208 1-2, the remainder of the market following, some specialties going far ahead of Steel common, in the early trading Adams Express was up 14 points, Commercial Solvents 20, Peoples Gas 23 on top of yesterday's gain of 37. The ruling of the New York state attorney-general that the new Niagara Hudson Power merger was legal was a factor in the activity of public utility shares on the New York Stock Exchange and also on the curb market, where the ticker at noon was 41 minutes behind. In the last hour Steel common made a new high for all time.

Call money opened 10 and looked higher with the banks calling loans. Some 30-day money was placed at 9 per cent. Around mid-day call money was prevented from going higher by funds being thrown into the money market on the stock exchange floor by the same private banking house that many times recently has come to the rescue of the money and stock market.

The renewal rate for call money for July averaged 9.06 per cent, against 6.66 a year ago, 7.60 for June of this year, 8.71 for May, 8.78 for April, 9.52 for March, 6.91 for February and 7.06 for January. The high for the month was 15 per cent on July 1, which was also the renewal rate on July 2. The low for the month was 6 per cent on July 3. This month's high renewal rate for call money will make a difference in the statements sent out by stock exchange houses to their customers carrying stocks on borrowed money.

Raises Rate.

The Bank of Belgium raised its rediscount rate today.

Governor Norman, of the Bank of England, who has been in this country a month, is now on his way back to London, according to Wall Street rumors. Norman came here unannounced. He landed in Canada and went direct to Maine, where he spent all of the time while in this country, that is, so far as Wall Street knows. He said he he came here to visit friends. Whether he went to his friends here and at Washington or whether his friends went to him in Maine is not known. All that is known is that since the middle of June the Bank of England has lost gold steadily; is still losing it; that the time is nearby when a seasonal flow of gold away from the Bank of England should start; that the present gold holdings of the Bank of England are below what has always been considered the danger point. Somewhat similar conditions existed when Norman made his secret visit here last February for the declared purpose of visiting friends. Norman's return to London last February was followd immediately by an increase in the Bank of England rate from 4 1-2 per cent to 5 1-2. A further increase in the Bank of England rate is expected by Wall Street bankers in the very near future, possibly at tomorrow's weekly meeting. If financial London could see an end to our bull stock market, which is taking money away from London, the Bank of England would not increase its rediscount rate at this time when heroic efforts are being made to revive British general trade and reduce unemployment.

Interested in Views.

Wall Street is greatly interested in the published views of John J. Raskob on investment trusts. He says that just because a person who invested $10,000 ten years ago in General Motors common stock would now be worth $1,500,000 is no reason why anyone should "sigh over lost opportunity," adding that "anyone who firmly believes that opportunities are closed and that from now on the country will get worse instead of better is welcome to the opinion and whatever increment it will bring. I think we have scarcely started." He says the plan of equity investment is no mere theory with him; that he has been interested in creating and directing at least a dozen trusts for investment in equity securities, the first in 1907; that under all of these the plan provided for the saving of $15 a month for investment in equity securities only; that "there were no stocks bought on margin, no money borrowed, nor any stocks bought for a quick turn or resale;" that three of these trusts are now 20 years old, each representing savings and reinvestments aggregating $80,000 which if invested at 6 per cent would give the trust beneficiary an actual monthly income of $400, which "ordinarily would represent more than the earning power of the beneficiary because if he had been able to earn more than $400 a month he could have saved more than $15 a month."

Sounds Good.

That certainly sounds good. Raskob then continues with a discussion of the big investment trust plan he has had in mind for several years to let the public in on the ground floor. He says this plan grew out of the success of the plan followed by General Motors executives in forming in 1923 the Managers' Securities Compnay. This company, which included 80 senior and junior executives, he pointed out, "bought General Motors common stock to the then market value of $33,000,000. The executives paid $5,000,000 in cash and borrowed $28,000,000."

The comment on the foregoing of one active Wall Street man of long experience who is now skeptical on the stock market, was as follows:

"I am tired to death of hearing and reading bull. Raskob talks in one breath about saving $15 a month to invest in stocks without buying stocks on margin, without borrowing money, and without trading in and out of the market. And in the next breath about how he and other insiders borrowed $28,000,000 to buy $33,000,000 worth of General Motors. He says the opportunities to make money in the stock market have just started. If that is true, why has he delayed forming his big investment trust for the benefit of the public? According to Wall Street's information, he was told by trusted advisers some months ago, when his plan prematurely got into print that this was not a good time for starting such a project. Everybody will agree that it is wise to save money to buy good stocks at the right time."

SENATOR CARAWAY RIDES IN PLANE TO HOME IN ARK.

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Following the example set by his aviator son, Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, took an airplane here today to return to his home in Jonesboro, Ark.

The senator learned that one of the army aviators was going westward and he arranged to go with him. He expects to arrive in Little Rock tomorrow, stopping overnight in the middlewest. Paul Caraway, son of the senator, who was graduated from West Point this year, is in the army air service.

REORGANIZATION OF Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation

A Plan and Agreement of Reorganization dated as of July 25, 1929 have been formulated by the Board of Directors, and the undersigned members of the Board have been named to act as a Reorganization Committee thereunder. In view of the present financial situation of the Corporation and the unsatisfactory conditions in the raw sugar industry, the maturity on January 1, 1930 of $25,000,000 principal amount of the Corporation's Convertible Debenture Bonds makes a prompt reorganization of the Corporation necessary. Failure to approve the Plan will result in costly and protracted receivership proceedings which will be to the disadvantage of all the security holders of the Corporation.

This Plan calls for the organization of a New Company to acquire the assets of Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation and in order to make the Plan operative it is necessary to obtain as nearly as possible the unanimous consent of the holders of the outstanding securities of the present Company through the deposit of their holdings pursuant to such Plan and Agreement of Reorganization on or before August 20, 1929.

Subject to the more detailed provisions of the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization, the holders of the present securities depositing thereunder on or before August 20, 1929 will, subject to consummation of the Plan, receive the following:

DEBENTURE BONDHOLDERS

(a) An equal principal amount of Participating Debentures of the New Company, to be dated January 1, 1930 and to mature January 1, 1950. The Participating Debentures will bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum from January 1, 1930. For the first five years interest will be payable only out of net earnings (as defined in the Plan), but payment must be made to the extent earned. Interest will be cumulative for the years 1933 and 1934, whether earned or not. After 1934 interest at 6% must be paid whether earned or not and will be a fixed charge. The Participating Debentures will be further entitled to receive, before the payment of any dividends, 50% of the net earnings up to an additional 3% per annum on the Debentures, making the total interest payment to which the Debentures may become entitled 9% per annum. This additional 3% will be cumulative to the extent earned. The Participating Debentures will be subordinated to current borrowings for operations.

(b) One share of Common Stock of the New Company, in respect of each $100 principal amount of Debenture Bonds of the present Company deposited.

Depositing bondholders will be entitled to have the January 1, 1930 interest coupons attached to their deposited bonds returned to them for collection of the January 1, 1930 interest, the payment of which will be assumed by the New Company.

PREFERRED STOCKHOLDERS

(a) A Subscription Warrant and/or Fractional Warrant entitling the holder to subscribe on or before August 20, 1929 at $5 per share for 1½ shares of Common Stock of the New Company in respect of each share of Preferred Stock deposited.

(b) An Option Warrant entitling the holder to purchase at any time prior to January 1, 1940 at $20 per share 2 shares of Common Stock of the New Company in respect of each share of Preferred Stock deposited.

COMMON STOCKHOLDERS

(a) A Subscription Warrant and/or Fractional Warrant entitling the holder to subscribe on or before August 20, 1929 at $7.50 per share for 1/5 of a share of Common Stock of the New Company in respect of each share of Common Stock deposited.

(b) An Option Warrant entitling the holder to purchase at any time prior to January 1, 1940 at $20 per share 1 share of Common Stock of the New Company in respect of each share of Common Stock deposited.

The Common Stock issuable by the New Company may be issued to Voting Trustees under a Voting Trust Agreement described in the Plan, in which case Voting Trust Certificates for Common Stock will be deliverable under the Plan.

The Plan and Agreement of Reorganization have been approved and are recommended to the holders of the several classes of securities of Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation by the following Committees acting respectively for the several classes of securities. The Reorganization Committee joins with the several Committees in urging immediate deposit of all outstanding Debenture Bonds and Preferred and Common Stocks in order to insure the carrying out of the Plan.

Copies of the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization and of the Deposit Agreements may be obtained from any of the Depositaries upon application.

In order to make the Plan operative the securities of Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation should be deposited on or before August 20, 1929, with the following Depositaries respectively, which will deliver their respective transferable Certificates of Deposit therefor:

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—Gigantic broadening out of breadstuff demand both for shipment overseas and for home use sent wheat values flying straight upward today. Corn soared also, with much of the new corn crop reported near to a failure and the price of December delivery of corn outdoing all previous top quotations this season.

Wheat purchasing of domestic hard winter and red winter wheat was estimated as totaling as much as 2,000,000 bushels in addition to a huge amount of flour, about 1,000,000 barrels. Besides, a big American bakery concern was credited with having bought another 1,000,000 barrels of flour. With evidence of such character indicating that current prices for wheat are considered satisfactory to consumers here and abroad, and with drought unabated either in Canada or the American northwest, renewed mammoth buying of wheat future deliveries took place, stimulated also through independent price bulges in the corn market.

Drought reports came from the greater part of the corn belt with damage already shown in numerous places, cables were also at hand indicating that simultaneous dryness and heat has brought about crop injury through some of the chief corn producing sections of Europe, and that drought is nearly world-wide. Oats ascended with corn and wheat.

Provisions responded to upturns both in hog values and in grain.

SELLER'S PROFIT IN LIVE STOCK SALES INCREASES

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Net proceeds to the seller of live stock at shipping points were reported today by the bureau of railway economics, an organization maintained by the carriers, to have been gradually increasing for the last five years, with the result that they were greater in 1928 than in any of the four preceding years.

The survey was made at 10 markets, including Chicago, East St. Louis, Baltimore, Fort Worth, Texas; Jersey City, Kansas City, Lancaster, Pa.; Nashville; South Omaha, Neb., and South St. Paul. It embraced the sale of 23,377 carloads of live stock shipped from 4,384 points located in 40 states.

The proportion of the purchaser's dollar received by the seller at the shipping point was reported to have increased during the five-year period from 91.4 cents in 1924 to 94.4 cents last year, a gain of 3 per cent. The average price paid by the purchaser at the markets for all live stock combined rose gradually from $7.36 per 100 pounds to $11.15.

Metter, Ga., July 31.—An average price of $18.60 per 100 pounds was paid on the Metter market today for 133,682 pounds of tobacco. Farmers who sold their bright leaf during the day received $24,861.25. While some better grade weed was sold, the great share of today's sales was low grade, accounting for the low price.

Valdosta, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—With another block sale in one warehouse and no sale in another, it is estimated conservatively that Valdosta sales today were at a total of 736,128 pounds for $154,579, which gives an average of $21 for the entire sale.

Total bond sales (par value) $10,608,000.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Time money tightened a trifle today and investment bonds lagged in a market featured by the strength of numerous convertibles and a few speculative issues of standard types.

Thirty-day loans were quoted at 8.4 to 9 per cent as compared with 8 3-4 flat on Tuesday. The rate has gradually advanced 1 1-2 per cent in the last three weeks, a fact which tends to discourage belief that the bond market will show sustained improvement in the immediate future. At 9 per cent time loans are close to their high of the year. The decline in the rate late in June and early this month was of short duration.

Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron convertibles 6s again led the share privilege group, moving up for a net gain of 4 3-4 to close at 115, a new high. During the morning the debentures sold at 117 on the strength of the shares. Lautaro Nitrate 6s, a recent issue, and Kreuger & Toll 5s, with warrants, also reached new peaks in the stock option group.

American Telephone 4 1-2s and Atchison 4 1-2s were other strong convertibles, making net gains of 2 3-4 and 1 3-4, respectively. American I. G. Chemical 5 1-2s, Alleghany Corporation 5s, 1949, and International Telephone 4 1-2s reacted fractionally.

A few rail, industrial and utility mortgages managed to work higher, but the demand for conservative investment issues was slight and the general list had an irregular appearance. General Steel Casting 5 1-2s again attracted buying and showing a net gain of 1 1-2 to the new high of 102 1-2.

Dullness marked the Liberties and the United States treasury issues and foreign bonds traded in only nominal volume.

SANGER THEATERS SOLD BY EXCHANGE TO LASKY CORP.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation announced today that it had arranged to acquire by an exchange of stock substantially all of the outstanding preferred stock and at least 90 per cent of the class A common of Sanger Theaters, Inc., of New Orleans. Sanger Theaters operates a chain of houses throughout 11 of the southern states, Central America and the West Indies. E. V. Trading Volume Is Heavy In Utility, Investment Lists

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Violent bullish demonstrations in a select assortment of high-priced public utility and investment trust issues featured today's irregularly higher curb market. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker was again unable to keep up with the market, falling half an hour or more behind during the early afternoon. The advance was by no means uniform, as final quotations disclosed a fairly long list of net declines but they were confined largely to inactive issues.

Ten per cent call money and reports of a firmer time rate kept many small traders out of the market. But pools resumed activities on a broad scale on the theory that money rates would work lower, and that the high rate of activity in the steel industry forecast continuance of prosperity for months to come. Publication of a series of excellent earnings reports and unconfirmed rumors of stock splitups and new consolidations helped to keep bullish enthusiasm at high pitch. Trading in July broke all records for volume with a turnover close to 6,000,000 shares.

Middle West Utilities was the spectacular individual feature, soaring more than 40 points to a new high record at 506 and then dropping back to 492 for a net gain of 27 1-2. Commonwealth Edison ran up 25 points and retained all but 4 points of its gain. Insull Utilities Investors jumped 15 points. Electric Bond & Share, United Gas Improvement, United Light & Power A, Southeastern Power & Light, and Northern States Power A and American & Foreign Power warrants closed 4 to 8 1-2 points higher.

National Investors, which sold as low as 11 1-4 a share this year, ran up 28 points to a new high record at 175. Electric Investors, directors of which met today, was whirled up 21 3-4 points to a new peak at 283 and retained all but 4 points of its gain despite the fact that no action was taken on the expected stock split-up. Stone & Webster jumped 9 points to a new high at 169.

Gleanor Combine Harvester ran up more than 21 points to a new high at 140. Except for a drop of 2 1-2 points in Cosden, the oil shares showed little change. Pilot Radio Tube touched another new high at 24 7-8. Aviation shares were quiet, with no important changes in prices.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Unfavorable features in the weather and crop advices, combined with relatively steady Liverpool cables, seemed responsible for advances of about $1.50 a bale in the cotton market today. After selling up to 19.35 early, December reacted to 19.17 in the late trading. That delivery closed at 19.40, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 26 to 34 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 14 to 20 points on the higher cables from Liverpool, complaints of continued dry weather in west Texas, and apprehensions that further showers would stimulate weevil activity in the eastern belt. Active months soon showed net advances of about 18 to 22 points, but met considerable realizing, while there seemed to be a little southern selling. Offerings increased right after the weekly report of the weather bureau made its appearance. At first glance this evidently made favorable impression on sentiment, but later the trade seemed inclined to place rather a bullish interpretation on references to the effect of the weather on weevil during the week and the selling tapered off.

The official weather details showing high temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma may have accounted for some of the buying later, and the demand became more active following the publication of a private report which placed the condition of the crop at 68.9 compared with an end-June condition of 71.0. This report showed a lower condition figure than either of the two private reports previously issued and was considered a factor in the late advance. October contracts sold up to 19.18 and March to 19.60, making net gains of 30 to 36 points and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best on most positions.

Private reports during the day continued to emphasize the boll weevil situation, and there were also reports that poison for combating these pests was becoming scarce in the southwest. The firmness of the grain market may have been a contributing factor, as some buying was supposed to be for western and Wall Street account.

Exports today were 13,572, making 8,240,838 bales so far this season, according to preliminary figures. Port receipts 24,386. United States port stocks 531,875.

COTTON REACHES NEW HIGH GROUND.

New Orleans, July 31.—(AP)—Cotton prices reached new high ground for the present movement in today's trading following a period of irregularity during the morning. A sharp rally after mid-session on expectations of bullish private condition figures which were probably based on a distinctly low average issued by a private authority during the day, carried October up from 18.78 to 19.02 and the option closed at 19.00, or 23 points net higher. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 23 to 31 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively firm and the market here opened 2 to 4 points up in response. Prices continued to advance after the start on buying induced by reports of unfavorable weather in western Texas. Active positions traded up from 75 cents to $1 a bale above yesterday's close with October at 18.97 and December 19.13.

Later the market turned irregular when the weekly weather and crop report, although considered bearish as a whole, contained a statement that weather during the past week was favorable to weevil activity. Prices gradually slipped back toward the low points, with October selling down to 18.78, or 19 points below the high.

In late trading the market rallied sharply on a private report giving the condition average of 68.9, which led to expectations of additional bullish statements in the near future. Under active buying and covering October advanced to 19.02 and December 19.20, or 25 to 29 points above the previous close. Final prices were at or near the best.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Given renewed impetus by further excellent earnings, carloadings and steel trade reports, bullish operations developed renewed vitality on the stock market today, more than a score of issues rising 2 to more than 20 points to record levels. The pace of trading was accelerated from that of the past two dull sessions, but was kept within moderate bounds, 3,407,040 shares changing hands.

Although call money held at 10 per cent all day, reports that bankers were acting to keep the rate from going higher was encouraging. Time money rates, however, did not indicate that there is much prospect of substantially easier credit after the turn of the month. Some 30-day money was placed at 9 per cent.

It was characteristic of recent markets that industrial and trade developments should overshadow the rather gloomy credit outlook. While there have been no intimations that the federal reserve will again act to check speculation, the New York Reserve bank's monthly bulletin pointed to the stock market as one of the principal causes of the credit scarcity. Regarding the firm money conditions during July, the bulletin stated, "the chief causes were a curiosity demand for the new-sized currency issued July 10, which led to an increase of $100,000,000 in the amount of currency in circulation, and an increased demand for credit, largely for the security markets.

Iron Age stated while there were evidences at Pittsburgh of a gradual curtailment of steel mill activity, reports from other centers indicated no imminent slackening in ingot output. Carloadings for the week ended July 20 were well above the previous week, and 4.4 per cent above the like week of 1928.

Crude oil production last week again reached a new high level, but the gain was small.

Among favorable earnings statements appearing today, those of Pacific Lighting, Atlantic Gulf & West Indies and Wheeling Steel were notable. The National City bank in its August 1 bulletin said that combined net profits of 229 companies during the first half of the year showed a gain of 30 per cent over the like period of last year.

The utility shares again occupied the limtlight, the price index of 20 leaders of the group rising more than 5 points to a record level.

People's Gas shot up about 22 points more, in sympathy with further violent upturns in the Insull stocks on the curb, but lost about 5 points of its advance before the close. American and Foreign Power, Detroit Edison and Philadelphia Company rose 7 to 11 points to new peak levels.

Utilities Power and Light A and National Power and Light, also reached new high ground. American Water Works and American Power and Light made wide gains.

General Electric sold up 11 points to a new peak at 377 3-4. United States Steel encountered some selling in disappointment over the fact that no extra dividend was declared, but consideration of the excellent earnings statement brought heavy buying into the issue, which sent it up about 4 points to record price at 210 3-4. Auburn Auto had another violent spurt, touching a new peak at 424, up 21. Commercial Solvents continued to rally, with an extreme gain of about 18 points, and other chemicals made substantial advances. Central Alloy Steel, Maytag, Moto Meter & Guage, Spencer Kellogg, and F. G. Shattuck were other issues reaching new peaks.

Case Threshing was a soft spot, dropping 14 points to 360, and closing at 366. Filenes fell about 12 points to a new 1929 low at 65. Although rails were generally well supported, Union Pacific slipped back about 3 points. Radio lost about a point.

Another upturn in grains featured the commodity markets. Wheat mounted about 4 cents a share on a bullish government weather report and better export demand. Corn mounted 2 to 4 cents on complaints of dry weather from the central west and good cash demand.

Sterling cables dropped 3-16 of a cent to $4.85 5-16. Other European currencies generally sagged. The Japanese yen was in continued demand, reaching another new peak at 46.35 cents, refecting faith in the financial policies of the new Japanese government.

WHEELING STEEL COMPANY TO HAVE $1 DIVIDEND

Wheeling, W. Va., July 31.—(AP)—Directors of the Wheeling Steel Corporation today declared a dividend of $1 a share on common stock, payable September 1 on stock of record August 12. It was the first common dividend since 1921.

DUKE POWER CO. DIRECTORS VOTE STOCK INCREASE

Newark, N. J., July 31—(AP)—Stockholders of the Duke Power Company at a special meeting here today voted to increase the capitalization of the company from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.

Sugar.

New York, July 31.—The raw sugar market was not very active today but the undertone was steadier. The only sale reported was about 10,000,000 bags of Cuban for prompt loading to an operator at equal to 3.89 delivered. Refiners showed no interest, although there were further offerings of duty free sugars in nearby positions at this level.

Raw futures were firmer on covering and some buying by houses with trade and European connections, with final prices showing net gains of 3 to 5 points. The market opened at 1 point decline to 1 point advance, but soon firmed up and at one time was 6 to 7 points above the previous close. Offerings were light, and the upturn was due more to technical conditions than any change in the spot situation, although there were reports that European buyers were showing renewed interest in Cuban raws, and unfavorable crop advices from abroad, which was expected to be reflected in lower European beet crop estimates. The upturn, however, attracted considerable liquidation and the market eased off from the best with final prices 2 to 3 points below the best levels of the session. The late selling was probably promted by press reports from London stating that Java has not agreed to co-operate in the flotation of a sugar cartel. Approximate sales 38,000 tons. September closed 2.10; December 2.20; January 2.21; March 2.23; May 2.29; July 2.37.

Refined prices were unchanged with all refiners listing at 5:50 for fine granulated with a good withdrawal demand. Second-hand sugars were offered more freely at from 5.17 to 5.20 for fine granulated, but little inquiry was reported.

Rubber.

Market Gossip

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Today's market continued the strength shown yesterday, volume increasing and activity broadening. Steels, utilities and coppers were stronger and motors showed a stronger tone.

Slight recovery noted in the rails may easily carry further in view of the brilliant earnings statements coming out and the continued high level of car loadings.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Indications that the month-end money strain would not result in a call rate higher than 10% was seen yesterday.

Both United States Steel and Bethlehem advanced into new high ground and even at current levels we feel both stocks are under-valued on a price earnings ratio.

Accumulation is speeding up in Philadelphia and Reading Coal & Iron as it becomes more generally known that the company is planning to build power plants near its mines, and also a hydroelectric plant on the Susquehanna river.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Call money was said to be in rather scarce supply during early dealings but around noon it was intimated that some of the banks were in a position to make substantial advances and the feeling prevailed that the 10 per cent rate would not be exceeded at least for another day.

Special strength in Goodyear was probably due to the trans-Atlantic Zeppelin flight, as it controls the Zeppelin rights in America.

American & Foreign Power, Standard Gas and Public Service of New Jersey were among the features in the equipment group. Electrical equipment issues were strong. One of the outstanding specialties was the stock of Poor & Co., manufacturers of track maintenance equipment for railroads.

BLYTH & CO.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Today's developments at home and abroad will probably be looked for with mingled feelings of anticipation.

The recent impressive activity is being reflected in the market for Lehigh Coal & Navigation. In addition to its extensive coal and railroad properties the company owns about 600,000 shares of National Power & Light.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Unfavorable reports from south Texas, increasing weevil and worm infestation and damage and forecast of showers for much of the eastern belt encouraged buying of cotton today, induced covering and gave the market a good sized upturn.

Hester's figures are expected to show consumption of lint anywhere from 15,000,000 to 15,400,000 and the carry-over between 5,300,000 and 4,775,000. If around 4,500,000 it should help the market.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Cables were again better than due this morning, as Europe is beginning to realize that the crop is by no means made.

A prominent firm issued a private estimate which was considered bullish, particularly as they gave the state of Texas as only 66. We are now eight days from the government report and must expect a nervous, uneasy market as it attempts to adjust itself to what the trade believes will be the government estimate.

In the meantime if showery weather continues in the eastern belt and the weather remains hot in the western belt a further improvement could easily take place. Liverpool futures are due tomorrow; October 10.17; January 10.17.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 31.—(Special.)—Market ruled somewhat irregular today but general trend has been forward on short covering, continued trade buying and evidences of increasing speculative accumulation.

The principal influence appears to be growing apprehension aroused by the increasing reports of weevil activities, and were it not for the uncertainties of the forthcoming government reports, which act as deterrent to speculative buying, the market would probably have advanced still further.

ORVIS BROTHERS & CO.

About two weeks ago the same situation prevailed but it was followed by prompt liquidation. Yesterday, and again today, the result of their boll weevil ideas as well as continued drought in west Texas, was expressed in vigorous demand for cotton and the market closed firm at the day's high quotations.

There is more reason now for bullish activities than previous because there is more information on infestation and damage and also the west Texas drought has been extended this much further.

In the present situation it is quite possible that the bull movement may be successful despite the near approach of the government's report.

Under the existing circumstances we favor buying cotton. January Liverpool due 10.17.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

New York, July 31.—The cottonseed oil market was dull with price movements narrow today, although the undertone was steady the firmness of cotton and the recovery in grains and lard checked aggressive selling, and promoted a little covering, with final price 5 points lower to 6 points higher.

Sales were only 1,600 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 9.50; September closed 9.64, October 9.65, December 9.72, January 9.76, March 9.87.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 31.—The cottonseed oil future market maintained a steady tone today owing to firmer lard and higher cotton prices. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 8.45 or 10 points up and prime crude closed at 7.62½ to 7.87½. Futures closed steady: August 8.55; October 8.65; December 8.70; January 8.72; March 8.80, ters.

Coffee.

New York, July 31.—Coffee futures were lower today under liquidation and trade selling accompanied by reports of easier cost and freight offers. No. 7 contracts opened at a decline of 6 to 8 points and closed at a net decline of 20 to 30 points. Sales estimated 21,000. Santos contracts opened 4 to 8 points lower and closed at a net decline of 13 to 23 points. Sales 36,000. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts: September 14.18; October 14.00; December 13.59; January 13.41; March 13.22; May 12.90; July 12.68. Santos contracts: September 20.52; December 19.77; January 19.55; March 19.00; May 18.65.

Spot coffee was dull at 16c for Rio 7s and 22½ to 22¾c for Santos 4s.

Dry Goods.

New York, July 31.—Cotton goods prices were steady with a firmer tendency in some print cloth and sheeting constructions. Lots previously at lower prices were being cleaned out or withdrawn. Bag trades again interested, some wide, coarse goods selling, fine goods moderately busy. Burlaps were a shade easier, Calcutta discounting strikes, with spots quiet. Only moderate cuts in spring worsted fancies are foreseen in the trend. Spot raw silks were firm and in better small lot demand. Japan was stronger. Transparent velvets, tweed prints, silk and wools selling to cut-

Garrett Selected To Fill Italian Ambassadorial Post by President Hoover

Philadelphia Banker Succeeds Fletcher, Resigned to Important Office; 2 Vacancies Remain

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—President Hoover has filled another important European diplomatic post with selection of John W. Garrett, Baltimore banker and former diplomat, as ambassador to Italy.

Mr. Garrett succeeds to the post made vacant by the voluntary retirement of Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, who reurns home next month after 25 years of foreign service. His name has been presented to the Italian government and a reply as to his acceptability now is awaited.

With former Vice President Dawes representing the United States at London and Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, selected as ambassador to France, only two other major posts in Europe remain to be filled—those at Berlin and Madrid.

Selections of the ambassadors to Germany and Spain and to Peru, Chile and Japan are expected to be made soon. Many new ministers also are to be appointed while a number of others are to be shifted.

There is to be a general shakeup in the Latin-American service. Ambassadors Alexander P. Moore at Lima and William S. Culbertson at Santiago, are expected to retire. Ministers in the southern republics whose resignations are expected include Gerhard A. Bading, at Ecuador; Charles C. Eberhardt, at Nicaragua, and U. S. Grant-Smith at Uruguay.

Cook Resigns.

Willis Cook has resigned as minister to Venezuela and among those mentioned as his possible successor is Walter F. Lineberger, of California, a former member of congress, a friend of the president, and an engineer who has spent 10 years in Latin-America.

Reports also are current that John Van A. MacMurray is to be replaced as minister to China. He is a career man and probably will be transferred to some other post or to the state department.

Roy T. Davis, of Missouri, minister to Costa Rica, is slated for a promotion and there has been some talk that he might succeed Ambassador Moore at Lima. Should he not be promoted to an ambassadorship he will be given a more important ministerial post in recognition of his work at San Jose.

Many Years In Service.

Mr. Garrett, the new ambassador to Italy, has had nearly a score of years of service in the diplomatic corps and in other foreign service. He was first secretary of the American embassy at Rome from 1908 to 1911 and also has served as minister to the Netherlands, Venezuela and the Argentine and was secretary-general of the Washington arms conference.

His first service was in 1901 and he has served at Berlin, Paris and Luxemburg as well as at Buenos Aires, The Hague and Caracas. During the World War he inspected camps of the French prisoners in Germany at the request of the French government and subsequently helped to negotiate a treaty with Germany regarding the treatment of prisoners of war.

SAMPEY TO ASSUME BAPTIST SCHOOL POST SEPT. 18

Louisville, Ky., July 31.—(AP)—The Rev. John R. Sampey will be installed as president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary on the night of September 18, it was announced today.

The ceremony also will be a celebration of the 70th anniversary of the founding of the seminary in September, 1879.

In an interview today Dr. Sampey, who was elected president to succeed the late Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, said that it is his ambition to increase the enrollment of the seminary to 600, its full capacity, within a few years. He expects 500 students this year, or 65 more than were enrolled last year.

Dr. Sampey also proposes to raise $175,000 by private subscription for physical improvements at the seminary. A new chapel and a group of 40 or 50 cottages for married students are contemplated.

Little Opposition Seen to Confirmation Of Federal Farm Board

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—Little opposition to senate confirmation of federal farm board members is expected by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, one of the leaders in the senate fight for the defeated equalization fee and export debenture plans.

Caraway expressed this view in discussing the appointment of Sam R. McKelvie, former Nebraska governor, to the board as a representative of wheat and coarse grain growing interests. McKelvie strongly opposed the fee.

The Arkansas senator said he believed President Hoover should have the farm board he desires and his views were echoed by Senator King, democrat, Utah. All members of the board, which is now complete, must be confirmed by the senate when it reconvenes in August.

Disappointment over McKelvie's selection was expressed by Caraway, who said that "I presume that the farmer can expect nothing from him but sympathy and he will need it if McKelvie runs true to form."

Gulf, Mobile & Northern Negotiates Purchase Of N. O. Gt. Northern

Jackson, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—I. B. Tigrett, president of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad, said today that negotiations for the purchase of the New Orleans Great Northern railroad by the Gulf, Mobile & Northern are under way.

Acquisition of this line, which runs from Jackson, Miss., to New Orleans, would virtually give the G., M. & N. a trunk line from the Ohio river to New Orleans with its present line from Paducah to Mobile, Mr. Tigrett said.

SARAJEVO ARSENAL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, July 31.—(AP)—The arsenal at Sarajevo was destroyed by fire last night, the damage amounting to 8,000,000 dinars, or about $1,500,000.

BRIAND POLICY GETS USUAL POINCARE VOTE

Paris, July 31.—(AP)—While former Premier Raymond Poincare, smiling and confident, entered the clinic where he will be operated on tomorrow for the ailment which partially forced him to retire from the premiership, his old cabinet under Premier Aristide Briand faced parliament today and obtained the average Poincare majority of 50 votes on its declaration of policy.

The actual majority given to the ministerial declaration of Premier Briand was 188 but there were 140 radical deputies who did not vote. Most of these radicals abstained by order of their leader. The actual vote of confidence was 314 to 136.

By the vote Premier Briand will lead the French delegation to the forthcoming Hague conference on reparations with the assurance of the "three months' truce" on internal politics for which he asked in order to face the paramount foreign issues which will absorb the government.

The opposition in the chamber today produced no new argument against the government, swelling simply on the viewpoint supportedf by the radical socialists, that the ministry does not represent the political aspirations of the country.

Premier Briand reminded the chamber that the greatest aspirations of France today was for a final and durable peace. That was what the government under Poincare had worked for and what it would continue to strive for during the grave and important negotiations at The Hague conference, he said.

TRIAL OF TEXTILE MEN FOR MURDER AUG. 26

Raleigh, N. C., July 31.—(AP)—Trial of 16 officials and members of the National Textile Union and affiliated communistic organizations charged with the murder of O. F. Aderholt, chief of police of Gastonia, will be resumed in Charlotte August 26.

This announcement was made at the office of Governor O. Max Gardner here this afternoon by his secretary, Tyre Taylor, who had communicated with the governor after receiving official word that the defense had been granted a change of venue from Gastonia.

The trial will be presided over by Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, who, after hearing affidavits and evidence of prejudice and intimidation for two days granted the request of the defense for adjournment to another county. He ordered that the case be taken to Mecklenburg county.

The group headed by Fred Erwin Beal, southern organizer for the National Textile Workers Union, is held in the Gaston county jail. Three women defendants, Amy Schechter, Vera Buch and Sophie Melvin, are expected to be released on bond, according to dispatches from Charlotte and Gastonia, the charge against them having been amended to second degree murder.

The defense charged in the two-day hearings at Gastonia, that there had been so many threats against witnesses and attorneys for the defense and so much newspaper propaganda against them that they could not get a fair trial. Judge Barnhill soon after the hearing opened announced that he would dismiss the Gaston county jury panel and call a panel from another county and yesterday afternoon announced that enough evidence of intimidation had been heard to warrant adjournment to another county.

TO MEN WHO WANT TO ENJOY ALL THE PROFITS FROM THEIR EFFORTS

MANY good salesmen and managers are anxious to own a business, but one without the investment and experience necessary to operate a factory.

IF YOU can sell, we will teach you the business—and help you with a thorough administration and sales promotion program.

FOR MEN WHO ARE LOOKING AHEAD

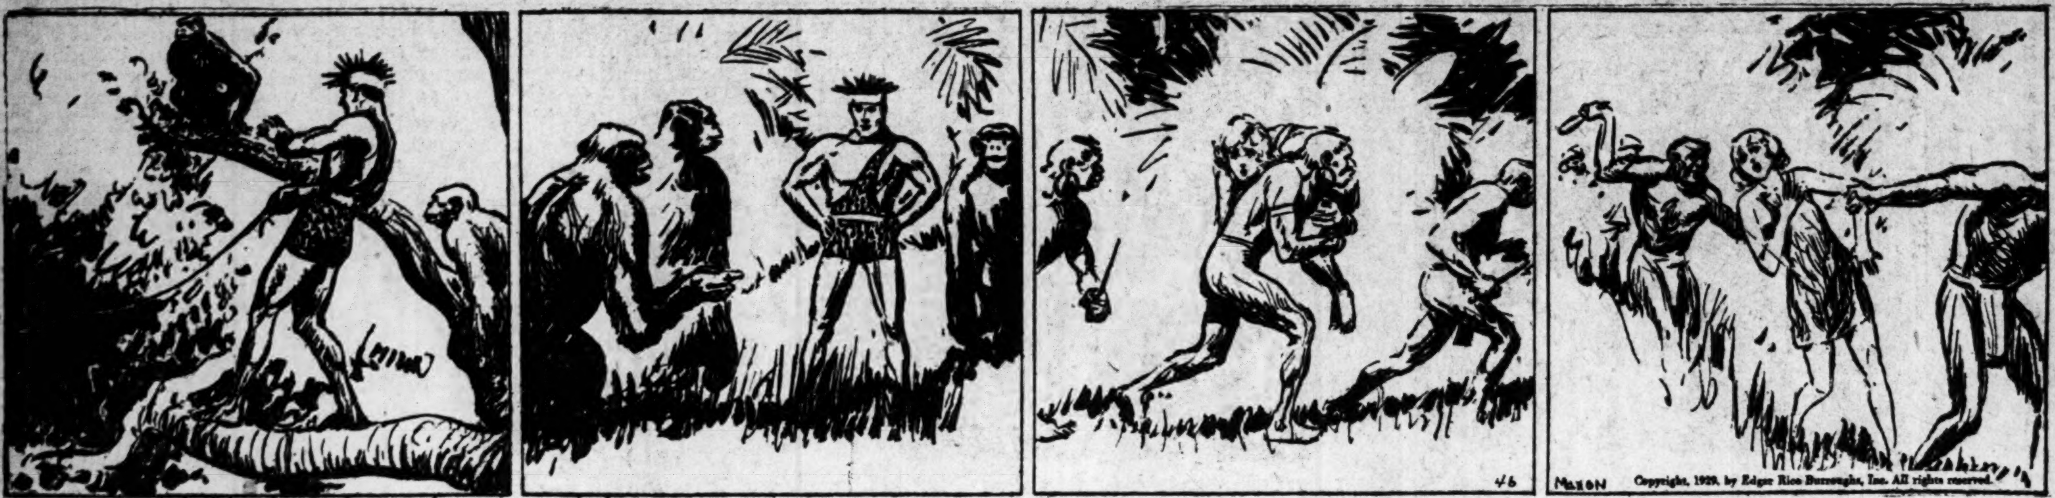
THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 46

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Tarzan hunted with the apes as in days gone by. They found his superior reason guided them to the best food sources, that his cunning rope ensnared toothsome game they seldom tasted, and they came to look up to him as they had in the past after he became king. So it was that before they left the amphitheater they had once more chosen him as their leader.

Before Tarzan had returned to the tribe, a certain young bull had, according to custom, fared forth to win a fair lady from some neighboring community. He had just returned with his bride. Among his adventures he told of seeing a great tribe of strange-looking apes. "They were all hairy-faced bulls but one, and that one was a she!

"Lighter in color even than this stranger," and he chucked a thumb at Tarzan. At once the ape-man was all attention. He asked questions faster than the slow-witted anthropoid could answer. "Yes, the bulls were short and ugly, wearing yellow rings on their arms and legs. Dressed in the skins of Numa and Sheeta. They carried sticks and knives.

"They were waddling rapidly along upon their crooked legs. Now and then one would go upon all fours like Bolgani, the gorilla. The "she" was small and slender and very white. They dragged her along—sometimes by an arm—sometimes by the long hair that grew upon her head. Always they kicked and beat her. Oh, but it was great fun to watch them."

This piece of property can be bought from $2,500 to $3,000 below the market value for property in this locality; a wonderful investment and will now net over 10 per cent on amount invested.

The enhancement possibilities are certain and the lot alone is worth more than price now asked. Some real, live-awake investor is surely going to reap the harvest if they will avail themselves of this wonderful opportunity NOW. No agents. If interested address M-110, Constitution.

THREE POINTS IN BUYING A HOME.

Is it worth the price asked?

Is it a well-built house?

Is it financed so I can pay for it?

IF YOU will let me show you the brick veneer bungalows I am building on Ewing place, S. W., I am sure you will say that they are worth the price asked, which is $6,500, that I have built well and I know that I can sell you on terms that will enable you to buy and pay for a home.

YOU will not have to assume any five-year loan, no interest coupons to pay, your notes are the same each month until you receive your deed, paid in full. Man! why don't you do this for your wife and baby? T. C. Holmes, owner, 1134 Donnelly Ave.

FINAL RITES FRIDAY FOR VICTIM OF GAS

Mrs. Alma Elsberry Found in Fume-Filled Kitchen. Burial in Yorkville.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alma Elsberry, 22, of 754 Jett street, N. W., who died Wednesday morning from the effects of gas inhaled at her home, will be held Friday morning at the Yorkville Methodist church, Yorkville. The Rev. W. M. Albert will officiate, assisted by the Rev. D. Driskell. Burial will take place in the churchyard.

Mrs. Elsberry was discovered about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning by neighbors, after a negro servant had detected the odor of gas at the home and had given the alarm. She was lying in the kitchen with her head directly under the gas jets of the stove, all four being turned on. The doors and windows were tightly closed and her 3-year-old daughter had been locked out of the room.

Firemen worked over her body for more than an hour with a pulmotor, and finally developed signs of life, but death occurred in Grady hospital about 10 o'clock. Ill health was believed to have been the reason for Mrs. Elsberry's death. A coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon found that her death was caused from asphyxiation, self-inflicted.

REALTORS TO HEAR POSTMASTER LARGE DISCUSS NEEDS

Postmaster Edwin K. Large will be the honor guest and principal speaker at the semi-monthly meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate board at Mrs. McRae's tea room, 76 1-2 North Forsyth street, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Large will discuss "Atlanta's Postoffice Needs," giving a brief account of the movement to secure a new federal building here and why additional quarters are essential.

Mississippi House Urged to Impeach Attorney-General

Jackson, Miss., July 31.—(AP)—After several weeks' investigation of the offices of State's Attorney-General Rush H. Knox by the house committee to investigate state offices, a majority report of the committee presented to the legislature late today recommendation that impeachment proceedings be brought against the attorney-general for "high crimes and misdemeanors, and malfeasance in office."

Representative A. J. Coleman, of Vaiden, the sole dissenting member of the committee of nine, submitted a minority report, in which he recommended that the entire matter be submitted to the courts for settlement.

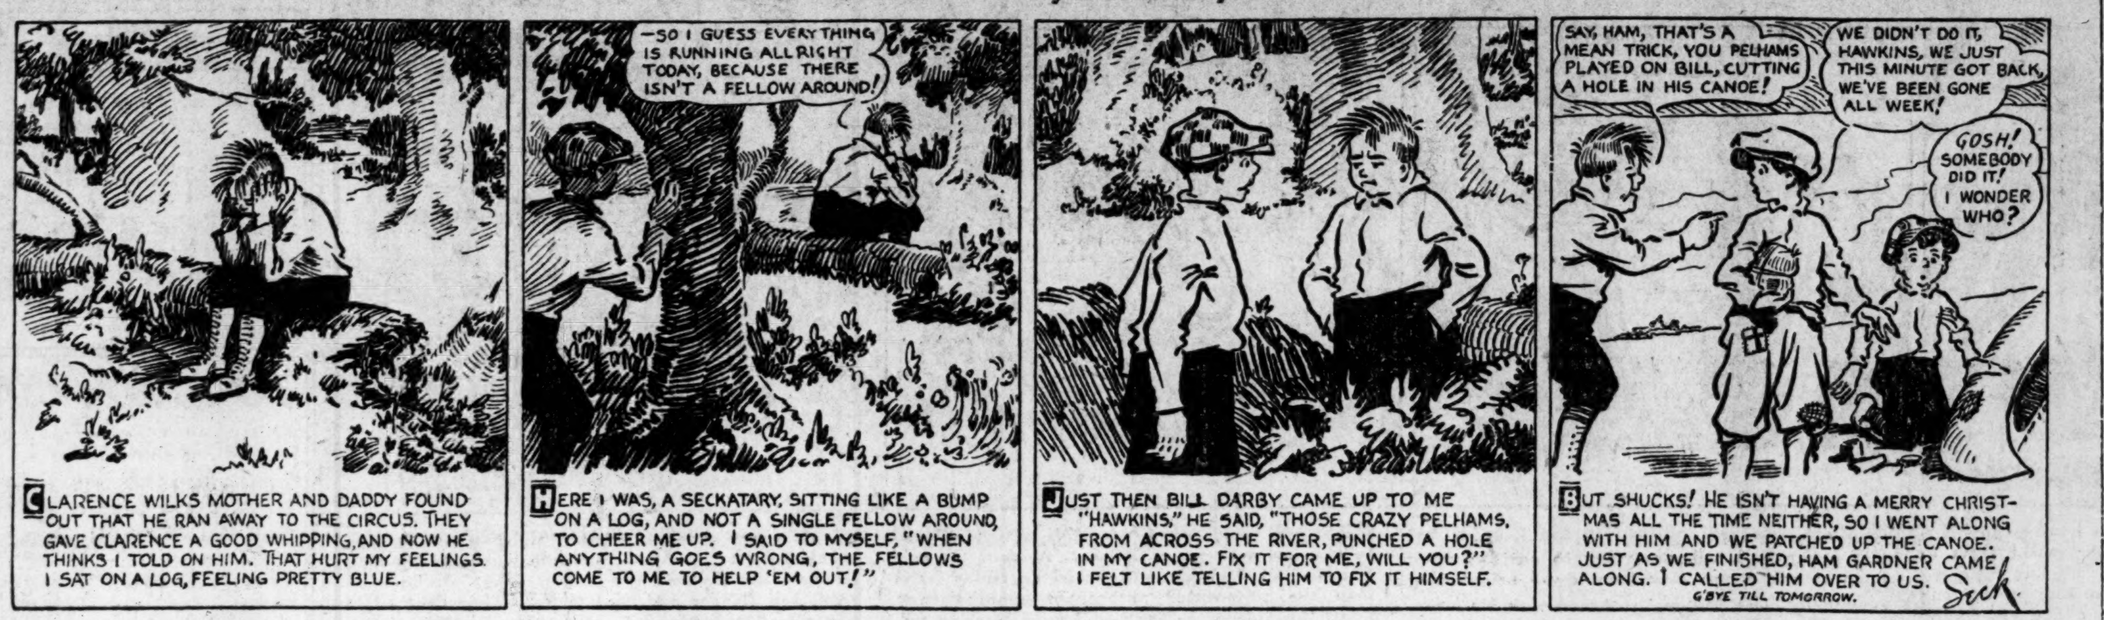
OUR CLUB — By Seckatary Hawkins



—SO I GUESS EVERYTHING IS RUNNING ALL RIGHT TODAY, BECAUSE THERE ISN'T A FELLOW AROUND!
SAY, HAM, THAT'S A MEAN TRICK, YOU PELHAMS PLAYED ON BILL, CUTTING A HOLE IN HIS CANOE!
WE DIDN'T DO IT, HAWKINS, WE JUST THIS MINUTE GOT BACK, WE'VE BEEN GONE ALL WEEK!
GOSH! SOMEBODY DID IT! I WONDER WHO?

CLARENCE WILKS MOTHER AND DADDY FOUND OUT THAT HE RAN AWAY TO THE CIRCUS. THEY GAVE CLARENCE A GOOD WHIPPING, AND NOW HE THINKS I TOLD ON HIM. THAT HURT MY FEELINGS. I SAT ON A LOG, FEELING PRETTY BLUE.

HERE I WAS, A SECKATARY, SITTING LIKE A BUMP ON A LOG, AND NOT A SINGLE FELLOW AROUND, TO CHEER ME UP. I SAID TO MYSELF, "WHEN ANYTHING GOES WRONG, THE FELLOWS COME TO ME TO HELP 'EM OUT!"

JUST THEN BILL DARBY CAME UP TO ME "HAWKINS," HE SAID, "THOSE CRAZY PELHAMS, FROM ACROSS THE RIVER, PUNCHED A HOLE IN MY CANOE. FIX IT FOR ME, WILL YOU?" I FELT LIKE TELLING HIM TO FIX IT HIMSELF.

BUT SHUCKS! HE ISN'T HAVING A MERRY CHRISTMAS ALL THE TIME NEITHER, SO I WENT ALONG WITH HIM AND WE PATCHED UP THE CANOE. JUST AS WE FINISHED, HAM GARDNER CAME ALONG. I CALLED HIM OVER TO US.

G'BYE TILL TOMORROW. Seck

LOVERS OF BLONDE ARE DOOMED

As Gunmen Battle to Death

Chicago, July 31.—(AP)—A flareup of Chicago's west side alcohol war resulted in the deaths today of two racketeers and the serious wounding of a third.

Thomas (Big Six) McNichols, son of a former state representative, died at the county hospital after turning away from questioners with "don't bother me." They had been trying to find what the shooting was about and who the blond young woman was who took him to the hospital.

A few hours before, Jimmy (Bozo) Shupe, beer runner and former convict, died in the Bridewell hospital, a victim of McNichols' bullets. Shot through the abdomen, George Riggins, owner of the West Madison street cigar store in front of which the shooting occurred, is not expected to live.

The young woman was sought as the key witness in the affair. She was believed to have driven McNichols to the cigar store in an automobile, sat in the machine while he leaped out and started firing at Shupe and Riggins as they stood in front of the store, and then to have driven him to the hospital after he stumbled back into the machine, mortally wounded.

And for an explanation they went back to the escape from the county jail of "Terrible Tommy" O'Connor and Jimmy Laporte. Tommy has never been found but Jimmy was sent to prison for one to ten years. Corinne began a career with west side racketeers and the men she knew had a way of meeting violent deaths.

She married one John Lafferty, third rate gunman and after becoming the mother of a child she ran away with Jimmy Shupe, a pal in the gun business who spent much time at the Lafferty home. Lafferty swore he would turn in the whole gang, including Jimmy's brother, Tommy, now serving a prison sentence for the robbery of the International Harvester Company.

"I don't care about Corinne," he said, "but I want my kid."

The kid was not forthcoming and Lafferty went to the police. A few days later they found his bullet-torn body in a basement flat.

Today Jimmy Shupe's body is in the county morgue. Police believe Corinne may again ask: "What's that to me?" but they want to question her anyhow.

MILITARY OFFICER IS FOUND DEAD AT OGLETHORPE

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Captain Roger Wilson, commander of company L, the twenty-second infantry, United States army, was found dead in his quarters at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., near here, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Officers at the army post said that the circumstances of the death indicated suicide. He was shot through the breast, the bullet entering immediately over the heart, by a pistol. Death, it was said, was instantaneous.

LUEBBEN NAMED TO STUDY FOREIGN MARKET SITUATION

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—G. E. Luebben, of Milwaukee, was appointed United States trade commissioner today to make a study of European markets for the department of commerce to ascertain prospects for additional American exports of citrus fruits. His headquarters will be in Hamburg, Germany.

The bulk of citrus fruit exports has gone to Canada for several years but the commerce department said that recently there had been a noticeable increase in exports of grapefruit and oranges to the United Kingdom, and Germany, France and Sweden were said to have shown considerable interest in citrus fruits.

7,002 MILES OF ROAD BUILT BY FEDERAL AID IN PAST YEAR

Washington, July 31.—(AP)—The government co-operated with the states in the improvement of 7,002 miles of federal aid highways during the last fiscal year, bringing the total mileage of the system to 78,096.

In making the announcement, the bureau of public roads reported that in addition to the improved mileage at the end of the year there were under construction with federal aid 9,526 miles, which will cost about $238,158,495. The government will pay $96,500,347 of this sum.

BURIED IN GRAVEL, WORKER IS NEAR DEATH IN TENN.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Caught by an avalanche of sand and gravel, that swept him into a gigantic loading hopper at the company's plant here, Roy Black, 26, employe of the Knoxville Sandgravel Material Company was fatally injured this afternoon. Buried in 20 or more tons of gravel and sand Black's body was not recovered, through opening of the hoppers doors, until 40 minutes after the accident. He was alive at that time, but 15 minutes after being received at a local hospital he was pronounced dead.

RUSSIA IS CALLING RESERVES TO COLORS

Khavarovsk, Siberia, July 31.—(AP)—Because of continued unrest on the Manchurian frontier, aggravated by the threatening presence of bands of "White Russians," the government here today called to the colors all the Siberian reserves of the age of 27 and under.

The order also applies to all reserve officers in Siberia, irrespective of age.

Manchuli, Manchuria, July 31.—(United News.)—Representatives of soviet Russia and China tonight started negotiations for settlement of the conflict over control of the Chinese Eastern railway in a "palace" car of a special train placed on the border line, near here.

The Chinese emissaries were said to have indicated a willingness to restore the Chinese Eastern Railway to its "status quob ante" provided that Russia furnishes guarantees to refrain from communist propaganda in Manchuria.

The soviet has demanded that the railroad be returned to its former status of joint-control before negotiations are undertaken. Seizure of the road by Chinese officials caused the break in relations between China and the soviet.

Funeral Rites Of J. M. McAfee Held at Canton

Canton, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Funeral services for J. M. McAfee, pioneer citizen of Canton and Cherokee county, who died at his home here Tuesday, were conducted this afternoon, with burial in the city cemetery. Mr. McAfee's death followed a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago.

As a captain in the Confederate army, Mr. McAfee took an active part in many major engagements. He served in the army of northern Virginia. He came to Canton in 1866 and for the past 63 years had been engaged in the mercantile business until his retirement several months ago.

Mr. McAfee was the builder of the old Marietta & North Georgia railroad, running from Marietta to Knoxville. He served as mayor of Canton for a term and also represented the thirty-ninth senatorial district in the state assembly. He was a Mason and a member of the Methodist church.

He is survived by six daughters and three sons, Mrs. Fannie M. Brown, Orlando, Fla.; Mrs. Mary M. White and Mrs. W. H. Cox, both of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Roy Crisler and Misses Irene and Pearl McAfee, of Canton; J. D. McAfee, Jess McAfee and D. B. McAfee, of Atlanta.

SOVIET COLONY IN FRANZ JOSEPHS LAND SETTLED

Moscow, July 31.—(United News.) The red flag of soviet Russia tonight flies in Franz Joseph Land, where the most northern colony in the world will be established by a Russian scientific polar exploration party.

The party, aboard the soviet icebreaker Sedoff ,arrived at Franz Joseph Land last Sunday, according to word received tonight from Professor Samoilovitch and Professor Vize, two scientists who won international acclaim for their part in the rescue of the crew of the polar dirigible Italia last summer.

Professor Otto Schmidt, editor of the New Soviet Encyclopaedia, is head of the expedition, which will establish meteorological and radio stations in the bleak Arctic land. These stations will aid greatly in forecasting weather conditions, Profesosr Schmidt said before leaving Moscow.

Russia claimed Franz Joseph Land in 1914 and the present expedition is strengthening the claim.

On Way to Father's Funeral, Man Hurt As Auto Crashes

Athens, Ga., July 31.—(AP)—M. N. Neal, of Columbus, was seriously injured near here early today as his car turned over en route to Spartanburg, S. C., for the funeral of his father and brother-in-law, news of whose death he had received a few hours before. Mr. Neal's relatives were reported to have been killed by a train. He is expected to recover.

TWO DIE AS AUTO IS HIT BY TRAIN.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 31.—(AP) A. E. Neal, 70, and his son-in-law, W. R. Pearson, 50, were killed today as the Piedmont Limited, Southern railway passenger train, struck their car near Fair Forest. The auto was demolished and the bodies of the two men mangled. The victims operated a grocery store and a mill at Fair Forest.

State's Six-Cent Gas Tax Enters Senate Battlefield At Committee Meet Tuesday

Senator Lankford Calls Special Committee Session To Prepare Recommendation.

Georgia's 6-cent gasoline tax, passed last week by the house of representatives, will enter the senate battlefield next Tuesday afternoon when it comes up for consideration by the upper house committee on finance.

Senator George W. Lankford, chairman of the senate committee, announced Wednesday that a special meeting of the body would be called at that time to prepare a recommendation on the bill for the senate action. Hearing on the Platt bill requiring public utilities to assess property at 60 per cent of its value as shown to the public service commission also will be held.

Coincident with the announcement of the gas-tax hearing was the action of Speaker Richard B. Russell, Jr., presiding officer of the house and author of the tax measure, in forwarding to members of the senate two proposed amendments to his bill.

The first of the amendments would strike out sections of the gas tax bill which allot one cent of the six cents tax to counties for expenditure on lateral roads. It would substitute provisions by which the highway commission would apportion funds it considered necessary for county roads which are a part of the state system.

Speaker Russell's other change in the measure would add a section providing that if any part or section of the measure is declared unconstitutional, the remaining sections shall continue in effect.

A meeting of the senate finance committee Wednesday afternoon voted to return a favorable report on a bill authorizing the commissioner of motor vehicles to purchase license tags with a patented attachment to prevent their transference.

Other bills on county and municipal taxation and a measure to exempt World War veterans from the state professional tax were reported unfavorably by the committee.

Following lengthy discussion, the bill of Senator Whaley designed to abolish the state revenue department was temporarily withdrawn from consideration at the request of its author. The measure provides that all duties of the present department be taken over by the state comptroller general.

Shower Threat Is Seen for City During Today

Generally fair weather will mark the advent of the month of August, though the threat of an afternoon shower still remains, according to the forecast of the local bureau. Temperatures are expected to be a little above those registered Wednesday.

Faced with the prospect of going down in ignominious defeat, as far as the month of July was concerned, Jupiter Pluvius made a valiant but vain effort here Wednesday to pull the rainfall total out of the red. The deficit at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning was nearly three inches, only 1.75 inches having been recorded since the last day of June. Intermittent showers throughout the day helped to keep the temperature at a very low figure but did little in bringing the rainfall total up to normal.

Taken as a whole, however, the year thus far has been exceedingly damp, some 44 inches of rainfall having been recorded which makes an excess for this much of 1929 of approximately 14 inches.

In Memoriam

Sad was the shock that day.
You bade no one a last farewell—
The pain is gone. She sleeps today
"She's all right now!" we strive to say,
